TWO KILLED BY STORM

New England in Gale's Path

Lives of Many Endangered and Great Property Loss Incurred

Ships Encounter Difficulty as Sixty-five Mile Wind Lashes Sea

BOSTON, June 1. (AP)—A southwesterly gale that at times reached a velocity of sixty-five miles an hour swept through Northern New England late today to take as its toll the lives of two small Gre ter Boston children and endanger the lives of many on land and sea.

Property damage, which could not be estimated tonight, was widespread. The Hamburg-American liner Cleveland, in Boston harbor, and the U.S.S. Milwaukee, in Rockland (Me.) harbor, were in temporary difficulty at the height of the blow.

The Cleveland, in from Galway to discharge passengers before proceeding to New York, was blown aground while standing off the quarantine station and her master, Capt. Buesecke, made for the open sea, returning to port an hour later.

Fatalities occurred when Alvin Evard, 3 years of age, of Lynn, was killed by the bulkhead of a skylight, blown from its fastenings, and Catherine Kelliher, 7, was drowned in Fort Meadow Reservoir, Marlboro, when a canoe was upset by the wind.

Cannon Defends Silence on Fund of Smith's Foes

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in a statement today defended his failure to report the 1928 campaign expenses of the Virginia Anti-Smith Democrats and questioned the motives of the Senate Lobby Committee's inquiry into those expenditures.

He quoted from the record of the committee hearings a statement by Chairman Caraway of Arkansas, Democrat, Republican Senator Tinkham, Republican Senator Shortridge, of California, that the committee was "not engaged to inquire into political purposes; it is only those expenditures and activities that have to do with the influencing of legislation or executive action, that are inquiring into, and not others."

Barnes Surveys Conditions

Industry Carries Out Large Construction Programs as Forecast in December

Capital Improvements and Growing Credit Reserves Called "Significant"

WASHINGTON, June 1. (Exclusive)—Julius H. Barnes, as chairman of the National Business Survey Conference, made public today the results of a business condition survey just completed. The reports obtained on important lines of business and industry, Mr. Barnes said, suggest the following "significant" phases:

"First, that large American industry continues to carry out the construction programs forecast last December.

"Second, continued large capital improvements supported by large scale financing evidence a confidence in enlarged future earning power and preparation for it.

"Third, in America and Europe there are evidences of increasing reservoirs of accumulated credit with consequent decreases in interest rates, and resulting benefits for production and distribution."

FAVORABLE REPORTS

Although beyond these comments the conference chairman drew no conclusions from the reports, the reports themselves appeared to justify the optimism in his brief observations. On the whole, the reports seem the most favorable of any collected by the Barnes group since its organization after the conferences of President Hoover with business leaders last December.

In the field of finance, the survey found the short time credit market showing "continued ease," while for the first time, capital issues during a month of 1930 exceeded those for the corresponding month of last year., the April, 1930, flotations being 15 per cent greater than those for April, 1929. For the first four months the volume of new capital obtained by domestic producing and distributing corporations totaled $2,100,000,000.

PUBLIC WORKS GAIN

Under the heading, "Construction Industries" the survey summary reported that "for the period ending May 23 this year, nonresidential building was nearly up to last year's volume; public works and public utilities exceeded last year, but residential building lagged behind."

"On the highway construction contracts reports from the governors of thirty-five States to Secretary of Commerce Lamont covering almost 75 per cent of the country show contracts awarded during the first quarter of a value of $114,000,000, against $51,000,000 for the corresponding period of last year," the summary said.

EXTRACTS FROM REPORTS

Extracts from the reports on several key industries as summarized by the business survey conference follow:

Railroads—Class One railroads for the first quarter of 1930 showed capital expenditures of $224,000,000.

"My, You Must Feel Great!"

TEMPEST IMPERILS ACTRESS

Yacht All but Founders With Nancy Carroll and Party Off Boston

BOSTON, June 1. (AP)—A thriller in real life very nearly ended the career of Nancy Carroll, screen actress, today, when the thirty-eight-foot motor yacht Katherine II, aboard which she was a guest, all but foundered in a stiff gale off Minots Light.

Unattended by the gale-making machines and the props of Hollywood, the film actress and her husband, Jack Kirkland, and thirteen companions, were tossed about by heavy seas and a high wind for hours before aid finally came in the form of a fishing schooner, the Jackson Arthur.

Bedraggled and ill, Miss Carroll and the others were landed at T wharf tonight, still shaky and frightened.

The guests of Maj. and Mrs. Peter Borre of Boston at their Scituate home for the holiday, the party of fifteen left for the Corinthian Yacht Club aboard the Katherine II late today.

The yacht, owned by Gordon Gibbs, was off Minots Light when the sudden gale blew up and the amateur seamen were at a loss what to do.

Boat Find Tells Tale of Tragedy

TACOMA, June 1. (AP)—A two-day search for Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Paulsen and Mrs. Paulsen's father, William Elsnor, missing since they set out in their outboard motor boat Friday afternoon from Point Fosdick for Tacoma, ended today with the finding of the capsized boat.

Those who have been conducting the search for the trio are agreed that they met death when the boat overturned in the strong tide rips of the narrows, an arm of Puget Sound that separates Point Fosdick from Tacoma.

Skirts Sweep Dust at Paris Sports Events

PARIS, June 1. (Exclusive)—The first warm sunshiny, dry Sunday this summer drew all Paris to Longchamps race track and the Roland Garros Stadium for the international tennis championships.

Mannequins and society women revealed indisputably that the long dress is adopted by everyone who can afford it, regardless of the campaign that is going on to perpetuate the short skirt.

Filmy, clinging dresses swirling down to the ground stirred up the dust as their wearers paraded the lawn and paddock or walked about at the tennis matches.

Black, as is usual in Paris, predominated, with many sleeveless gowns with which elbow-length gloves were invariably worn.

The brimless hats are sliced away still further, baring the brows, while the hair is stretched back tightly to make the forehead as high as possible.

Imitation novelty jewelry burst out with grandiose splendor, with colossal necklaces of colored glass set with precious stones, huge bracelets, bangles and flashy hat ornaments and massive belt buckles, all encrusted with vividly colored fake gems.

Thousands See Graf Zeppelin at Lakehurst

LAKEHURST (N. J.) June 1. (AP) A crowd estimated by naval air station officials at 25,000 passed through the great hangar of the station today to view the Graf Zeppelin, which arrived here yesterday from South America.

Berthed on the south side of the dome-shaped building used to house the Navy's Los Angeles and other airships, the Graf is being refueled and repaired in preparation for her star on another trans-Atlantic hop to her home port, Friedrichshafen, Germany, at 9 p.m. (E.S.T.) tomorrow.

FOURTEEN OF VESSEL'S CREW LOST

Swedish Steamer Sinks in Channel Collision; Only Three Rescued

NEW HAVEN (Eng.) June 1. (AP) Fourteen sailors are missing, believed drowned, tonight following a collision between the Swedish steamer Inger and the Italian motorship Literno early today which sunk the Inger.

Three members of the Inger's crew of eighteen were saved, two of them being picked up by the Literno and another rescued from an overturned boat by a lifeboat crew. A fourth was picked up dead.

The collision occurred in a thick fog in the English Channel near Beachy Head.

One of the survivors said the Inger began to fill immediately after she was struck amidships and listed so quickly that it was impossible to launch boats successfully. She sank in about ten minutes. The Literno was damaged in the bows but proceeded to Dover without assistance. No wreckage of the Inger has been found.

The Inger was bound from Swansea to Sweden with coal and the Literno was coming from Copenhagen.

ARGENTINA AIMS BLOW AT TALKIES

Buenos Aires Ordinance Would Put Heavy Tax on Foreign Sound Films

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times.)

BUENOS AIRES, June 1. (Exclusive)—an ordinance has been presented to the Buenos Aires City Council to tax out of existence foreign talking pictures and theaters which show them. The proposed ordinance would increase by 200 per cent the tax on theaters showing exclusively foreign pictures, either silent or talking, or with synchronized music.

It would increase by 50 per cent the tax on theaters showing talking or synchronized pictures for which synchronization is carried out in Argentina. The measure would free from taxation theaters showing only Argentine-made pictures.

Another clause provides that theaters would be taxed only 5 per cent more than now if they show two Argentine pictures each month. These Argentine pictures would have to be of not less than forty-five minutes' duration, must be taken on Argentine soil, using Argentine-made scenic effects and be produced in strictly Argentine studios.

CAPTURED SPANISH FLYER ON GUNBOAT

MADRID, June 1. (AP)—Commandante Ricardo Burguete, Spanish army aviator who was captured by Moorish tribesmen in the State of Rio De Oro last Wednesday after he had landed in the desert, reached the Spanish gunboat Canalejas Saturday, but the government here has no news of his three companions.

CLEANING PLANT BOMBED

SEATTLE, June 1. (AP)—The interior of the Fairy Cleaners and Dyers plant was wrecked late today by an explosion which police attributed to an incendiary bomb.

RED RIVER'S LEVEE OUT

Farms Inundated in Louisiana

Crevice Widens to 200 Feet, Releasing Forty-foot Wall of Water

No Lives Reported Lost; Growing Crops Flooded Over 3500 Acres

ALEXANDRIA (La.) June 1. (AP) The swollen Red River broke through its levee in the "island district" in two places between Alexandria and Boyce today and spread over 3500 acres of farmland. No loss of human life or live stock was reported, but several dairy farms and growing corn and cotton were covered.

The levee went out despite all-night labors of volunteer workers. After daylight the gangs gave up their battle to hold the forty-foot wall of water within its channel and stood aside to see the levee crumble with a fifteen-foot crevice and within an hour spread to a 200-foot opening.

ALEXANDRIA SAFE

Shortly after the first break, another crevasse opened a quarter-mile below and let out another flow of water. The spread of the water was reported stopped this afternoon at Billy Bayou, three miles north of Alexandria, where an emergency levee had been thrown up.

Alexandria is not believed by engineers to be in danger, as the city is protected by strong, high levees, but forces are at work to raise and strengthen the levee protecting Pineville, a town of about 3500 across the river from Alexandria.

RIVER RISING

The river gauge stood here today at forty and one-tenth feet, representing a rise of six-tenths of a foot within twenty-four hours. This represented a lower level than the disastrous 1927 flood by two and two-tenths feet. Another foot of water has been forecast for this area by the New Orleans Weather Bureau.

All during the night motor boats plied up and down the river above Alexandria, carrying men, sacks and materials in an effort to prevent a further overflow than had already covered more than 200,000 acres of land in the upper basin and brought death to nine persons.

Water continued to fall today in the Shreveport area and was reported at a standstill at Colfax in Grant parish, but is reported rising farther down the river.

VETERANS APPEAL TO SENATORS

Passage of Pension Bill Over President's Veto Asked in Letter

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The United Spanish War Veterans called on the Senate today to pass the Spanish-American War pension bill over the veto of President Hoover, and administration leaders conceded they expect a close vote on the proposal.

A motion by Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, to over-ride the veto is to be voted upon tomorrow afternoon. After a check of the membership today Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, indicated he believes the vote will be close and that a possibility exists the motion will be approved. Tomorrow's test will be the first vote on a veto by President Hoover. It is his second disapproval of a measure.

The veterans' organization sent to each Senator a letter taking issue, point by point, with the President's veto message and expressing resentment at the "demand that there shall now be a requirement of proof of poverty, if not of pauperism, before a veteran of the Spanish-American War may receive a pension."

Triple Wreck Costs One Life

STOCKTON, June 1. (AP)—Mrs. Dora Engledow of Stockton was killed and five persons were injured, none seriously, today in a triple automobile crash in an intersection here.

Mrs. Engledow, driver of one of the cars, was almost instantly killed while her companions, Mrs. R. L. Pruden, Vilma Pruden and Glenn V. Pruden, all of Lodi, escaped with cuts and bruises. Mrs. Josie Wheeler, driver of the second car, was treated for possible concussion of the brain, and John Garcia Turlock, at the wheel of the third car, received cuts on the face and hands.

CANAL ZONE STORK ALIGHTS ON VESSEL

COLON (C. Z.) June 1. (AP)—The first child to be born on a ship passing through the Panama Canal came into the world Saturday while the Dutch steamer Baralt was passing the Gatun locks. The mother, Mrs. M. Nieses of Panama, was attended by two women passengers.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 1. [To the Editor of The Times:] Read the new census. Talk about putting a quota on immigration, why the Yankees are swarming into the South like locusts. Get some of these gains, Houston, Tex., Jesse Jones showed a gain of 110 per cent. Best bet in the South. Atlanta, 73 per cent gain will be Houston's nearest rival in twenty years; Miami, 273 per cent; Oklahoma City, 100 per cent; Amon Carterville (registered under the post-office name of Fort Worth) away over 100 per cent; Tulsa, 95 per cent; Birmingham, 44; Memphis, 55 per cent; San Antonio, 57. And the Carolinas just packed 'em in. Only one drawback, the rascals take their Republican politics with 'em. They ought to be met at the line and deloused.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ASYLUM HAS FOURTH FIRE WITHIN YEAR

Attendants' Dormitory at New York Hospital for Insane Destroyed

CENTRAL ISLIP (N. Y.) June 1. (AP)—The fourth fire this year at the State Hospital for the Insane here virtually destroyed a three-story attendants' dormitory today. The south wall of the dormitory housing 100 men and women nurses collapsed, slightly injuring seven volunteer firemen. The fire raged for two hours before controlled by firemen from twelve towns.

Dr. H. G. Gidson, first assistant physician, said none of the residents of the dormitory was missing or hurt, and that no disorder occurred in a near-by building housing several hundred violently insane patients. Officials said all of the institution's 6000 inmates were kept well in hand.

The fire started in the attic of the dormitory. The cause was not determined.

Dist.-Atty. Blue has been investigating reports that the three previous fire were incendiary.

Eight Costly Blazes Set by Gang of Boys

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) Four boys who have admitted setting eight fires in which the damage totaled from $100,000 to $150,000, are under arrest and a fifth companion is in a Newark hospital recovering from burns sustained in one of the blazes, the police of Harrison, N. J., revealed today. Three other boys are still being sought as members of the gang. The lads are under 16 years of age.

Puzzled by the succession of incendiary blazes, the police got their first clew early Saturday morning when Daniel McMillen, 15, of Harrison, was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, suffering from severe burns on both legs. Under questioning he told of the gang and its methods.

Tecumseh Fire Under Control

TECUMSEH (Okla.) June 1. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin which started in a downtown business block shortly before midnight Saturday night, was brought under control about 2:30 o'clock this morning after property damage estimated at around $30,000 had been caused. The fire originated in the Palace Theater and destroyed that building and the top floor of another.

GANG WAR LID LIFTED

Three Lose Lives Near Chicago

Fourth Wounded Possibly Fatally at Rendezvous and Woman Shot

Truces Believed at End as Machine Gun Spits Death in Fox Lake Hostelry

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Another vicious gang warfare broke out this morning which the police believe was the termination of all gang truces or armistices, when unknown assassins riddled a small hotel at Fox Lake, fifty miles northwest of here, with machine gun bullets, killing three notorious gangsters, perhaps fatally wounding another and shooting a woman. The hotel was known as a rendezvous of Chicago gang leaders.

The dead were Sam Peller, election terrorist of the "Bloody Twentieth" Ward, once a member of the O'Banion-Weiss-Drucci-Moran gang of the North Side, but late of the Alfonse Capone gang; Michael Quirk, member of the Klondike O'Donnell gang of the West Side, twice tried for murder and recently arrested in an O'Donnell holdout with five other armed men; Joseph Bertsche, safeblower, gunman, killer, mail robber and general all-around crook of thirty years' record, brother of the notorious "Barney" Bertsche, and, since his release from the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., last Christmas, affiliated with the Druggan-Lake Valley gang.

TWO WOUNDED

The wounded, who may die, are George Druggan, brother of Terry Druggan, who, with Frankie Lake has made millions in beer, booze, vice and gambling resorts and who has been constantly in the courts; Mrs. Vivian P. McGinnis, wife of Arthur McGinnis, a Chicago lawyer, and daughter of another lawyer, Vincent Ponic, whose divorced wife is running a roadhouse at the Fox Lake resort. George Druggan is said to have been attentive to her recently.

The small hotel where the shooting took place was operated by James Manning, and was known as the Manning Hotel, where the remnant of the "Bugs" Moran gang have held sway for the last several months.

THREE FALL DEAD

Peller, Quirk and Bertsche fell dead from the seats in which they were drinking at the first blast of the machine gun, the barrel of which was thrust through one of the windows of an inclosed porch. Druggan and Mrs. McGinnis dropped to the floor, but were caught in another blast of the gun and severely wounded.

The latter two were carried into an automobile by three men and driven to the University hospital. The three left without any explanation.

Coupled with other shootings of the past few days in which Sicilians only were concerned Chief of Detectives Stege today said unquestionably the Fox Lake massacre was notice of termination of all "understandings" between the various Chicago gangs. State's Attorney Smith of Lake county asked the aid of Stege and Coroner Bundesen in investigating the shooting which he attributes to internecine warfare among Chicago's bootleg gangs.

AFTERMATH OF MURDER

In reviewing recent events of the criminal portion of Chicago's population Stege said the triple murder may have been the aftermath of the murder six weeks ago of Joe Blue, who went to prison with Bertsche for a mail robbery in Cincinnati. But no matter what the particular motive was there were puzzling features of the shooting that suggested gang complications of which the Blue murder may have been but the forerunner, Stege said.

As near as investigation today disclosed, Peller was not a member of the party of which George Druggan appeared to be the leading figure. Prosecutor Smith said Peller had gone to the Manning Hotel with four other persons, two men and two women, who went upstairs immediately, while Peller stopped to chat with the Druggan

HOOVER STOPS TO WORSHIP

Little Church in Liverpool, Pa., Soon Crowded as Word Spreads of President's Presence

LIVERPOOL (Pa.) June 1. (AP)—Homeward bound from the mountain retreat of Jay Cooke in the Pennsylvania mountains, President Hoover paused in this little town today to worship.

The President and his party, after motoring leisurely through the morning, inquired directions to a church as they passed in town.

He was taken to a little Methodist Episcopal Church, the small congregation of which assumed overflow proportions as soon as word spread that the Chief Executive was inside.

Rev. H. L. Jarrett, pastor of the church for nineteen years, noted Mr. Hoover in his congregation and in the opening prayer thanked the Lord for the Chief Executive's presence, calling down blessings upon him. Later, Mr. Jarrett asked:

"Would you like to take some part in the services, Mr. Hoover?"

Mr. Hoover shook his head and, as the final hymn ended, walked out. The pastor went to the car with the President to thank him for attending.

When the collection plate was passed, Mr. Hoover, Gov. Fisher, Mr. Cooke and other members of the party placed in it closely folded bills.

The party went on, dropping Gov. Fisher and Mr. Cooke at Harrisburg, then driving to Greencastle, the home of Henry P. Fletcher, who was in the party, for luncheon.

As the party went through small towns it found the streets lined with persons who had had advance notice from motorcycle police who led the way. All cars were halted at each town and the motorists joined the townsfolk in waving greetings to the President.

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—President Hoover returned to the White House at 5:15 p.m. today from his week-end spent in the mountains of Pennsylvania.

MAGICIANS TRUE TO FORM

Hat as Ballot Box Yields Rabbits and Other Properties at Wizards' Election Conclave

CHICAGO, June 1. (Exclusive)—A tall silk hat sat squarely in the center of a green baize-covered table today in the convention room of the Society of American Magicians. The masters of legerdemain had cast their ballots for the organization officers for the coming year and were awaiting the canvass of ballots.

The manner of voting might have been considered unusual in most societies. Each voter was required to remove his coat, roll up his sleeves, mark his ballot with a certain pencil on an especially prepared piece of paper cut into 3505 pieces, all numbered. The voter was required to take a solemn cabalistic oath not to tamper with the emblematic ballot box.

Theodore Hardeen, retiring president, reached for the first ballot. He drew out a rabbit. A second time his hand went into the hat he pulled out a lighted candle. In rapid succession he produced a pair of handcuffs, a glass of water, a Japanese lantern, a canary, a petunia in a flower pot, six yards of red ribbon, a string of threaded needles, and a stein of beer. The audience was in a turmoil.

"Stop the count," John Mulholland shouted. "I can read the ballots. The vote is unanimous in favor of James C. Wobensmith of Philadelphia for president; Eugene Laurent of Chicago, and C. Elliott Smith of Detroit for vice-presidents; Royal L. Vilts of New Haven for secretary; Harry Rouclere of New York for treasurer, and Leo Rullman for editor of Mum."

A defeated candidate shouted for a recount. When the motion was carried after a rising vote, the ballot box had disappeared. So had the treasurer's report. Treasurer Rouclere moaned the loss because for the first time in the history of the society the books had balanced. He was forced to sit down amid a chorus of boos reminding him that he had formerly been a juggler.

The two-day convention closed today with a carnival and a performance of magic.

NEVADA SLAYER JESTS AT DEATH

Gas Mask Last Request of Condemned Man

Killer to Expiate Crime In Lethal Chamber

Prisoner Maintains Stoicism of Gamblers' Creed

CARSON CITY, June 1. (AP)—The State of Nevada tonight completed its preparations for the asphyxiation at 4:25 a.m. tomorrow of R. H. White, condemned Elko (Nev.) gambler, who as his last wish displayed grim humor by asking for a gas mask.

Sentenced to die in the gas chamber for the killing of Louis Lavell, a fellow gambler, White has passed his time playing solitaire. He has greeted the prison warden and guards with a cheery smile and a bright "Good morning" each day, and until recently maintained he would rather be executed than spend the rest of his life in prison.

COMMUTATION REFUSED

Last month, at the request of his wife, White asked a commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment, but this was refused by the State Board of Pardons. The refusal did not seem appreciably to affect the condemned man's good spirits.

Nevada is the only State in the Union to have adopted asphyxiation as a method of capital punishment. It is declared by physicians to be as painless as it is simple.

The condemned man walks the few steps across a narrow hallway from his death cell to the gas chamber and takes his place in a chair facing the windows that give him his last glance of the outside world. He is strapped in.

DEATH MECHANISM

The door is shut, watchers take their places in an adjoining room and a cord is pulled, releasing a quantity of cyanide of potassium into a container of sulphuric acid and water placed by the condemned man's chair.

With his final breath he draws into his lungs a sufficient quantity of the sweet-smelling gas to bring almost instantaneous death. Possibly five minutes after the gas has been formed, vents in the roof of the chamber are opened and powerful fans clean out the potent fumes so a physician, wearing a gas mask as a precaution, can enter and pronounce the judgment fulfilled.

STEAMER TURNS BACK BECAUSE OF MISHAP

PORTLAND (Or.) June 1. (AP)—George Eggers, operations manager of the States Steamship Company here, reported tonight that the line's steamer Nevada, en route to China ports with a full cargo, turned back for Astoria, Or., after breaking a piston rod 145 miles off the Columbia River. Eggers said the craft is proceeding under her own power. He added that about two days' delay will be caused while the ship is undergoing repair.

Eddie Shaw, Radio Ukelele Man, Drowns

SANTA ROSA, June 1. (AP)—Allen Decker, 20 years of age, known to San Francisco and Los Angeles radio audiences as Eddie Shaw, ukelele player, drowned in the Russian River at Monte Cristo early today, after a skiff in which he was rowing with a companion overturned. The body was recovered two hours later.

Walter Greenwood and John Burkhard, San Francisco, friends of Decker, were held as material witnesses, while authorities investigated information that an all-night drinking party preceded the fatal boat ride. A deputy found Burkhard standing on the river bank and Greenwood clinging to the capsized boat.

Decker is the son of Mrs. Eva M. Decker, 412½ Reid street, Los Angeles, and Fred Decker of San Diego.

THREE KILLINGS END GANG PACT

party. Whether the machine-gun crew went there to kill Peller or to kill those of the Druggan party is an unanswered question, but in either event, retaliation is expected. Druggan in conscious moments, and after he had been told he was going to die and after a priest had given him extreme unction, refused to tell, if he knows, who the killers were or the cause of the shooting.

Mrs. McGinnis begged to be let alone and insisted she knows nothing of what was back of the shooting. Her husband and her father said they learned nothing more from her.

Her father said she has been keeping bad company since her mother divorced him a few years ago when she was running a saloon over in the "valley" section of the West Side where Manning was her bartender. Recently Mrs. Ponic took possession of a Fox Lake summer resort to which unsavory characters flocked, and the daughter who went there to stay with the mother was thrown into association with them, according to Attorney Ponic.

For several months, Chief Stege said, since the beginning of the crusade against hoodlums, "Bugs" Moran, his body guard, Leo Mongoven, one of his lieutenants, Willie Marks, and the rest of the North Side gang, have been conducting their business from Cassidy's resort near Fox Lake. What the Moranites had to do with the triple killing, Stege said he has not yet learned, but their presence there was at least suspicious.

Late tonight Willie Druggan, another brother of the wounded gangster, visited the hospital to see the latter and became so affected by the sight of his brother's wounds that he fainted, breaking his nose when he fell.

MOTHER OF NINE LOSES TO SIREN

Rich Banker Divorces Wife After Thirty Years

Cast-Off Mate Asserts She Can't Blame Them

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) A diminutive blond typist with a scintillating smile and the wisdom of modern youth has won a marital battle over the old-fashioned wife of James Heckscher, wealthy vice-president of the Irving Trust Company, and claiming him as the victor's spoils, is ensconsed now as Mrs. Heckscher No. 2.

A transfer from a Bronx walk-up flat and a strap hanger's niche in the subway to a ritzy apartment on lower Fifth avenue, with limousines and liveried chauffeurs, went with the victory, while to the loser went the reverse switch from the former Heckscher home on Park avenue to a modest three rooms in East Ninety-third street.

There, surrounded by nothing of her former luxurious life but a dozen cages of canary birds, the first Mrs. Heckscher today confirmed reports of her divorce and of her banker-husband's remarriage to his young secretary and gave her version of the cause of it all.

WHAT CHANCE?

"What chance has an old-fashioned wife?" asked the matronly buxom woman, 51 years of age, "against this invasion of modern youth and charm?"

Heckscher, she revealed, divorced her in March, 1929, after they had been married thirty years and she had borne him nine children.

Then a month later he married his secretary, Miss Lilly Altwater, or Lilly Alvator, as she is known at the bank, who is half his age.

"In my old-fashioned way," said the castoff wife, "I never suspected anything when my husband began bringing this girl to our home about six years ago. In fact, I liked her because she was so pretty and vivacious and seemed glad to act as a companion to our young daughter when we went to the opera or elsewhere."

Nor did suspicion dawn on her when Heckscher and the girl took long drives into the country alone. Her husband explained that the hard-working girl needed relaxation, she said, and she thought he was acting simply out of the largeness of his heart.

FORTUNE IMPROVES

Meantime, however, Lilly and her family began living on a more expensive scale. Her father, Peter, an upholsterer, was dead, but the mother and daughter moved from a walk-up flat to a rather sumptuous Bronx elevator apartment and the typist was frequently seen stepping into a limousine drawn up at her door.

"I never knew anything about it," said the ex-wife, "until my husband told me. He simply admitted that he loved this girl and asked for his freedom. There was nothing I could do but let him have it."

Mrs. Heckscher swept her little home with a glance.

"And now these canary birds are all I have left," she continued. "We came to this country as immigrants and I toiled with my husband to build him up to the high place he now occupies. And now he's gone and of the two of our nine children who still live, our son is in Europe studying medicine and our daughter is married. I am left alone."

But she added that she does not blame Heckscher.

"He was as helpless against this charm and beauty as I was," she said. "And I can't very well blame the girl. It is her privilege to make as much out of her life as she can and—what is it they say?—'Youth must be served,' I guess."

THIRD GROUP OF MOTHERS IN WAR ZONE

Women Visit Battlefields and Today Will go to Five Cemeteries to See Graves

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—Gold Star Mothers of the third American group, traveled over the World War battlefields today, and tonight were in their quarters in the towns of Verdun, Nancy, Chateau Thierry, St. Quentin and Soissons.

Tomorrow the mothers will go to the five cemeteries for their first visit with their dead. Those mothers whose sons lie in Suresnes, in the environs of Paris, visited the graves today.

Meanwhile the second group has finished its pilgrimage and is making trips through the battlefields and around Paris before sailing for home.

Except for Mrs. Lisette Leidel of South Dakota, who was taken to the American Hospital with a touch of arthritis, the mothers continue in good health. Mrs. Leidl will rejoin the party within a few days.

PERSHING PAYS TRIBUTE TO DEAD IN FLANDERS

BRUSSELS, June 1. (AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing today paid tribute, in the presence of thirteen Gold Star Mothers, to 365 heroes of the Twenty-seventh and Thirtieth divisions of the A.E.F., who lie at Waereghem in the midst of Flanders battlefields.

The mothers delayed their departure for Paris and Cherbourg by Gen. Pershing's request. The ceremony was attended by American Ambassador Hugh Gibson, who journeyed to the cemetery from Brussels. Others at the ceremony were Maj. Edwin M. Watson, military attache at the American Embassy, and the whole personnel of the American Embassy.

STUDENT FLYER KILLED

WINDSOR (Ont.) June 1. (AP)—Nicholas J. Shafer, 19 years of age, of Detroit, a student flyer, was killed tonight in a crash of a plane in which he was making a solo flight. The plane went out of control and fell 2000 feet to the ground with the throttle wide open.

SUPREME COURT THROUGH TODAY

Record May Be Established By Clearing Docket

Only Five Cases Awaiting Verdict of Tribunal

Justice Roberts Will Be Welcomed to Bench

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Holding tomorrow its last session of the present term, the Supreme Court may establish a record by disposing of every case awaiting decision. There are only five.

Before adjourning until October, however, the court will welcome its new member, Owen J. Roberts, who is to be sworn in to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Sanford.

The most important of the five cases awaiting action is the one brought by the Ann Arbor and many other railroads, challenging the Interstate Commerce Commission's interpretation of the Hoch-Smith resolution in which Congress sought to aid agriculture in distress. The commission reduced the rates on deciduous fruits shipped from California and the railroads protested, contending it destroyed their rate structure, depriving them of revenues to which they were entitled.

MANY ORDERS DUE

The other four cases involve the right of Pulaska county, Arkansas, to tax government surplus supplies purchased in 1922 at the Camp Pike Military Reservation by the Surplus Trading Company of New York; and of Henry county, Missouri, to tax the Brinkerhoff-Parris Trust and Savings Company of Clinton, Mo.; whether the Panama Steamship Company must pay a judgment obtained against it by Ernestina I. Varvargas, who contended she had been criminally assaulted by an employee on a ship belonging to the company while making a voyage from Central America to San Francisco, and whether New Orleans, La., can compel the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., to remove its viaduct on Franklin avenue.

The court will receive no motions Monday except those for admission to practice, but will deliver orders in a large number of cases seeking review.

After the court has been formally opened with the customary "oyez," and the admonishment to all who have business to draw near and give their attention, Chief Justice Hughes, following time-honored custom, will announce the appointment of Justice Roberts, his presence in court, and direct that the oath be administered.

ROBERTS TO TAKE OATH

The commission appointing Justice Roberts will then be read while the court and all in the room are standing. Justice Roberts then will take the oath and be escorted by Marshal Green to a seat on the extreme left of Chief Justice Hughes, where he will be welcomed formally with a handshake by Justice Butler, who occupies the next seat. The court will resume its routine after these simple ceremonies.

Justice Roberts, accompanied by Mrs. Roberts and their daughter, is expected to come from Philadelphia by motor and places have been reserved in the courtroom for his immediate family and friends.

Aside from informing himself on many petitions for review which will be filed in the summer recess, Justice Roberts will not be called upon to sit in the argument and decision of cases until the court begins its next term in October.

COL. FIERRO TEN HOURS OVERDUE

Mexican Aviator Missing on First Leg of Flight to South America

Col. Roberto Fierro, director of civil aviation for Mexico, flying from Los Angeles on the first lap of a projected flight to South America by way of Washington, was reported nearly ten hours overdue at midnight last night on his flight to San Antonio, Tex. Col. Fierro left the Grand Central Air Terminal in Glendale yesterday morning at 5:40 o'clock and since he disappeared over the horizon no word has been received from him.

Carl Squier, manager of the Lockheed Airplane Company, which furnished Col. Fierro his Lockheed Sirius plane similar to the one piloted by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, late last night declared he had heard nothing from the pilot, nor from any landing field on the route that he had landed safely.

All passenger planes flying over the southern route were reported last night to have made their flights on scheduled time. Officials of the Western Air Express reported fair weather for the Southwest with a possible headwind that Fierro might have met over Arizona.

Fierro expected to retrace the route of Lindbergh's good-will flight through Central and South America. From Washington he was to go through Central America to Bahia, Brazil, and from there attempt a trans-Atlantic flight to Dakar, Africa, and end his long flight in London after stopping at the major cities in Europe. His plane carried 440 gallons of gasoline.

BODY OF FLYER FOUND

LONG BEACH (N. Y.) June 1. (AP) The body of Kurt G. Stollwerck, 34 years of age, former German war pilot drowned last night when his plane fell into the ocean off Lido Beach, was washed ashore today on the grounds of the Lido Country Club, almost opposite the spot where the plane went down.

Postponement in Gangster's Trial Forecast

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—With the preliminary hearing of Vincent Lucich, killer and gangster, scheduled for tomorrow morning in the court of Justice of the Peace Herbert de la Montanya at San Rafael on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Melville G. Sturtevant, it appeared almost certain today that a postponement would be asked.

At Mary's Help Hospital, where Mrs. Grace Berri is recovering from a bullet wound in her shoulder inflicted by Lucich May 21, last, when he killed Sturtevant at Tomales Bay, it was said that Mrs. Berri's condition would not permit her removal to San Rafael to testify against the gangster.

Eight Women Enrolled by Scotland Yard

LONDON, June 1. (AP)—For the first time in the history of England, Scotland Yard today enrolled eight women detectives.

No hard-faced women are these, known as the "mystery eight." They were chosen for their looks, education and knowledge of police work. They will work under Miss Dorothy Peto, who recently joined Scotland Yard as a staff officer for women police.

The women will be assigned to various police stations to assist in the general work of crime detection, but at first will be detailed to investigate traffic in women and the peddling of narcotics.

"Publishing — Employment and pay rolls in newspaper printing for April are substantially the same as for March and about 2 per cent over April, 1929.

"Advertising—Magazine advertising for May indicates an increase of 6 per cent compared with May of last year. Newspaper advertising lineage for April was about 4 per cent under last April. Radio advertising in April was about 41 per cent over April, 1929.

"Retail and wholesale trade—Retail conditions show substantial improvement. In spite of lower prices, many stores and groups of stores show gains over the same period last year."

Discussing world business conditions the report points out that "depression continues in many world markets with few bright spots," adding:

"Adverse factors include low commodity prices, import restrictions, political disturbances and recent unfavorable weather. Favorable factors looking toward business recovery rest primarily on lower discount rates and increasing reservoirs of credit. For example, the German bank discount rate is now the lowest since 1914, the French and Belgian bank rates are also at their lowest point since prewar days."

TARDIEU SOUNDS WARNING CHORD

Political Keynote Speech of Premier Applauded

France Declared Neither to Fear Nor to Boast

Implied Reply to Mussolini Stirs Loud Cheers

DIJON (France) June 1. (AP)—In the French government's political keynote speech today, Premier Tardieu told 1500 leaders from all branches of life that France is strong, and intends to remain mistress of her own destiny, needing neither to fear nor to boast.

The Premier's address was awaited by all France, and by many other countries, because it follows closely on speeches by Premier Mussolini of Italy, which have been characterized in the French press as "bellicose" and as directed mainly against France.

M. Tardieu made no specific mention of Italy nor of Mussolini, but confined himself to a declaration of calm confidence in French democratic institutions and French national strength, both physical and moral.

EFFORTS FOR PEACE

He recalled Foreign Minister Briand's long efforts to achieve peace. He added, however, that although "the government is passionately interested in this work, it has neglected nothing which would enable France to participate actively by vigilantly safeguarding her security."

"The international organization of peace is effective only if it associates strong peoples capable of contributing as much to the common defense as formerly they could to their own," the Premier continued. "At the London conference, France followed a policy of firmness, joining in all measures of general interest which were not of a nature to reduce tonnage necessary for her needs or to increase the arithmetical injustice of rules of limitation adopted at Washington in 1922."

M. Tardieu recalled how opposition groups in France predicted that sacrifices would be made at London and at the Hague conference, that the reparations loan would not be commercialized and that the Rhineland would be prematurely evacuated.

"It is the contrary that has happened," he asserted. "France today is in a position which frees her both from the need to fear or to boast."

LOUD APPLAUSE

The audience, apparently interpreting this as an allusion to Mussolini, applauded long and loudly. M. Tardieu then commented on Bismarck's policy and that of his successors, "out of which excesses came the German defeat of 1918."

Outlining France's policy for national defense, he said it includes an appropriation of 3,500,000,000 francs for organization of the frontiers and complete restocking of supplies left depleted after the Riff War in Africa.

"As before the World War, we wish peace through stability and organization, with the will to remain in all situations masters of our destiny if there should arise unexpected difficulties," he said.

"We are a young government, presided over by new men," the Premier continued, and added that in modern times a government must not only be strong, but must act quickly, seeking to prevent evils rather than cure them.

Tubbs was educated at Yale University and saw war service in the aviation corps. Later he entered business in San Francisco and in 1924 won his first election to public office.

This DANERSK YORKSHIRE TABLE

THE COLLECTOR'S PIECE FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE
AFTER JUNE 30th ITS PRICE WILL BE $30

In order that you may become acquainted with the joys of collecting Danersk Furniture, this lovely little walnut table is offered at the unusually tempting price of $24 during this month only.

Many are its pedigree marks of fine craftsmanship.

Look, for example, at the rare grace and sweep of the twisted turning.

Since the days of the Stuart Kings of England, when the vogue for spiral turnings reached its height, there has been no more exacting test of a cabinet-maker's skill than the fashioning of a hand turning of this type.

You cannot see the sturdy tenons which come clear through the top and bottom platforms, and are fastened with hardwood wedges, but they are there just the same—and they hold together this little table so staunchly that it should easily last a lifetime.

An interesting modern note is the bakelite used in the top. Enclosed by delicate walnut moldings, its jet black ebony color contrasts becomingly with the Old English walnut color of the rest of the piece.

Hundreds of larger pieces, even more interesting, are also waiting for you here.

Each has been built carefully and skilfully by our Scotch and English craftsmen. Single pieces or groups. For living room, dining room, bedroom, or library—for city apartment or country home. Come soon and see how, in this friendly furniture, the fine old Anglo-Saxon traditions are found at their best.

TORNADO TOLL RAISED TO TWO

Man Injured in New Mexico's First Cyclone Dies

Los Angeles Woman Tourist Reported Near Death

Damage by Twister Figured at Around $60,000

WAGON MOUND (N.M.) June 1. (AP)—Charles Geist of Paterson, N.J., died today from injuries suffered in a cyclone which struck this town late yesterday, bringing total deaths to two. He was crushed in the wreckage of a garage in which Alfred Holbrook, 18 years of age, was killed.

Mrs. D. M. Brewer of Los Angeles, a tourist who was among the fourteen injured, is in a serious condition today and hospital attendants report that she may not survive. Other injured persons are recovering.

Geist was traveling to the Pacific Coast with Joe Lowenthal, also of Paterson. They were detained at Wagon Mound for two days as a result of their automobile breaking down. Geist and Lowenthal were planning to resume their journey Saturday and he was at the garage to get his car when the cyclone struck the town.

Lowenthal said that Geist had a dream of death Friday night and that he was so much concerned over the premonition that he wrote a letter to his wife at Paterson about it Saturday morning. Lowenthal escaped the fate of his companion because he went to the postoffice for mail while Geist went to the garage for the car. Lowenthal was not injured. He was at Las Vegas today preparing to take Geist's body back to New Jersey.

Careful check of the damage done by the cyclone, which was the first on record in New Mexico, indicated that the loss will reach about $75,000. Relief workers said that $5600 will be needed to aid sufferers from the storm with $300 for immediate necessities. Forty dwellings and half a dozen business buildings were demolished.

AID RUSHED

Red Cross and Salvation Army workers were ministering to sufferers today and crews of the State Highway Department and volunteer workers from Las Vegas and other near-by towns were clearing wreckage from the streets and aiding residents in repairing storm damage. Officials advised Gov. Dillon that the National Guard is not needed.

The twister cut a swath about 200 feet wide through the town, taking part of the business section and tearing through the residence district. The high-tension line which supplies the town with electricity, had been broken by the storm just before the cyclone struck and this prevented fire from adding to the damage.

A complete survey was made by relief workers, who divided the town into four sections to make a thorough canvass as to needs of the storm victims.

TOURISTS' INQUIRIES

Mrs. D. M. Brewer was making an automobile trip from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs with Miss Cora A. Beardsley and they were stopping at an automobile camp when the storm struck. Mrs. Brewer suffered the loss of one eye and was injured internally. Miss Beardsley suffered internal injuries but her condition was reported not serious today. They were hurled against a brick wall by the force of the wind.

W. C. Simpson, local resident, among the four most seriously hurt, was reported recovering today.

Mrs. Manuella Sanches was seated on a bed in her home tending her baby when the storm wrecked the house. The bed turned completely over and the baby fell beneath the mattress, escaping injury. Mrs. Sanches was bruised. Six other persons were in the adobe house and all escaped injury.

Charles Nelson, who was reported in the first list of injured as cut and bruised, was found today to be suffering also from a broken pelvic bone.

SMOKER WAKES IN FIERY CAR

Cigarette Drops from Fingers and Sets Auto Ablaze When He Takes Nap

Thomas Wilson, 28 years of age, fell asleep in his automobile in front of his home at 792 San Julian street while smoking a cigarette early yesterday morning, and awoke to find his clothing and car afire.

Before he was able to obtain aid most of his clothes were burned and the car partially consumed by flames. He was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital with second-degree burns of the entire body. The fire started when the cigarette, dropping from Wilson's fingers ignited the upholstering.

NEW RAIDS BY KOREANS EXPECTED

Japanese and Chinese in Manchurian Area Unite Against Red Outbreaks

TOKIO, June 1. (AP)—Japanese consular police and the Chinese military of the Chientao district of Kirin Province, Manchuria, mobilized today in preparation for further expected outbreaks by bands of Korean Communists.

Radicals are reported in Rengo News Agency dispatches from Kuei. Kores, yesterday to have bombed and burned Japanese consulates, buildings and schools of the Korean Association.

The most serious casualty reported was that of a consular policeman, who was wounded in an exchange of rifle fire when the police and Chinese military banded to drive out the invaders. No arrests are reported and all of the invaders are believed to have escaped.

Apparently well planned, the attacks were directed against Japanese centers in Lung Ching-taun, Yenki and other towns of the district. The former town apparently bore the brunt of the raids. There an electric light plant was disabled and the office of the Oriental Development Company was damaged by crude bombs.

Russian Trade School Planned on Ford Pattern

DETROIT, June 1. (AP)—The first of a series of trade schools to be established by the Russian government, soon will be under construction at Nizhni Novgorod, it became known today, following a recent visit here of a delegation of soviet industrialists to inspect the Henry Ford trade schools.

The school will in no way be connected with the Ford interests, but is expected to be patterned closely after the Detroit trade school. It will be adjacent to "Autostroy," the name given the plant to be built at Nizhni Novgorod for the manufacture of motor cars.

The curriculum for the Russian school will include Russian, physics, chemistry, auto mechanics and shop mechanics. Present plans call for facilities sufficient to accommodate 650 to 750 students, of whom 20 per cent will be girls.

Collier Trophy Ceremony Set for Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Formal presentation of the Collier Trophy for 1929 to the National Committee for Aeronautics will be made Tuesday by President Hoover.

Dr. Joseph S. Ames, chairman of the Federal committee and president of Johns Hopkins University, will accept the award which is made annually for "the greatest achievement in aviation in America, the value of which has been thoroughly demonstrated by actual use during the preceding year."

The committee was voted the trophy by a special committe of aeronautical authorities for its development of the N.A.C.A. cowling, a device for streamlining radial air-cooled engines and increasing airplane speed from fifteen to twenty miles an hour.

RUM RUNNERS SLAY OFFICERS

Two Patrolmen Meet Death in Detroit Suburb

Men Wanted in Hit-and-Run Accident Blamed

Three Suspects in Custody and Fourth Sought

DETROIT, June 1. (AP)—Two patrolmen of Grosse Pointe Park, Detroit suburb, were killed in a gun battle with rum runners early today. The patrolmen were Edward Meyer, 28 years of age, and Claude Lanstra, 24.

Meyer and Lanstra were shot, police say, by men they were seeking in connection with the serious injury of Mrs. Ina Piacso, 56, of Highland Park, who a short time before had been struck by an automobile, which left the scene of the accident.

The number of the car had been reported by witnesses and the officers located it near the scene of the accident, a neighborhood where liquor cargoes are landed from Canada. Meyer left the police car and approached the other machine to investigate and question the occupants. Men in the car immediately opened fire, and Meyer fell, shot through the head.

BOTH FATALLY WOUNDED

Lanstra began firing, but slumped over the wheel of the police car, with three bullets in his head and one below the heart. Both patrolmen died within a short time.

Members of the Detroit police Italian squad were assigned to the case and during the day made three arrests. The men taken are Frank De Mercurio, 24 years of age; his father, Sam De Mercurio, and Frank Salanone. The rum-runners' car was found pierced by several bullets.

Police say they believe the rum-runners' automobile was waiting for a cargo of liquor to be landed near the outlet of Lake St. Clair and that the men in the car must be wanted on serious charges, since they opened fire on the officers so unhesitatingly.

FOURTH MAN SOUGHT

The car was identified as belonging to Sam Ricca, who is said to be under $25,000 bond at Flint, charged with automobile theft. Search is on for Ricca tonight.

Police say all of the hangouts for gunmen in Detroit were deserted today and that they were able to locate few known gangsters. Officers are attempting to connect the Grosse Pointe Park shooting with the slaying of two Italians Saturday night, but say the only connecting link is the fact that guns used in both shootings were of the same caliber. Gaspare Scibilia and Sam Parino, known to police as bootleggers and hoodlums, were shot to death last night in the Italian district of Detroit.

MEXICANS TOLD HARRIS BILL TO FAIL

American Resident Gives Neighbors "Inside Tip" on Exclusion Measure's Fate

MEXICO CITY, June 1. (Exclusive)—Unlikelihood that the Harris Bill will be passed by the United States Congress is expressed in a statement issued by C. D. Hicks, chairman of the executive committee of the American Chamber of Commerce.

The statement quotes "a spokesman close to Congress and the State Department" as authority for this prediction, giving as reason the many protests against the bill that have been received. Because of these protests, the statement asserts, "there is now little likelihood of the measure going into effect at this time."

The American Chamber of Commerce has led an active campaign against the bill, believing it to be harmful to existing political and commercial relations between Mexico and the United States.

New York Will Retain Russian Insurance Fund

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Six million dollars in Russian insurance funds shall remain in the hands of the State Superintendent of Insurance while the soviet government remains unrecognized by Washington, the Appellate division of the State Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

Refugee directors in Paris of the Russian companies to whom the money belonged had sued to recover it. Albert Conway, the State superintendent, contended that the policyholders or creditors of the companies are the ones to whom the money should be returned, and that as long as the soviet government goes unrecognized by the United States it will be impossible to search them out.

Woman Hunted in Man's Death

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1. (AP)—An Indianapolis woman was the object of search tonight by police investigating the slaying of a man whose charred body was found in a burning sedan near here the morning following the 500-mile race.

The body was identified as that of Hariod Herbert Schroeder, Mobile (Ala.) business man, because a billfold containing an insurance receipt and registration under his name was found in a coat near the burned automobile.

The Banker must KNOW . . .

NO LARGE BANK can depend for its investments and loans altogether upon the old and stable, the tried and proven business projects of the past. Very often, as business ventures develop into stable investments, they have less and less need of borrowed money.

So banks finance men with new ideas, new products, new lines of endeavor. Still a Bank must seek certainty, and have reasons to believe the projector of the new enterprise will succeed.

This calls for RESEARCH...investigations into the sources of and the demand for commodities, investigation into the needs and demands, the tastes and the ability to buy of the people in the bank's territory.

Security-First National Bank employs a great many skilled men in this research work. Some are in the credit department, some in the investment department and some trained economists in a special Department of Research.

This fact is important not only to the Bank but also to its patrons. A great deal of this carefully collected and assorted information is available to you. If you want to know anything regarding industry, or commerce, or agriculture or development in Southern California, ask the officer at your Branch to get the information for you.

SEVEN KILLED IN INDIAN RIOT

Fatal Shooting of Children By Accident Stirs Mob

Raid on Salt Pans Results in Injury to 150 Persons

Troops Called Out to Aid in Repulsing Thousands

PESHAWAR (India) June 1. (AP)—Seven persons are reported to have been killed and nine wounded yesterday when police fired on a mob that had formed after the accidental shooting of a mother and her two children. Disorder ceased after the shooting, but business throughout the city suspended.

The shooting of the mother and children was caused by the accidental discharge of a rifle by a lance corporal on duty at the Kabuli Gate, an official statement said. The children were killed instantly, while the mother, wife of Sardar Ganga Singh, supervisor of the military farm, was taken to a hospital.

An excited crowd assembled immediately after the shooting and the police and troops asserted they were compelled to fire in self-defense. The bodies of those killed in the subsequent clashes were taken to near-by shops.

THOUSANDS IN SALT RAID LEAVE 150 INJURED

BOMBAY, June 1. (AP)—Fifteen thousand Indians surged through a two-mile cordon of police at the Wadala salt works today and left behind 150 injured.

So overwhelmed were the police that they called troops to assist them, but the area was quiet tonight and the soldiers were withdrawn.

The police used their bamboo staves freely, thus accounting for the 150 casualties, but the Nationalists who were unhurt emerged with handsful of salt and considered their onslaught triumphant. The attack had been advertised as a "final raid" by the Nationalist leaders, and they had spent a week in preparing for it.

Many persons were arrested and among them were nine women, headed by Mrs. K. M. Munshi, wife of a former member of the legislative assembly. The women later were released.

AGREEMENT REACHED IN RANGOON TROUBLE

RANGOON (Burma) June 1. (AP) The conciliation board set up by the government for settlement of the dispute between Burmese strikers and Hindu dock workers reported today that an agreement has been reached regarding the trouble, which recently caused fatal rioting here.

The agreement provides that one ship be allotted to the Burmese and the next to the Andhras, or Hindus. Shipping agents while pointing out that they are unable to bind their principals, agreed to carry on negotiations with the stevedores for ten days on the same conditions as prevailed before the disturbances, which cost several score lives last week.

SING SING ROLL CALL CONFUSING BUSINESS

OSSINING (N. Y.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Among Sing Sing's 2221 prisoners, there are triplicate John Smiths, James Joneses and Frank Williamses, Warden Lawes disclosed, in explaining his system to avoid confusion of inmates with duplicate names.

There are twenty Johnsons, twenty Smiths and twenty Browns, the prison records show, fourteen Joneses and a like number of Williamses and nine Cohens.

A careful check-up of men with similar names has been kept, Warden Lawes said, since the wrong Abraham Roth was pardoned several months ago. Luckily for the prison clerk who pulled the boner, the undeservedly freed Roth was soon rearrested and returned to the institution.

PARK MUSEUM HOLDS RECORD BISON HEAD

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 1. (Exclusive)—The museum at Mammoth Hot Springs, Yellowstone National Park, contains what is asserted to be the largest buffalo head on record, officials of the National Park Service stated today. It came from "Old Tex," one of the first offspring buffaloes introduced in the park in 1902 to form the nucleus of the present herd. Old Tex, outstanding in the herd even as a calf, later became its boss and ruled its harem indomitably. The name, given by the men who cared for the herd and fed the animals during the winter, probably came from the fact that the bulls of the Yellowstone herd were from the famous Goodnight herd of Texas.

FIEND SETS FIRE TO HACKED BODY

Frail Grandmother Found Horribly Murdered

Blaze Extinguished Before It Destroys Evidence

Uncle and Boarder Quizzed in Brooklyn Tragedy

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) Flames set to destroy the butchery of a fiendish killer last night led to the finding of the dismembered body of a frail grandmother horribly done to death in her home in Brooklyn's busiest downtown section. Fighting the blaze set by the fugitive killer in the third-floor apartment, police and firemen found 63-year-old Mrs. Rose Blatt dead, her mutilated body slightly charred.

First, she had been strangled by a tie, then her ninety-pound body had been cut in a manner beyond description, and finally, the murderer had set ablaze the furniture in the hope of wiping out evidence of his crime.

As soon as they had questioned neighbors, detectives went to Lozier's Department Store, five blocks away, where they found Harry H. Morrell, 66 years of age, gentle, chubby old fellow who is an uncle of the dead woman. Morrell, a china packer, asked immediately if robbers had killed his niece, so near his own age while she was alone. Police found money in the woman's strong box untouched.

The woman was killed shortly after twilight, police concluded today. However, they continued to question Morrell, who seemed stunned by the tragedy and John Ricci, 27, a peddler who boarded with Mrs. Blatt and her uncle.

Apparently the killer entered through a fire-escape window. A gas meter inspector discovered the fire and summoned firemen, who came upon the nude body of the old woman, literally cut to pieces, on the dining-room floor.

Empty gin and whisky bottles, with a single whisky glass beside them, were on the table. There was evidence that the killer, crazed by drink, had held the woman a prisoner for hours before he strangled and then ripped her body to pieces. No weapon was found at the scene.

RIVALS WARBLE POLITICAL DUET

Congressional Candidates in Iowa Sing Alike

Both 'Hoover's Pals,' Though Opposed in Policies

Electorate Yawns Over Windy Generalities

DES MOINES (Iowa) June 1. (Exclusive)—Disputation over the tariff, Boulder Dam and blackstrap molasses is waxing loud between Gov. Hammill and Representative Dickinson in the closing hours of Iowa's Republican Senatorship battle. Both camps assert twenty-four-carat Hooverism, the President being an Iowan native son, and the approach of Monday's primaries finds the two leading rivals raising their voices in a rollicking duet, "Hoover's a Pal of Mine."

Arm-in-arm travels a twin issue: "Who is the farmers' best friend?" Scores of speeches have been spouted on this. Dickinson, twelve years in Congress, introduced the bill that became the basis for the Federal Farm Board Act. Hammill, three times Governor back in the days of the corn-belt uprising, called the conferences of the corn-raising States which culminated in the battle of Kansas City over the farm-relief plank in the Republican National Convention.

BLACK OR WHITE

Hammill, who is attacking the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill as the product of "the Longworth-Grundy pirate gang," says it is an anti-Hoover tariff. Dickinson, advocating the tariff bill, says it is "Hoover's tariff bill and the President will sign it."

Both in every speech are swearing fealty to Hoover and the G.O.P. Each insists he is "in step with Hoover" and that his rival is dragging a leg—"everybody's out of step but our Bill."

Meanwhile, Frank J. Lund, Senator Brookhart's manager, as a third candidate is assailing Hammill and Dickinson as backsliders on the equalization fee. Lund says the tariff bill is "a betrayal of Hoover to the industrialists."

POPULACE YAWNS

Radicalism is absent from the main show. The populace does not seem excited, accustomed as it is in Iowa to blood and thunder gladiatorial combats between insurgents and stalwarts. Titles have been plentifully bestowed and the sobriquets of "Honest John" and "Hell-Raising Dick" are household words. Both candidates are of prepossessing appearance. They look like statesmen and each is possessed of a deep, sonorous voice. The popular opinion is that whichever one wins, Iowa's next Senator will fall into Senator Moses's category of "sons of the wild jackass."

With the issue almost one of personalities and records alone, audiences have been slim. Politicians are lamenting that out in the wide-open spaces, even with hard roads and automobiles, the "portable audience," as developed in Chicago, is impractical. To get a hearing in many instances they have been forced to fall back on Rotary, Kiwanis and similar non-political clubs. The vote is not expected to exceed 400,000. At one period, to jazz up interest, the camps fell back on nursery rhymes and for a week and more there was an interchange of Mother Goose up to date; "Little Jack Horner," "Hickory, Dickery Dock," etc., but poetry proved too refined a medium for politics.

INS AND OUTS

Hammill has the support of a State machine and is well known. "Hell-Raising Dick" is not so well known but has powerful champions, among them two ex-Governors, William L. Harding and W. E. Kendall.

In attacking the tariff, "Honest John" socked the ten Iowa Representatives who voted for the bill, terming them "buccaneering Republicans." This has not made for sweetness. All Iowa's Representatives in Congress are Republicans and only three have fights at the Monday's primaries. In the Fourth District in Northeast Iowa Gilbert N. Haugen, thirty-two years in Congress and author of the McNary-Haugen bill, is opposed by State Senator Benson and W. M. Strand, but Haugen is not deemed in danger. In the first Congressional District, Representative Kopp is opposed by Louis J. Kehoe, and in the Third, Representative Robinson is opposed by William Galloway.

FRIEND AT COURT

Dickinson has the academic indorsement of Senator Brookhart. State Senator Daniel F. Steck, Democrat, has no opponent at the primaries.

In their parting shots Dickinson said all Hammill has done as a friend of the farmer is to slap him on the back. "Honest John" declared that "Hell-Raising Dick" raised hell only in Iowa and in Washington "played to the galleries."

More interest is displayed in the Governorship fight. State income tax is the issue. Dan W. Turner of Corning is for it, Ed M. Smith of Winterset and Otto F. Lange of Dubuque are against it.

RADIOS TO BE INSTALLED IN ISOLATED HOMESTEADS

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The government's Office of Education will install 100 radio sets in isolated mountain homes to determine if broadcasting can take the place of reading as a means of outside contact.

Many of the homes can be reached only by mule trails and footpaths. In some of them live persons who never saw a railroad train, an automobile, or an airplane.

"The educators will supervise this experiment with no preconceived notions as to what it will prove or disprove," said a bulletin from the Interior Department, of which the Office of Education is a part.

FINANCIAL SITUATION IN ITALY 'COMFORTING'

ROME, June 1. (AP)—Senator Mosconi, Minister of Finance, presented the budget to the Chamber of Deputies today and said that Italy's financial situation is comforting.

The budget totals 19,349,000,000 lire (about $967,450,000,) which is an increase of 778,000,000 lire (about $38,900,000) over 1929.

Senator Mosconi said the deficit in the commercial balance had been reduced last year from 7,361,000,000 lire (about $368,050,000) to 6,411,000,000 lire (about $320,550,000.)

Byrd's Vessels Traverse Canal

PANAMA, June 1. (AP)—The ships of Rear-Admiral Byrd's Antarctic expedition started through the Panama Canal today on the last lap of the homeward voyage.

The steamer Eleanor Bolling entered the Canal shortly before 10 a.m., and the bark City of New York at 10 o'clock. Their schedule calls for a stop at Cristobal for fuel, with sailing from that port set for Tuesday morning.

GRAIN WEEVIL HIT

ST. PAUL (Minn.) June 1. (AP)—Chloropicrin gas probably will serve to rid elevators, flour mills and other food storage plants of the granary weevil, according to Dr. A. L. Strand of the Minnesota agricultural experiment station.

SIX DIE WHEN HOUSE BURNS

Five Children and Mother Perish in Flames

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Mrs. William Moxley, 40 years of age, and her five children, burned to death in their home at Glen Echo, Md., near Washington today as flames swept through the building and cut off escape.

William Moxley, father of the children, a one-armed park policeman, said he leaped from a window and shouted to his wife to follow him. He heard a scream and then all was silent. Moxley suffered burns and contusions.

The dead children: George, 13; Linda, 11; Gordon, 8; Ellee, 5, and Bessie, 3.

FRONT DRIVE WINS AGAIN!
Most Phenominal Record of Stamina Ever Demonstrated on Indianapolis Speedway
All Front Drive Claims Vindicated!

What of it? Just this—the world's greatest proving ground for mechanical stamina, and the greatest laboratory for testing of engineering theories, is the sustained and abnormal strain of this annual 500-mile race. Billy Arnold in a Miller-Hartz FRONT DRIVE Special took the lead about the sixth mile and continued this for the entire distance of 500 miles with only one stop at the pit to fill with gas, oil and water and change two tires.

This proves conclusively that the FRONT DRIVE principle as designed by Harry Miller and used on CORD automobiles is correct, and it should thoroughly convince anyone who has hesitated buying a CORD because they still believed it to be an experiment.

The FRONT DRIVE automobile has revolutionized the industry and will have to be accepted on ALL high priced cars.

"SINGING COP" TO MAKE DEBUT

County Highway Patrolman in Concert Wednesday

George Stinson Will Appear With Schumann-Heink

Anaheim Theater Proceeds to Aid Operatic Career

SANTA ANA, June 1. — George Stinson, 28-year-old Orange county highway patrolman, better known as "The Singing Cop," won't be handing out speed tickets very much longer. In fact, if fortune favors him and lands him at the goal to which his friends believe him headed, those traffic tickets may prove valuable mementos.

Next Wednesday evening Stinson will stand on the stage of the Anaheim Open-Air Theater and sing on the same program with Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, world-famous contralto, whose interest in Stinson's musical progress has been so intense that she will give him all the money she receives from the concert that he may receive European operatic training.

GREAT CAREER PREDICTED

Mme. Schumann-Heink, still a concert favorite after many years of public singing, believes that the "singing cop" will be the world's greatest Wagnerian tenor and some day will rank with Enrico Caruso in the musical hall of fame.

Although high praise had been heaped upon Stinson by American critics, and a brilliant future predicted for him, it was "The Mother of the American Legion," Madame Schumann-Heink, who took the first direct step to secure for him the proper sort of training.

She has canceled a European concert tour to sing for him at Anaheim, the concert being sponsored by the American Legion posts of Anaheim and Santa Ana. Madame Schumann-Heink is virtually singing for nothing. All her share of the proceeds goes to Stinson and the two Legion posts get the remainder for their building funds.

Friends of Stinson in Orange county, and there are many hundreds of them, to whom the story of his life is known, recalled today that the "traffic cop" (he doesn't like the term singing officer—he's a cop and proud of it) once thought that the career of a singer was "sissified."

Today he stands nearly 6 feet tall, weighs more than 200 pounds and can make the rafters ring in any hall in which he has appeared. They recalled also that his Irish parents are dead and that his glorious voice is largely the only heritage he has today of his mother, a woman who knew the lilting Irish ballads as only the sons and daughters of Erin know them.

CHAPLAIN DISCOVERS VOICE

They recalled, too, that Stinson's voice had really been discovered by an army chaplain while he was soldiering in the Philippine Islands. This chaplain had offered to pay Stinson's expenses if he would enroll under European voice masters, but the soldier had refused because he considered that the life of a singer was not virile enough.

Fresh in the memories of his friends were Stinson's many appearances gratis before Orange county oraginations and American Legion posts. So anxious has he been to please his friends that he has frequently dug into his own pocket to pay his accompanist, Miss Frances Adams.

His comrades of the traffic squad recollected that when Stinson first joined the squad and was assigned to night duty, that he filled the night air with arias from the operas, his voice rising above the steady chug-chug of his motorcycle.

Ocean Park Has Floral Pageant for Its Children

OCEAN PARK, June 1.—With thirty-two floats and nearly 200 children participating, the eleventh annual Children's Floral Pageant, marking the official opening of the summer season, attracted a record-breaking crowd here today. Estimate placed the number of persons along the line of march between 75,000 and 100,000. The parade was held under the auspices of the Ocean Park Business Men's Association.

The sweepstakes prize of $100 was awarded to the float entered by the Cooper Apartments, Ocean Park, which also took a trophy for the best entry in the real-flower-float division.

MANHATTAN TO VOTE ON BOND ISSUE TODAY

MANHATTAN BEACH, June 1.—Bonds for the purchase of two new school sites and the construction of one new school building, are involved in the special election to be held here tomorrow. A survey of present school facilities made under the direction of the State Board of Education a year ago is responsible for the move. An issue of $128,000 is asked for use in the improvement.

WORLD ORANGE-PACK TITLE WON

MORE CANDIDATES APPEAR

Additional Aspirants for Office File Petitions at Santa Ana to Circulate Nomination Papers

SANTA ANA, June 1.—Orange county candidates for office at this year's primary and general elections continue to enter the field, the nominating period having begun Wednesday with fifteen petitions of candidates placed in circulation.

In addition to those county candidates who applied for nominating petitions Wednesday were the following: Willard Smith of Orange, candidate for re-election as Supervisor from the Fourth District, and James F. Snowden of Olive, who will oppose Smith; Supervisor John C. Mitchell, Garden Grove, candidate for re-election from the second district, and Jess A. Armitage of Sunset Beach, opponent of Mitchell; County Assessor James Sleeper, candidate for re-election.

A. C. Earley, La Habra City Clerk, who recently was appointed Justice of the peace of Brea Township to succeed Justice Henry E. Hart, obtained his nomination petition, as did his prospective opponent, City Judge Charles C. Kinsler of Brea, who will contest for Earley's office as justice of the peace.

Constable W. D. Tremaine of Brea, candidate for re-election, was among the crop. Another was Earl C. Dutton of Anaheim, candidate for re-election to the Republican Central Committee, from the Third District.

A. W. Swayze of Orange, bailiff in Department Two of Superior Court, appeared as a candidate for justice of the peace of Orange Township against the incumbent, O. W. Ingle, who has not yet applied for a nominating petition.

SHERIFF CANDIDATE SAYS HE CAN MAKE COUNTY DRY

SANTA ANA, June 1.—William J. McCardle, rancher of 606 Buaro Road, today announced his candidacy for the office of Sheriff. He said he had been a resident of Orange county since 1905, save for three years he spent at Blythe and five years in Los Angeles county.

A startling statement in connection with a promise made in his announcement, of waging warfare against illicit liquor traffic in Orange county, if elected, is contained in the following:

"I started work as a longshoreman at Wilmington and got transferred to a rum-running boat unloading illicit liquor for two years. Also manufacturing liquor and sold for large companies. I have also unloaded boats of liquor at Seal Beach, Laguna Beach, Long Beach and other beaches, and know how all liquor is handled from San Pedro to San Diego, for Los Angeles county.

"If I am elected Sheriff of Orange county, I will cut 75 per cent of Los Angeles' liquor supply and will make Orange county practically dry."

MEMORIAL STUDY TO BE BUILT

Corner-Stone Laid in New Structure at Redlands in Memory of Late Pastor

REDLANDS, June 1.—The corner-stone for a pastor's study which will be a memorial to Rev. Nelson Hoffpauir was laid this afternoon. The building will be on Montana street, adjoining the Methodist parsonage.

The foundation of the building is already in, and a small portion of wall on which the corner-stone will be laid is in place. The structure is to be 16 by 22 feet, built of native stone and beamed and trimmed with natural logs. It will have a fireplace, built-in bookcases and other features designed to make it a comfortable and helpful workshop for the ministers of the church. The plans include the building of a stone wall and laying out of a driveway with the grounds improved with ornamental shrubs and lawn, completing a memorial that is unique, beautiful and practical.

Laying of the corner-stone was done by Hamilton Hoffpauir of San Diego, son of the late Rev. Hoffpauir, and the program of the ceremony was as follows:

Singing of Dr. Hoffpauir's favorite hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross;" the setting of the stone; address by Rev. Walter Loomis, friend of Mr. Hoffpauir and formerly pastor of the First Methodist Church of San Bernardino, now superintendent of the Long Beach district; hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

The stone will be placed in the southeast corner of the structure. On the front and south side will be the inscription, "N. F. Hoffpauir Memorial, October, 1921, Pastor, August, 1928." On the west side will be the date, "A.D. 1930."

The work on the building is being done by members of the church in memory of the pastor, who served the local church from October, 1921, until his death, August 24, 1923. His death came after a short illness and was a shock to the entire community. He was only 47 years of age, twenty-six of which were spent in the ministry.

SHORTAGE OF WALNUT CROP IN PROSPECT

ANAHEIM, June 1.—Looking forward to a comparatively short crop, with the possibility of high prices, walnut growers in this district have begun their annual battle against insect pests to insure a good quality yield for 1930. The yield from this district is estimated at 450 tons, or 50 per cent of last year's output, according to Manager Walter Ross of the Anaheim Walnut Growers' Association.

Coddling moth have been showing unusual activity this year and growers now are engaged in a contest with the insects, applying spray and preparing to dust their groves, Manager Ross said.

EL SEGUNDO PLANS MUNICIPAL LIBRARY

EL SEGUNDO, June 1.—Provisions for a municipal library are under way here, following the action of the City Council in its preparations to sever connection with the Los Angeles County Library, which service is now being used. A special committee working with Mayor George Love is to decide the plan to be adopted.

LAWNDALE-MONETA PETITION UP TONIGHT

REDONDO BEACH, June 1.—A petition for which City Clerk C. C. Mangold was routed out of bed at 1:42 a.m. last Monday will be before the City Council for its action tomorrow night. The paper asks permission to circulate an annexation petition in the Lawndale and Moneta districts. Its legality is under question due to the fact that a similar petition, understood to have precedence, has been accepted by the City Council of Hawthorne. Both involve portions of the Alondra Park assessment district and follow incorporation plans launched a few weeks ago.

FLOWER SHOW DATE SET

VAN NUYS, June 1.—Plans for the annual flower show sponsored by the San Fernando Valley Horticultural Society, to be given the 6th inst. in the Van Nuys High School gymnasium, were completed today, it was announced by R. French, flower expert and head of the organization. The show will be held in connection with the school's annual agricultural fair. About 100 amateur flower growers will have displays at the exhibition, which each year is largely attended.

AIR-TRAVEL RECORD SET

Passenger-Haulage Figures for Twelve-Hour Period of T.A.T.-Maddux Lines Better Previous Mark

GLENDALE, June 1.—All passenger-haulage records for twelve hours were smashed here today by the T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines as triple and double sections were handled both in and outbound on all three divisions radiating from this city. And not only were records smashed in the number of airplanes handled, but actual passengers carried reached a new high mark. Every ship was filled to its capacity.

Three planes came in from over the eastbound section, two arrived from the south and two departed for the north. All other regular runs were covered by the regulation equipment.

Reports received from all stations indicate a deluge of disappointments as last-minute passengers applied for seating-space and could not be accommodated. The great majority carried in the record-breaking business were those who had made their reservations in advance.

H. W. Beck, western traffic manager, and D. W. Tomlinson, chief of operations for the western division, gave their personal attention to the volume of business, the former in endeavoring to distribute the heavy demands for seats so the greatest number of persons could be carried, and the latter in moving his ten ships over the three divisions in such manner that they actually did the work which would usually be alloted to sixteen planes.

"It was the reaction from the three-day holiday," explained Beck. "So many people took advantage of Decoration Day, to which they added the usual half-holiday Saturday and the regulation Sunday, and by using air transportation they were able to make long journeys which were entirely out of the question in slower transportation."

COMPANY'S PROTESTS OVERRULED

Redlands City Council's Commission's Findings Not Accepted, However

REDLANDS, June 1.—Protest of the Pacific Leasehold Corporation against the finding of the commission appointed by the City Council, to assess benefits and damages for the widening of Orange street on the west side, north from State street to the alley, was overruled by the City Council yesterday at a conference.

The board did not accept the report of the commission at that meeting, preferring to wait until the next regular meeting and make some investigation in the meantime, due to the fact that several of the members of the board are not thoroughly acquainted with all the factors in the case.

Members of the board frankly told the representatives of the Pacific Leasehold Corporation in the meeting that they made a bad bargain in the lease; that it is generally understood to be one, and that the feeling is the leaseholders are trying to get some returns from the city.

The demand of the corporation for damages of $50,000 was overruled, even though Lawrence Livingston, attorney, said that careful figuring had reduced the total to $47,000.

Livingston brought with him for the conference with the Council Harry Wright of the Harry E. Wright Construction Company, the builders for the Pacific Leasehold Corporation. He made a formal inquisition of the affair and had Wright sworn in, stating that he did this to protect his company in case of a lawsuit.

Wright testified in effect that the present building wall could be set back so the building could be used, for about $12,000, but that if this were done, the upstairs could not be used. He did not feel that termites and age had made the building a dangerous one, when asked the question by Attorney Walter Hartsell. He said this would be the cost of cutting off the building.

B. B. Rich, president of the corporation, and for many years with the United Cigar Stores, testified that the lease the company holds is a good one, based on the present income, with proper allowance for a better income which could be expected. "This is a freak corner," he said. "Frontage on Orange street is as good as that on State street, which makes it much more valuable, but, of course, we have to have storerooms of the size to rent to available business."

He indicated that the company can reasonably expect $12.50 per front foot for rentals, or $500 a month. He admitted he knew leases of this kind, as he has made some 12,000 of them in many years of experience.

Wineville Class Graduates With Eight Members

WINEVILLE, June 1. — Eight boys and girls of this place are are ready for the opening of high school in the fall. They will enter as freshmen, having graduated from the eighth grade with impressive ceremonies at the school.

The graduates are Ferne Buck, Amy Vonne Dixon, Madeline Galldano, Frank Kolishnik, Helen Laag, Irene Wurtz, Tom Williams and Tom Wilson.

The commencement address was given by Frank Lavesu of the Board of Education.

George Smith, principal of the school, was presented with a handsome desk set and fountain pen by the graduating class.

CHAMBER ABANDONS AIRPORT-SITE PLAN

SAN FERNANDO, June 1.—The plan for the promotion of the airport site between here and Pacoima has been dropped. The local Chamber of Commerce today notified all concerned that at the present time it could not give its support to the enterprise. The site proposed about two months ago contains 260 acres. The proposition was predicted on the sale of stock for the purchase of the acreage and its subsequent improvement.

Free Rodeo to Be Feature at Lakeside Park

OWENSMOUTH, June 1.—A free rodeo in which there will be cowboy roping and the riding of bucking horses and steers will take place tomorrow, beginning at 2 p.m. at Lakeside Park in the western end of San Fernando Valley.

Frank Gates and George Stokes, well-known riders who have taken part in recent rodeos in Los Angeles county, will be in charge of the various events. The whole show will be under the auspices of the Lakeside Park Riding Academy and its manager, Lewis Jones. Each Sunday there are 1000 or more visitors to the picnic grounds at Lakeside Park. It is estimated by Jones that about thirty cowboys will be in the exhibition he has staged.

Lakeside Park is reached by taking Saticoy street at Van Nuys and thence in direct western direction until the extreme western end of the valley is reached.

Palos Verdes to Dedicate New Library There

PALOS VERDES, June 1.—Dedication of the new community library building nearing completion at a cost with landscaping of $85,000, has been set for the latter part of this month, during which time the American Library Association will be in convention in Los Angeles.

Arrangements which set the date tentatively as the 27th inst., have been made for an afternoon session of the association convention to be held here, the visitors to take part in the dedication ceremonies and to be guests of the library board and art committees at a formal tea in the art gallery of the building.

The new structure is considered one of the most distinctive on the Coast and overlooks Malaga Cove Plaza and the ocean.

REDONDO LIBRARY TO BE READY JULY FIRST

REDONDO BEACH, June 1.—Completion of this city's new Library Building, situated in the Municipal Park at the foot of Opal street, has been set for July 1, following the granting of a thirty-day extension in the time allowed the contractors. The building, costing approximately $45,000 with interior fittings, is of stucco with ornamental facade and low-hanging red-tile roof. Part of the structure is two stories in height, conforming to the sloping park site, which overlooks the ocean, and a mezzanine floor provides additional facilities. L. B. Pemberton is architect.

BREA LEGION TO HAVE RODEO ON LABOR DAY

BREA, June 1.—Brea Post 181 of the American Legion has announced plans for a two-day Labor Day celebration and rodeo to be held August 31 and September 1. The program will include sports, fireworks, spectacular aerial stunts and a free barbecue, according to James Leech, post commander.

WIND-WAVE TURBINE SEEN

Invention Built on Merry-go-Round Principle Shown at San Diego by Inventor, Joseph H. Anderson

SAN DIEGO, June 1.—A wind and water turbine built on the "merry-go-round" principle is the invention of Joseph H. Anderson of 294 North Lake avenue, Pasadena, who is visiting here. Anderson also declares that his contrivance would use tidal power and serve as a "wave motor."

A flat metal disc pierced by an axle is the basis of Anderson's idea, now classed as "patent applied for." On this disc are mounted any number of hinged vanes, radiating from the axle to the rim of the disc.

The hinges, Anderson said, would permit wind or water to impel the disc by striking the rigid vanes on one side, and if struck from the other, to fold up without offering resistance. Mounting of the turbine could be made with the axle either vertical or horizontal, according to Anderson. A vertical mounting would permit the wheel to use incoming tide or wave power on one side and pick up the ebb on the other.

Anderson, a construction worker, has not yet tested a full-size unit built according to his ideas. He plans a trip to Imperial Valley this week in an effort to adapt the turbine to irrigation uses.

GREAT DANES AFTER RIBBONS

Canines Featured in Pasadena Show

Canis Major, Aristocrat of Dogdom

This animal, owned by Herbert B. Gardner, having won prizes at every show in which he has been entered for several years, is expected by his owner to win additional honors at the Pasadena Dog Show, which opens Friday in the Crown City under the auspices of the Pasadena Kennel Club.

ALHAMBRA WILL VOTE ON TUESDAY

One School and City Posts to be Filled; Park and Fire Station Sought

ALHAMBRA, June 1.—Four city posts and one school office are to be filled at the regular election Tuesday, and two propositions for municipal improvements are to be decided.

Main interest centers in the election of two city commissioners, with John H. Coulter, incumbent, being opposed by L. R. Hibbard in the Third District race, and Clair V. Ward, incumbent, Bryson D. MacGill and Emerson Hare running for the Fourth District post. MacGill and Hare are both newcomers in the local political arena. Hibbard a year ago was candidate for president of the City Commission, losing to Chris Campbell by a narrow margin.

R. Bruce Wallace, city auditor, and Mrs. Evelyn T. Caulk, city treasurer, are candidates for re-election and have no opposition.

For the vacancy on the school board two candidates are on the ballot, Harold H. Montgomery and Thomas B. Hudson.

The two propositions to be voted on concern the spending of a portion of the fund derived from the sale of Alhambra's one-sixth interest in the Tricity Farm property. One project, involving approximately $45,000, is for the purchase of a ten-acre park site near Sixth and San Marino streets. Residents of this section have urged the acquisition of the property for some time.

The second proposition is a proposal to establish a new fire station, at a cost of $40,000, in the southwestern part of the city. The fire station project was defeated previously when it was presented in the form of a bond issue.

The commission adopted a policy at the time the farm land was sold that the money from the sale would not be used except on referendum vote of the citizens. Special elections held heretofore to secure authorization for various plans have resulted in defeat for the proposals.

The campaign on the part of the contestants for the city and school offices has been extremely mild. No large issues are involved in the election. There has been apparently only a slight interest taken in the fate of the two propositions. A light vote is anticipated.

Distinction Won by Ynez School

MONTEREY PARK, June 1.—Geography pupils in the Ynez grammar school are completing, as one of their Junior Red Cross activities, a portfolio which is to be displayed at the International Junior Red Cross exhibition to be held this summer in Paris. The Ynez school has the distinction of being one of nine grammar schools chosen from thousands in the United States to prepare portfolios depicting life, events and Red Cross work in America.

Mrs. Alyce May Sisson, teacher of geography in Ynez, is in charge of preparing the exhibit, which is to be displayed with other exhibits from schools of many nations.

Schools in this district now have a 100 per cent enrollment in the Junior Red Cross. Membership is based on citizenship work in the home and community, health work and the making of exchange portfolios to be sent to other countries.

DILL AND PICKLES IN ADJOINING PATCHES

NORTH LOS ANGELES, June 1. M. B. Reece, local rancher, is growing dill pickles. He has seven acres of the right-size cucumbers planted, and alongside this huge patch, four acres of dill that will ripen and be ready for use when the "cukes" are ready to be made into pickles. This section of San Fernando Valley is famed for its cucumber growing. Usually about six tons are growing to the acre.

Last year Reece obtained eleven tons from his fields. Most of the cucumbers raised here are sold in ton lots to the Heins plant, which is one of the large industries in this area.

PASADENA, June 1.—The contest for supremacy among the Great Danes for best of breed will be one of the striking features at the Pasadena Dog Show to be held two days starting Friday, in a tent at the corner of Colorado and Hudson streets.

The number of entries of Great Danes will be among the largest to be placed on exhibition at the big event of dogdom, which will be held under the auspices of the Pasadena Kennel Club. Canis Major, the Great Dane owned by Herbert B. Gardner, who has won prizes at every dog show in which he has been entered for several years, is expected by his owner to win additional honors at the local event.

Harold Lloyd, famous screen comedian, will enter ten Great Danes in the show.

Pioneers' Day of State-Wide Scope Planned

UPLAND, June 1.—What was started with the idea of a community gathering is assuming State-wide proportions here with plans to invite every early settler of California to participate in a pioneer pageant in the near future.

Pioneers of Upland and Ontario will be assisted in launching the project by the Pioneer Society of San Bernardino, the members of which have expressed enthusiasm over the plans.

Not only will a striking panorama of the days of fifty years ago be presented, but an opportunity will be given the pioneers of the State to meet in a great reunion gathering, according to Clair E. Kirk, secretary of the Upland Chamber of Commerce.

July 4 was suggested as a date for the pageant, but this date has been abandoned, and a definite time for the event will be set soon.

Quail Preserve Aim of League

NATIONAL MEET FRIDAY

A.A.U. Gymnastic Championships at Stake in Affair at Olympic Auditorium This Week

The 1930 National A.A.U. gymnastic championships, a forerunner of the Olympiad sports of 1932, will be held at the Olympic Auditorium Friday evening with all of America's champion gymnasts and tumblers in action. The championships will be held under the auspices of the Los Angeles Athletic Club with L. A. Henry, chairman of club athletics, and president of the district A.A.U., in charge.

Henry and his Mercury Club and A.A.U. coworkers have been working steadily for weeks on the event and promise to put on a show, second only to the gymnastic program of the Olympic Games.

AL JOCHIM

"I sincerely hope that Southern California will support this meet," said Henry recently, "for some reason or other gymnastics have never been given their proper place here. We brought the championships to Los Angeles to stir up enthusiasm in a sport which takes more exacting preparations than track-and-field or numerous other lines of athletics. Gymnastics rank near the top of European sports and our championships Friday will show what progress America has made for the 1932 Games."

Henry is especially anxious to have school-children witness the meet as it is in the public schools where this country's future gymnasts must be developed if America is to keep pace with European nations. For this reason a special price of 15 cents has been placed on school tickets and these may be secured at the schools. A Patrons' Association, composed of prominent Southern California men, makes AUTEUIL (France) June 1. (AP)—Henri Cochet of France, whose rise in tennis began at the lowest rung of the ladder, was crowned undisputed king of the court today while Mrs. Helen Wills Moody reemphasized her right to rule the women's division.

HENRI COCHET

Big Bill Tilden, fighting a gallant but vain battle against the little Frenchmen's racquet wizardry, was beaten by Cochet, 3-6, 8-6, 6-3, 6-1, in the men's singles finals of the French hardcourt championships.

SUFFERS DEFEAT

A determined onslaught to snatch from the classic brow of Mrs. Moody the diadem she has worn several years also ended disastrously. By a strange irony of tennis destiny, among the many monocled club men and distinguished gentlemen who literally fought for a chance to wring Cochet's hand, hug and even kiss him after his victory, were some of Lyons' barons for whom little Henri, a decade and a half ago, had chased balls battered by their expensive but uneducated racquets.

As a result of the split the series wound up in a tie and it now becomes apparent that the boys were just playing for nothing this week.

FRANK SIGAFOOS

The near battle between Haney, the pudgy Seraph third-baseman, and Hufft, Mission left-fielder, took place right after Umpire Chet Chadbourne had ended the first game with a terrible decision in ruling Haney out at second. Haney and Manager Jack Lelivelt were busy telling Chadbourne how blind he was when Hufft, trotting in to the bench from left field, dipped his ear in the argument and said something that netted the Angel third-baseman. Haney made a rush for Fussy and Hufft seemed agreeable to put on an unbilled main event for Wrigley Field but rival players quickly got between them and the affair didn't even reach clinching proportions.

It probably would have been a good fight, too, for Hufft is supposed to be the champion of Fort Smith, Arkansas, an imposing title even though it probably means no more than the wrestling championship of Bulgaria, while Haney has a record for being a two-fisted scrapper from the Western League to the majors and back again.

DULL WEEK LOOMS FOR FOLLOWERS OF BOXING

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Another dull boxing program for the week finds its sole feature in the opening of the metropolitan outdoor season.

Three local outdoor arenas will put on their first shows this week, weather permitting. At Dexter Park tomorrow night, Leo Williams, Harlem Negro light-heavyweight, meets Izzy Grove, sturdy Bronx lad, in the ten-round final. Ebbets Field, with Jess McMahon as master of fistic ceremonies, begins the season on Wednesday night with a ten-rounder between Tony Canzoneri and Joe Glick, New York lightweights. In the semifinal of ten rounds, Sid Terris, erstwhile "Ghetto Ghost," will attempt another comeback against Pete Nebo of Tampa, Fla.

The Queensboro Stadium's opening Tuesday night will be featured by a light-heavyweight battle between Maxie Rosenbloom, the Harlem clown, and George Hoffman, New York heavyweight. In the ten-round semifinal, Marty Gallagher, Washington heavyweight, takes on Salvatore Ruggierello of Italy.

In other cities little of interest is offered. Primo Carnera meets K. O. Christner of Akron, O., in a ten-rounder at Detroit Thursday night, and Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo, once lightweight champion, engages Pewee Jarrell of Mishawaka, Ind., at Grand Rapids tomorrow night. Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City (Iowa) heavyweight, battles Cowboy Bill Owens, over the ten-round route at Sioux City Thursday night. At Fresno, Cal., Thursday, Wilson Yarbo, Cleveland Negro, takes on Irish Del Kennedy of Fresno, and at Los Angeles Tuesday night, Tom Kirby, Boston heavyweight, meets Frankie Campbell of San Francisco.

PAIR OF HOMERS POLED OUT BY WALTER BERGER

BOSTON, June 1. (AP)—The Giants took both ends of a double-header from the Braves here today before a crowd of 43,00 fans, one of the largest throngs which ever witnessed major league baseball in this city. The score in the first game was 9 to 4 and in the second 16 to 3. The Giants collected twelve runs in their half of the third inning of the second contest.

Berger of the Braves hit his thirteenth homer of the season in the first game, and his fourteenth in the second game.

MIDWICK GROOMED FOR ANNUAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Strong Field Enters Annual Title Tourney

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

With entries for the 1930 Southern California amateur golf championship closing this afternoon at 4 o'clock, approximately 130 golfers are expected to tee off tomorrow at the Midwick Country Club in the annual classic.

Only players with handicaps of 7 and under are eligible for the championship, and this year's field promises to be one of the most notable in the history of the tournament.

J. L. Mothershed, chairman of the greens at Midwick, has left no stone unturned to make the course a championship test in every respect. Fairways have been narrowed, traps have been added, and the entire layout from tee to greens is in perfect trim.

Midwick last held the amateur in 1922, when Willie Hunter, now professional at the Montebello Park course, but at that time fresh from winning the British amateur championship, defeated E. S. Armstrong in the finals.

L. Perry Ferguson, secretary of the Southern California Golf Association, told us the other day that Charles Seaver had returned from prep school in the East, and would play in the championship. A. H. Painter, who will handle the tournament at the first tee, said yesterday that he had received no entry from Seaver, but it is possible that the entry may have been waylaid.

If young Seaver enters, he will be a leading favorite along with Gibson Dunlap, the defending champion, and Fay Coleman of California, 1926 champion.

Dunlap eliminated Seaver in the semifinals last year at Bel-Air, but Charley's game has shown great improvement since that time. The Los Angeles Country Club youngster was one of the shining lights of the past midwinter tournaments, leading Von Elm and many leading pros in the Long Beach open.

Today will be the last for practice rounds before the big event starts tomorrow, and a large number of players are planning to get in a round this morning and afternoon.

The field will be cut to low sixty-four and ties at the end of the thirty-six-hole qualifying round tomorrow and Wednesday for match play. The championship flight will be composed of the low thirty-two with two additional flights of sixteen.

CAPPY SLADE WINS CALIFORNIA PLAY

F. M. (Cappy) Slade won the blind bogey played yesterday at the California Country Club with 79-3—76. The prize was a golf bag.

Winners in the ball sweepstakes played on Saturday were announced as follows: V. H. Meadows, 85-18—70; George Winfrey, 86-16—70; Dr. Goodfellow, 82-12—70, and Joe Richardson, 83-13—70.

LOS ANGELES CLUB TITLE WON BY EICHELBERGER

Harry M. Eichelberger, Jr., former Southern California junior champion, yesterday won the Los Angeles Country Club championship by defeating Frank Taines 6 and 4, in the thirty-six-hole finals. Eichelberger won with ease, being six up at the end of nine holes, and eight up at the half-way mark.

Results of quarter - final matches in the President's Cup play were also announced, King Brown winning from Ralph H. Long, 2 and 1, Phil Ayres defeating Jack Mackay, 3 and 7, and C. R. Jamison winning from J. O. Adams, 2 and 1. Eichelberger has a match to play with C. K. Moore, which will be played at a later date.

In the consolation flight, A. E. Burr, Jr., defeated B. A. Brennan, 1 up, nineteen holes; C. H. Merrill defeated T. B. Millholland, 2 and 1; and A. G. Brown won from R. R. Davis, 5 and 4.

Teams Clash Saturday at Santa Monica

Brentwood's annual best-ball, two-ball invitation tournament reached its climax yesterday with six teams deadlocked in an assorted combination of ties for the five trophies. The play-off will be held on Saturday.

After a re-check, it was discovered that Dr. B. W. Wright and Dr. J. N. Nichols, who were reported to be in the lead on Saturday with a thirty-six - hole total of 130, had erred in scoring, their correct total being 66-66-132. The medicos tied for first place with R. Young and George Tremblay, with 64-68-132. These two teams will play off for first and second prizes.

Four teams tied for the remaining three trophies with scores of 133. They are Henry Kirby and E. R. Hurst, 64-69-133; J. T. Durkee and G. D. McDonald, 64-69-133; Frank Dodge and E. R. Austin, 65-68-133, and Harry Borde and Bill Jelliffe, 71-62-133.

Borde and Jelliffe furnished the sensation of the tournament with their low net ball of 62 after apparently being out of the running with a first-round score of 71.

Brentwood enjoyed a fine entry with 200 in the tournament.

Mixed foursomes held yesterday afternoon resulted in victories for Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Basto, 88-31-57, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Swan, 94-34-70.

Cut Shot Good in Long Grass

BY SOL METZGER

There is one other wee shot that the sound golfer must know how to play when near the green. It's the cut. It used to be in the bag of every star in the old days when the "gutty" ball was standard. It will come back again, as one of the pet shots of the masters, when the lighter ball comes into use next year.

It's played, according to that sound authority, Ab Mitchell, when your ball lies in long grass somewhere near the green, or when it beds itself down at the foot of the slope of a bunker, the bunker being between the player and the green.

You pretty nearly have to know it to extricate a ball from long grass. Your pitch won't work here, nor your chip, nor pitch-and-run. Long grass has a habit of tying itself around the head of your club and shaft when an ordinary pitch is played in such a way that it usually causes a player to waste a stroke.

A new illustrated leaflet on "Correct Grip for Driving," has been prepared by Sol Metzger. Write for it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

fourth, but Hollywood tied the score again in the sixth. Hank Hulvey hit a home run and the other run was scored on singles by Brannon, Green and Carlyle. Turpin was lifted after Green got his hit and Davis went to work. Wingo made a fine throw to the plate after fielding Carlyle's hit, but Pensbsky failed to handle the ball.

The Seals won the ball game in the eighth, scoring three runs after two were out. Caveney doubled. Zinn batted for Pensbsky and drew an intentional pass. Davis beat out an infield hit to fill the bases. Crosetti drove in two runs with a single to center and Davis scored on Baker's single.

In the ninth Green drew a pass and Carlyle was safe on Crosetti's error. Rumler singled to left to spare Green, but was thrown out at second trying to stretch the hit. Crosetti made a great pick-up of Marlow's grounder, but his throw was a bit wide and Sheely dropped the ball. Rumler grounded to Sheely and a double play ended the game, Sheely to Crosetti to Davis.

Six double plays, three by each team in the afternoon, helped to make the game a snappy one.

SEALS IN RALLY

For the fourth time in three days the Seals came from behind and beat Hollywood in the ninth inning. The score was 4 to 3, and the victory gave the Seals the long end of the series.

The score was 3 to 3, when the Seals went to bat in the ninth. Baker opened with a hit. Donovan bunted and Baker beat Green's throw to second. Wingo sent a fly to center and Baker moved to third. Sheely was walked on purpose to fill the bases. Coleman struck out, but Reliable Jimmy Caveney blasted a single to left to send in Baker with the winning run.

Gazella batted Marlow home in the second inning, and Green and Severoid hit home runs in the fifth. The scores:

Among the juniors Joe Andrade of Calexico seems to stand head and shoulders above the others. He scored 640 points to win the Imperial county title and there doesn't seem to be anybody capable of pressing him at this writing. His nearest competitor is T. Okura of Banning Playground in San Pedro, the boy who won the Los Angeles county championship with 613 points.

Andrade's marks are all uniformly good. He is particularly strong in the baseball throw, where he did 241ft., which exceeds the national record by several feet. Joe is also a fine broad jumper, having cleared 8ft. 3in., which is a mark most seniors would be proud of. His chins twenty-two times and runs the dash in 9 1-5s. His total of baskets in the Imperial county finals was eleven.

From a glance at these marks it will be seen that Andrade has an excellent chance of making an even higher score Saturday. Performances don't change much in the baseball throw, chinning and broad jump. It's the basketball toss that gets 'em and Joe did only 11 in the Imperial finals, yet scored 640 points. Which means that he is likely to knock his opponents plumb silly if he gets off to a good start in the basketball event.

Saturday's meet proved again the immense value of the Junior Olympic Games to boys who take the program seriously. Crane, senior winner with 631½ points, was way down the list with 482. Paul Lee, second to Crane with 603, scored 501 last year but did this as a junior. His improvement is one of the bright spots of the 1930 program in Southern California.

Ellwood McKenzie, tenth among the seniors with 347, scored 454 points last year. It will be noted that there is an improvement of approximately 100 points with most of the youngsters.

The same situation exists among the juniors. Clifford Byers, third Saturday with 559, scored 445 last year. Jimmy Montgomery, fifth with 549, had 437 in 1929. Robert Nichols of Claremont, tenth Saturday with 531, scored only 347 points last year.

There were enough surprises in Saturday's meet to prove to all concerned that everybody has a chance in the finals this week-end. Ord Shoults was considered a lead-pipe cinch to win the senior crown but five boys passed him up in the fight for top honors. Something of the same sort may happen to Haley Saturday, although his coach, Joe Colley, avers that the San Bernardino boy is getting better steadily and that it will take 675 points to beat him in the big finals of the year.

In the junior singles, Bobbitt won four straight games in the first set, after dropping the first game. Steiner eventually broke through Bobbitt's serve to even the score at 5-all. They traded serves to make it 6-all, and Bobbitt then won the next two games to take the set.

Steiner got away to a good start in the second set, winning the first three games, and took a love game on Bobbitt's serve, to win the set, and even the count. In the third set, with Steiner serving, and leading 40-15, Bobbitt rallied to win four straight points, and the game. He took his own serve, and broke through Steiner twice more to win the set and the match.

Miss Marlowe was far below her best form, while Miss Workman was playing the best tennis she has shown this year. Miss Marlowe kept her opponent at the baseline during the first set, forcing her into numerous errors, and won 6-3. In the second set, Miss Workman easily dominated the play, winning at love. In the third set, Miss Workman won the first two games, to make it eight straight, but then lost her control, and Miss Marlowe took a 4-2 lead. By this time Miss Workman had settled down, and won the next four games, and the title.

Miss Workman made it two championships in three years by her victory. She had taken the crown in 1928, but lost it last year to Caroline Babcock. In the doubles, she played well at the net, teamed with Marion Wood, and easily defeated Helen and Mercedes Marlowe, 6-1, 6-1.

Gorham and Millman showed the effects of their three hard doubles matches of Saturday, when they lost to Steiner and Doeg, 7-5, 6-1, the latter team playing steady tennis.

Mako defeated Ware handily to take the 15-and-under title. He has another year in this division. May Doeg evened up for her defeat at Ojai when she defeated her cousin, Dorothy Bundy, in the girls' division. June Holmes won impressively from Francis Lambert. Bobby Underwood found Bobby Riggs unexpectedly strong opposition, but won in a long-drawn battle.

All There is to Win

HARRY VARDON won the open championships of the United States and Great Britain. Harold Hilton won the open and amateur championships of Great Britain and the amateur championship of the United States. Walter Hagen won the open championships of the United States and Great Britain and P.G.A. championship of the United States. Chick Evans, Jerry Travers and Francis Ouimet won the open and amateur championships of the United States.

But Bobby Jones today is the only golfer who ever won the open and amateur championships of both Great Britain and the United States—the four national titles which happen to be the last words in match and medal play golf. There are now no more golfing worlds for him to conquer.

At the age of 28 he has won ten national titles against the best amateurs and the best professionals in his game and he still has three more national titles to shoot at this year—the British open at Hoylake later on in June, the United States open at Interlachen in July and the United States amateur at Merion in September.

Bobby has already broken one record by winning all four major titles. Now he has a chance to break another by winning three of the four major titles in one year, something no one else has ever done.

Jones had his share of trouble at St. Andrews last week. He had three nerve-smashing calls against Cyril Tolley, Jimmy Johnston and George Voigt. But the main answer is that he came through, even though he lost some of the skin off his teeth in making the grade.

The killing strain of two eighteen-hole matches a day showed in his play. Everyone knew he was the best golfer in the field but he had to prove it under conditions that he dislikes—the sprint against the all-day route. And he had to prove it under treacherous golfing conditions that are often more a test of nerves than of golf ability. He told me the day he left that if he could win at St. Andrews he would be satisfied.

But knowing Bobby Jones, I know he won't be satisfied as long as there are three more tournaments and another record left. It will now be doubly interesting to see how he finishes the remainder of the season—at Hoylake with Horton Smith

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Philadelphia gained the American League leadership today by taking the fourth straight from Washington, 9 to 6, and breaking the first-place tie. Grove relieving Quinn in the ninth, struck out Jack Hayes, pinch hitter, with the bases filled in the ninth to end a heavy hitting contest which kept the capacity crowd in its seats until the last man was out.

Home run by Williams, rookie outfielder, with two men on in the fifth inning, was the victory margin for the league champions, who started playing with a makeshift infield. It was the first defeat for Washington for Sam Jones, who had won five for six Washington wins. Three men up in the sixth inning after his run had tied the score in the fifth. Score:

Darwin Lauds Bobby's Victory

ENGLISH SCRIBE WELL SATISFIED

Jones Invulnerable Against British Star

Weather, Course Perfect for Championship

Criticisms Unjustified Says Noted Writer

BY BERNARD DARWIN
British Golf Expert

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

ST. ANDREWS (Scotland) June 1. — In summarising my impressions of the contest for the British amateur golf championship that has just been finished, I will not say very much more about the incomparable Bobby Jones. Up to the final match, he was just a magnificent golfer with little of our common frailty about him. In the final, he was supreme — invulnerable.

BOBBY JONES

Bobby had the turn of the luck with him in his match against Cyril Tolley, as the greatest golfers must have sometimes, if they are to win through. He was badly shaken by Harrison Johnston and George Voigt unquestionably let him out. In the eighteen-hole matches there were just a few signs of the heel of Achilles in Bobby's playing. But in the thirty-six-hole final, when he found himself with—so to speak—more room to maneuver in, he gave the most perfect exhibition of golf I have ever seen and I don't think any human being could have stood up against it.

Now as to the championship in general.

We have had the right winner, we have had lovely weather, and we have had St. Andrews in one of its difficult moods—one of those moods which make it the most interesting course in the world on which to watch or play golf.

COURSE PRAISED

I am told that certain American correspondents have criticised the course as not being of championship caliber. I dare say they have, but for myself I much prefer the opinions of Bobby Jones and George Voigt. Bobby always has said and he said again this time that St. Andrews is unique and for him the best course in the world. George Voigt has said the more rounds he plays at St. Andrews the more he realises what a magnificent course it is.

Those expressions are good enough for me.

It is easy to understand, that some one coming fresh to St. Andrews from courses, which however good are laid out on more or less cut-and-dried principles, may think he sees those principles being violated right and left and condemn the course accordingly. If such a man stayed longer and played more, I think he would change his tune. It seems to me that a man needs a touch of imagination—almost of poetry—to appreciate St. Andrews.

Other courses may require stricter examination to produce faultless accuracy, but St. Andrews makes golf something better than strict examination—namely, a great adventure. This course can hardly be played by copy-book maxims. The player must be able to improvise strokes, meet new occasions and alter tactics and routes as the wind shifts and the ground grows harder or softer.

CRITICISM UNJUSTIFIED

In speaking of this course, Jones said that he grew tired of other courses because after a few rounds he knew all about them, but that here there is always something new to learn. That is St. Andrews's supreme charm. It is a course where a man may think he has played a very good shot only to find his ball in a very bad place. If he cannot bear some hard knocks and if he has not enough imagination to appreciate that quality in a golf course or in a game, he will never like St. Andrews—and there's the end of that.

I believe another criticism has been against the management of the crowds by the marshals, or, as we call them, stewards. I am told they are guilty of "smugness," and against that I, of course, will not defend them, for I do not exactly know what it means and I have a suspicion that I may be smug myself. I do say, however, that the stewards were not incompetent and did the best they could with a situation that was once or twice appallingly difficult.

Frankly, St. Andrews is not a good course for a championship match as far as the spectators are concerned. There are too many of them, because gate money cannot be charged in a public place. That is one point, but the real difficulty is in the conformation of the ground. The links are on a narrow strip of turf running straight out and home, with one bend at the end, rather like the letter "J."

Once upon a time there were but nine holes and the outgoing and incoming couples played the same actual hole. When that became impossible each green was made, roughly speaking, into one big, double green with two holes on it, but the width of the playing space remained unaltered and each of two armies—one going out and the other coming home—practically played in each other's face.

THANKLESS JOB

So, naturally, a big crowd of spectators, however shepherded, has a tendency (v) spread across the course and nothing but a regiment with fixed bayonets could stop it. This condition, I admit, does make for confusion and delay. For a match that draws a small crowd it is all very well. Their progress is slow but it is sure and the two protagonists are nursed and saved as far as possible by their escort.

But for all other matches these conditions are hard and the state of things unsatisfactory. The day may well come, though I hope not, when the difficulties will be so great that a championship cannot be held here. If it must come, it must, but meanwhile I think the stewards worked like Trojans and did their thankless job as well as could be done.

I also think that the St. Andrews crowd is sporting and good tempered and knows the game, and that no other crowd would give less trouble. Their only fault is that there are too many of them and for that I know no remedy.

FOUL TIPS

As a result of splitting even yesterday, the Angels dropped back to third place, the Seals pasting them by twice defeating Hollywood. The Seraphs are now three games behind Sacramento's pace-setting Senators.

The Seraphs made Fred Hofmann look bad in the Mission ranks by batting him out of the box in the fifth inning. Stats, Haney, each pilfered two bases, while Schulmerich stole one. On the other hand, Traffic Manager Lewis's three tests attempting to steal second.

Haney now has twenty-two stolen bases to his credit and is far and away the leader in this field.

Harry Rosenberg, the young Mission outfielder, made two spectacular catches in the first game and with times robbed Haney of extra base hits. Marion also robbed Mason of another hit in the fourth inning of the second game, when he leaped high to pull down a line drive.

Ike Boone batted at about a .480 clip against Angel pitchers during the past series and it looked like bad judgment delaying until the final game to "beam" him.

Chadbourne's putrid decision on second base yesterday recalls the fact that there is still a very good umpire named Buck Powell going to waste in these parts. There are several worse umpired than Chadbourne in Harry Williams's circuit, however.

Johnny Moore raised his average against Allington pitching by getting fifteen hits in thirty-two times at bat for a .540 mark. Moore's hits included four home runs.

There was a bit of excitement in the stands during the eighth inning of the opener when Ted Lewis escorted two of America's drunken defenders from the navy out of the stands.

Moore and Dittmar hit successive home runs in Saturday's game and yesterday Stiles and Moore repeated the stunt in the opener.

Speaking of home runs, Walter Berger, the ex-Angel slugger, is doing right well with the Boston Braves. He rammed out his thirteenth and fourteenth homers against the Giants yesterday and it looks as though the Cubs made a mistake in letting him get away from them.

Hollywood and Los Angeles will provide the excitement here this week, the Civil War rivals opening an eight-game series tomorrow.

COLLIER WINS ATHENS RACE

ATHENS (Greece) June 1. (AP)—John S. Collier, former Brown track star, won the 100-meter hurdles and placed second in the 4400 meters flat race in the Panathenian games here today. Henry S. Cumming of the Newark A.C. was beaten in the 100 meters dash.

clouts apiece. Poor old Ike Boone and Harry Rosenberg could only get one homer each in the twin bill.

Boone, however, was the unwilling provider of another highlight in the fifth inning of the nightcap when his head failed to get out of the way of one of Bill Peters's southpaw shoots. Boone went down, but not out, although he was forced to leave the game and let Kelly run for him. His injury was not serious.

Peters, who pitched and won Tuesday's game, pitched an inning Friday and was in the bull pen Saturday, saw action in both games. The lone Seraph southpaw was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning of the opener when the Reds tied the score and then was sent in to replace Art Delaney in the fifth round of the nightcap. He was lifted in the seventh after Monroe hit him for a homer and Ed Baecht finally ended the game. I don't know whether Lelivelt expects Peters to thrive on such poor handling, but I know a lot of pretty smart baseball people who don't. We still claim that Peters would win quite a few games for the Angels if he were given a fair chance by the manager.

SCORE ON TWO HOMERS

The first game opened with the Angels jumping off to a four-run lead. Successive homers by Sigafoos and Moore produced two runs in the first, while Moore's double with two on produced another pair of Cherub counters in the second.

Peters started weakening in the third when singles by Hofmann and Nelson, Mulligan's triple and an infield out scored three Mission runs. Los Angeles counted in its half of the third on Haney's single and Stats's triple that almost cleared the left-field wall.

With one away in the sixth Peters hit Boone to start a Mission rally that tied the score. Burns and Rodda singled and then Hofmann doubled for a pair of runs. Holling here replaced Peters and checked the rally.

Rosenberg's single, walks and an infield out gave the Reds a run and the lead in the seventh, while Monroe's homer in the eighth and Boone's circuit clout in the ninth completed the Mission scoring.

TWO MORE HOME RUNS

Moore began the Angel ninth with his second home run and Schulmerich followed with another homer off Nelson after Dittmar had been retired. Jacobs went out but Haney singled and stole second. Then Stats hit to Mulligan, who elected to trap Haney between third and second instead of making the throw to first. Mulligan bluffed Haney back toward second until Fred finally dived into the bag ahead of the Mission third-baseman's reach to tag him. Chadbourne, however, called Haney out and then the excitement previously described took place.

The Angels also got off in front in the nightcap, Bert Cole being bumped for three runs before he was replaced by Caster. Cole started trouble for himself when, after fielding Stats's roller, he dropped the ball after tagging Jigger. Dittmar scored Stats with a double and Schulmerich followed with a home run. When Jacobs doubled Caster came in and retired the side.

Delaney started wobbling in the fourth and the Reds nicked him for two runs on Monroe's double and Rosenberg's home run. Hufft and Burns also got hits in this inning but a double-play snuffed out the rally.

SIGGY CINCHES GAME

In the Angel half of the fourth Sigafoos cinched the game for the home forces by hitting one of Caster's offerings into the center-field stands after Moore and Skiff had singled.

Delaney was chased in the fifth when singles by Brensel, Monroe, Rosenberg and Hufft produced two runs. With men on first and second Peters came on the mound and hit Boone in the head to fill the bases, but he disposed of Burns to leave the Angels still in front, 6-4.

Peters retired the Reds scorelessly in the sixth but when Monroe greeted him for a homer in the seventh Lelivelt lifted him and sent in Baecht, who mowed down Rosenberg, Hufft and Kelly to end the game. Score:

BOBBY JONES MAY PLAY IN FOURSOME

TROEH CAPTURES SHOOT

TACOMA (Wash.) May 31. (AP)—Frank M. Troeh of Portland, Or., demonstrated that he was the best shot on the grounds today when he won the Northwest Handicap, feature event of the Washington State trapshooting tournament with 97 breaks out of 100 from the twenty-five-yard marker and in decidedly adverse weather. Troeh went straight on his first three strings of twenty-five each, dropping three on the final.

PLANS TO SHIFT SHIP DISCLOSED

Arrow Line Freighter to Go Into Hawaiian Service

Change Decided as Result of Lassco Vessel Blaze

Slow Intercoast Trade Pace Expected to Continue

BY WALDO DRAKE

Transfer of the Arrow line Lassco intercoastal freighter Marion Otis Chandler to Hawaiian service during rebuilding of the fire-damaged liner City of Honolulu was announced yesterday by Ralph J. Chandler, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company. The Marian Otis Chandler, due here tomorrow morning from Savannah and way ports, will go to San Francisco to complete discharge of her North Atlantic cargo and then return to this port to load out for Honolulu, departing the 14th inst.

She will thereafter maintain the City of Honolulu's departure schedule from both terminal ports until the liner is returned to service in the early autumn, said Mr. Chandler, so that the augmented Lassco Hawaiian schedule will be unbroken in frequency. Thus there will be four departures for Honolulu this month and five each during July and August, the steamers City of Los Angeles, Calawaii and Diamond Head sailing on regular departure dates.

Mr. Chandler said it is expected that a complete condition report on the City of Honolulu will be forwarded Lassco headquarters late today from Capt. Leb Curtis, marine surveyor of the firm of Pillsbury and Curtis, who arrives in Honolulu this morning aboard the steamer President Hayes. The ship still is lying at her pier with her after section flooded.

Fabrication of materials for reconditioning the City of Honolulu is expected to be greatly expedited under a plan worked out by Lassco executives and Walter Martignoni, naval architect with Pillsbury and Curtis. Mr. Martignoni is en route to Honolulu aboard the City of Los Angeles. He will make necessary measurements for replacements aboard the damaged vessel and then forward resultant plans to this port so that all material may be constructed here and ready for immediate installation on arrival of the City of Honolulu about July 1, next.

SCANT HOPE HELD FOR IMPROVEMENT

Indications point to the rock-bottom situation in the intercoastal general cargo, oil and lumber trades continuing until autumn, according to the regular monthly Pacific market report of the General Steamship Corporation, just released by Capt. Harry Birkholm, district manager.

Activity in the intercoastal tanker chartering market during May was confined to four gasoline vessels at the following low rates: Betterton, for May loading at 95 cents; Pacific Sun, June loading, $1.12; Thomas J. Wheeler, June, $1.15, and the W. H. Libby, June, $1.17. All were booked for north of Hatteras delivery. Foreign bookings were limited to three British ships; the British Star, to carry a cargo of fuel oil from this port to Wellington, N. Z., at 31s, and the Oil Reliance and an unnamed tanker to carry gasoline from Los Angeles Harbor to the United Kingdom-Continent range, at 42s and 44s.

Lieutenant Commander Eugene Walter and Lieutenant Commander A. W. Ashbrook, returning to duty at the local base after two years' service with the Asiatic fleet, were among the passengers arriving from the Orient yesterday aboard the Dollar liner President Madison. Others disembarking included Gerard De Brossia and Mrs. De Brossia, French tourists on a globe cruise; M. O. Clark, Standard Oil official in Hongkong, returning to his home in Michigan with Mrs. Clark, and S. W. Haas, American civil engineer, returning from duty in the Belgian Congo for a vacation.

W. J. Love, assistant manager for North America for Furness, Withy & Co. at New York, is due here next Sunday for a survey of the local Furness terminals and a survey of Southern California shipping conditions. He will spend the present week in San Francisco.

Panama-Mail's intercoastal liner Ecuador, will sail tonight for New York via Central American ports with 125 passengers and 3000 tons of California freight. Among her passengers will be Walter Chase Merritt, prominent California mural artist, who with Mrs. Merritt, is en route on a sketching tour through Mexico.

Pearnley & Eger's new Norwegian motorliner Fernglen, in yesterday morning from Manila to discharge nine cabin passengers and load bunkers and stores, continued to New York last night with a 7000-ton load of Philippine sugar. This morning her sister ship, the Fernbank, in tramp service, is due from the north to load out 45,000 cases of gasoline and kerosene for Freemantle, Australia. Handled here by Capt. A. R. Paulsen, the Fernbank will sail Wednesday.

On her first visit since her disastrous fire while unloading at Manchester last July, the Furness-Pacific motorship Pacific Trader was brought in early yesterday by Capt. John McCracken from the United Kingdom and Canal ports. In addition to passengers and general, she brought 20,367 stems of bananas from the Canal for local discharge.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan of the Apes in all his savage life had never been accustomed to pause in argument with an antagonist. Nor did he now waste time in an effort to convince the raiders that he was not a wolf in sheep's clothing. Instead, he had the unmasker by the throat ere the man's words were cold, and hurling him from side to side cleared away those who would have swarmed upon him. Using the Arab as a weapon, Tarzan forced his way quickly to the doorway, and a moment later was within the hut.

A hasty examination revealed the fact that it was empty, and his sense of smell discovered, too, the spoor of Taglat, the ape. Tarzan uttered a low, ominous growl. Those who were pressing forward at the doorway to seize him fell back as the savage notes of the bestial challenge smote upon their ears. They looked at one another in surprise and consternation. A man had entered the hut alone, and yet with their own ears they had heard the voice of a wild beast within. What could it mean?

Had a lion or a leopard sought sanctuary in the interior, unknown to the sentries? Tarzan's quick eyes discovered the opening in the roof, through which Taglat had fallen. He guessed that the ape had either come or gone by way of its break, and, while the Arabs hesitated whether to be sprung, catlike, for the opening, grasped the top of the wall and clambered out upon the roof, dropping instantly to the ground at the rear of the hut.

When the Arabs finally mustered courage to enter the hut, after firing several volleys through the walls, they found the interior deserted. At the same time Tarzan, at the far end of the village, sought for Chulk, but that ape was nowhere to be found. Robbed of his "ape," deserted by his companions, and as much in ignorance as ever as to the whereabouts of his pouch and pebbles, it was an angry Tarzan who climbed the palisade and vanished into the darkness of the jungle.

LEASE ASSURES TEST OF THEORY

Deal for Tract in Elwood Area Announced

Extension Beyond Present Limits Expected

May Prove East-West Fault Belief Correct

A test for a possible extension of the western end of the Elwood coastal field, a mile and a quarter beyond present production, to substantiate the belief of some geologists in an east and west fault without an anticline, is assured with the closing of a lease by Rollo Ellis, Los Angeles and San Francisco leaser, for 420 acres of Herbert G. Wylie's Dos Pueblos rancho including the townsite of Naples.

About $10,000 in cash and $80,000 in future oil were included in the deal, according to reliable reports. James H. Cochran of Long Beach is to put down the test well on Block 32, in the townsite of Naples, a mile and a quarter due west of the two Blue Goose wells of Mrs. Caroline C. Spalding on a State tideland permit.

The location for the new test is across the Espee tracks from where the Padre Oil Company put down a well beyond 3000 feet without getting showings. The location is farther west and more to the south than the dry hole put down by the Elmer Oil Company. Both wells, Mr. Ellis believes, were put down on the north side of the supposed fault.

The Signal Oil and Gas Company is putting down a tideland test hole between the Blue Goose wells and the location for the Ellis well.

HUASTECA OIL SEEKS CONCESSION

Pan-American Subsidiary to Spend $10,000,000 on Mexico Project

MONTERREY (Mex.) June 1. (Exclusive)—If confirmatory concessions on its lands in the north fields of the Tampico region are granted by the Mexican government to the Huasteca Petroleum Company, subsidiary of the Pan-American Petroleum Company, it will spend $10,000,000 United States money in development operations upon the property, according to official announcement of L. L. Anderson, general manager of the company.

All necessary preliminary preparations for beginning an extensive drilling campaign have been made and the work will be started as soon as favorable action is taken by the government upon the pending applications. It is expected that the confirmatory concessions will be obtained within the next few weeks.

Resumption of oil activities by the Huasteca Petroleum Company will do much to relieve the unemployment situation in the Tampico district, and this is one of the factors that the government has in view in taking early action on applications for confirmatory concessions.

Work on Mill at Silver Bell Being Pushed

FLORENCE (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Work is being prosecuted on a seventy-five-ton flotation mill for the Silver Bell property of the Glenidick Mines Corporation, managed by Homer Derrer. According to Glenville A. Collins of Los Angeles, one of the directorate, shipments of carbonate ores from the Silver Bell's 500 level are expected to average $40 a ton, with a large supply available.

Sixteen miles east of this point is the Half Moon property, owned by local and California interests and under option to Norman L. Brown. Machinery is being installed for deepening a ninety-foot shaft, in which is reported to have been opened a vein that runs 20 per cent copper, with some gold and silver.

ELK HILLS FUND UNTOUCHED

Navy Engineer Says $10,000,000 Appropriation May Not Be Needed for Several Years

BAKERSFIELD, June 1. (Exclusive)—The $10,000,000 appropriation made May 13 last by the House of Representatives in Washington for the purpose of protecting drilling operations in the Naval Reserve Elk Hills district of Kern county probably will not be employed for several years, C. M. Nickerson, petroleum engineer for the Navy Department in charge of Elk Hills oil operations, said here today.

The measure, according to Mr. Nickerson, was passed to enable the Secretary of the Navy to carry out provisions contained in the act approved June 4, 1920, (U.S.C. Title 34, Section 524,) requiring the Secretary to conserve, develop, use and operate the naval petroleum reserves, $175,000, of which $100,000 shall be available exclusively toward repairs to shut-in and other United States navy wells, Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 1 in the Elk Hills district, provided:

PROTECTION SOUGHT

That out of any sums appropriated for naval purposes by this act any portion thereof, not to exceed $10,000,000, shall be available to enable the Secretary to protect Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 1, established by executive order of September 2, 1912, pursuant to the act of June, 1910 (U.S.C. Title 43, Sections 141-143,) by drilling wells and performing any work incident thereto, that is, drilling offset wells on the United States navy property to protect it from drainage by wells which may be drilled in the future on privately owned off-setting sections.

All privately owned sections in Reserve No. 1, Elk Hills oil field, which may drain the United States navy property are owned by Standard Oil Company. Present privately owned wells are offset by naval leases to the Beldridge and the Pan-American, and by navy wells.

The Navy's property in Reserve No. 1, in addition to present naval leases, consists of 31,000 acres, or forty-eight square miles, containing twenty-one oil wells, now shut in, and two dry gas wells. Any privately owned wells offsetting the navy wells likewise are shut in.

Reserve No. 1 guarantees a supply of crude oil, which can be converted into fuel oil, lubricants and gasoline, to the fleet in time of shortage of petroleum in the United States. It will not be drilled until the time arrives when oil cannot be purchased in the open market at a reasonable price for use of the fleet in times of national emergency, or war.

ANOTHER PROVISION

Another provision, according to the Navy's representative, is that no part of the sum made available for the protection of this property shall be expended if a satisfactory agreement can be made with adjoining landowners to postpone drilling of offset wells for the purpose of producing oil.

The navy appropriation, for reserve fuel oil, provides for the procurement and transportation of petroleum products, to be placed in storage tanks up to the unobligated balances of the appropriations for fuel and transportation.

The Elk Hills naval reserve is one of the greatest petroleum depositories in the world, well-posted geologists agree. It is held by the United States Navy as a safeguard for fuel for its fleets and accessories during time of war, when it is impossible to obtain such fuel elsewhere. Under the provisions of the law enacted, it practically is a perpetual fuel supply reserve.

SMELTER REOPENING FORECAST

Southwest Metals May Start Humboldt Plant Within Next Year

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—That the Southwest Metals Company will reopen its Humboldt smelter before the end of the current calendar year is predicted by the corporation's president, H. R. Lathrop, here from New York.

He came for the annual meeting of the Sheldon Mining Company, which controls the smelter, and which is continuing operation of its mining property at Walker, on upper Lynx Creek. The Sheldon directorate was re-elected, with inclusion of Mr. Lathrop, C. A. Hastings, A. V. Duncan and E. O. Jadwin of New York, J. H. Cross and Victor Mauk of Philadelphia and M. D. Lathrop of Carbondale, Pa.

A score of Los Angeles stockholders recently were taken over the property of the Hammon Copper Company, on which a large leaching plant is to be constructed this year.

A new road is being built to the Grand Leader mine in the Venezia section, on which to bring in machinery for a new flotation mill. The Venezia mill, owned by Ed Tomlinson, is to be operated at an early date, according to local announcement.

Baker & Riney, operating the Yankee Girl group, seven miles from Prescott, report cutting an eight-inch vein that samples $300 in gold.

Returns of $60 a ton have been received from a carload of ore shipped to Douglas from the Lucky Strike mine. New machinery is being purchased in Los Angeles by Supt. Floyd R. Marsh.

INTERESTING OIL PROJECT PROJECTED

Texas Group in Move to Deepen 8900-Foot Hole Recently Abandoned

BIG LAKE (Tex.) June 1. (Exclusive)—An effort is being made by the West Texas Geological Society, of which Edg S. Kraus is chairman, to enlist the financial support of major oil companies operating in the fields of West Texas, for deepening the 8900-foot hole in Irion county.

P. H. Williams, who drilled the well upon his ranch, abandoned it a few weeks ago after striking salt water. An examination of the hole, which is the deepest ever drilled with cable tools, shows that the salt water can be shut out and that the deepening process probably can be carried on without difficulty.

Geologists are deeply interested in a study of the formations at lower depth, and oil operators would profit by the results of this study, it is stated. Cable tools will continue to be used if it is decided to drill the well deeper. Contributions for the proposed work have been asked from twenty-three oil companies, and it is expected that the money will be forthcoming.

Rival to Deep Texas Project Held Looming

BIG LAKE (Tex.) June 1. (Exclusive)—With an average daily production of 1500 barrels of oil and 32,000,000 cubic feet of gas, the second deep well of the Texon Oil and Land Company (Continental Oil Company) in the Big Lake field promises to make as notable a record as its predecessor, which has been producing steadily since December 1, 1926.

This second well of the company has a depth of 8489 feet, while the depth of the initial well is 8525 feet. The company has a third well in the same field which is drilling at a little more than 8216 feet. The Signal Gasoline Company of Texas has a contract for the natural gasoline from the new well.

Richfield Oil Planning Deep Belridge Test

BELRIDGE, June 1. (Exclusive) The Richfield Oil Company will drill a deep-test well in this district on Sec. 22, 27-20, about two miles south of the Belridge Oil Company's No. 15 well. Location for the well is 963 feet north and 200 feet east from the southwest corner of the section. On Sec. 26, 27-20, Belridge is held up in its deepening work while a fishing job is trying to extricate a line from its No. 15.

This well, doing about thirty-five barrels of high gravity oil and more than 4,000,000 cubic feet of wet gas daily from 8088 feet, was killed and preparations were made to drill ahead, when the fishing job developed.

ODD SITUATION AT KETTLEMAN

Continental's Hands Tied by Curtailment Pact

Drilling of Federal Permit Also Prohibited

Four Neighbors Operating on Fee Properties

A situation exists on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills field which is rather odd, in that it has the hands of one company at least temporarily tied, while four other companies are offsetting the property, two of them with wells on production.

Because it signed the north dome agreement, and is working a government permit, Continental is restrained from drilling on its Sec. 2, 21-17. Its permit stretched for a mile on the northerly line. Just opposite that line Standard has a half-section of fee land, the Felix Oil Company has a quarter-section of fee land, the Associated has a quarter-section and the Shell company has an angular piece of fee land.

Three wells are offsetting Continental on Sec. 35 and one on Sec. 26. The Petroleum Securities Felix No. 1 on the Felix fee stuff is producing, and so is Standard's No. 35. Associated is drilling in Whipley No. 1 and Shell is drilling in Dixon No. 1.

According to reports, Continental may succeed in obtaining permission to start drilling a well on its permit, but in order to do so it will first have to obtain the written consent of all its neighboring operators and then get Secretary of the Interior Wilbur to agree to the conditions.

REVIVAL OF LUCKY CUSS MINE PENDS

Compressor Installed for Drifting Under Old Ore Body on Property

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—An interesting development is being carried on by the Vaughn, Macia and Palmer Leasing Company, which has installed a compressor for drifting under the old ore body of the pioneer Lucky Cuss mine, one of the camp's most famous producers. This work is being done from the old Bob Ingersoll shaft.

Ten miles east of Tombstone is the Velma group, under bond to Thomas Hamilton of Los Angeles, with Ted Kelso in charge. A tunnel, now more than 300 feet long, is being driven to cut an eighty-foot dyke in which channeling near the surface is reported to have given an average sample of $4 a ton in gold. The ledge crops for 3000 feet of length.

Next to the Luella property, according to E. P. A. Larrieu, has been cut a large body of ore carrying good values in molybdenum, vanadium and lead.

A group of claims in the Charleston section is to be worked by the Gallegher Vanadium and Rare Metals Company of San Antonio, Tex., with remilling of the dumps of former workings and of several mill dumps. It is declared that modern concentration methods will secure profit from material that was without value in the past.

Oil Land Sale in Hobbs District Keeps Mounting

ARTESIA (N. M.) June 1. (Exclusive)—A new acreage sale in the Hobbs district has brought the recent total amount of cash in three leases up to $105,000, in addition to an oil right. The last sale an eighty-acre lease on Sec. 24, 19-37, owned by Arthur Soramberg of New York, sold to the Amerada Petroleum Company, and the Shell Oil Company for $1000 per acre, carrying a $200 per acre oil right.

Just previous to this sale an eighty-acre lease on Sec. 13, 18-37, sold for $80,000 and a forty-acre lease on the adjoining Sec. 14, 18-37 sold for $35,000.

A number of smaller sales have been made in this area. The three largest ones are believed to be a forerunner of several others to follow.

MINE WAGE CUT IN FULL EFFECT

Reduction General in All Arizona Camps

Slash Applies to 2000 Men of Bisbee Area

Number at Miami and Globe Set at 3000

PHOENIX, June 1. (Exclusive)—A general reduction of wages has gone into effect in all copper-mining camps of Arizona. At Bisbee there has been a reduction of 10 per cent, affecting about 2000 men in the district and bringing the wage scale down to $4.95 a day, muckers getting 50 cents less. It is understood that this is the last reduction possible under an agreement in effect for about ten years past. At Miami and Globe was the same cut, affecting 3000 men. Something of relief was afforded by the fact that the Inspiration Consolidated Copper Company is starting a six-day week, instead of the five-day schedule known heretofore.

W. Val DeCamp, general manager of the United Verde Copper Company at Jerome, states that his company does not contemplate any further curtailment of force, and that operations will be continued upon the basis of 5,000,000 pounds a month.

A relative cut in wages has been known in the porphyry camps such as Morenci and Ray. These camps operate on a different pay schedule than at Miami and Bisbee, usually on a minimum wage with bonus for extra output.

Frank Ayer, manager of the Morenci branch of the Phelps-Dodge Corporation, states that only a few men in the employ of the Phelps-Dodge will be affected. He considers the situation "not a serious one, and that it should improve within a reasonably short time." He adds that "the companies are in a position now where some of the store of copper which has piled up must be disposed of before production of any great amount must be considered."

STATUS OF MINE DEAL REPORTED

Merger Plans of Phelps-Dodge With Calumet and Arizona Progressing

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—For some time past, engineers of the Calumet and Arizona and Phelps-Dodge corporations have been jointly examining the local property of the two organizations, in pursuance of a tentative plan of consolidation. It now is declared that there is no likelihood of inclusion of the Magma, United Verde or any other of the large copper producers of the Southwest.

Most of the property in the deal is within the local Warren district, and readily can be handled by one administrative unit, while underground production is from a rather concrete area. Within the C. & A. ground is the new Campbell ore body, one of the most remarkable deposits ever found in the Southwest. The same company at Ajo during the past year developed an immense amount of relatively high-grade ore. Phelps-Dodge has other large interests, proposed to be included in the consolidation, with great mines at Morenic, Nacosari and Globe.

The two companies have large and modern reduction plants at Douglas. Last year's combined net income of the corporations was about $17,000,000, with total assets estimated at nearly $271,000,000, and with current liabilities of only $6,877,056. Copper sales last year of the C. & A. amounted to $24,216,000, and of the Phelps-Dodge about $40,000,000. Neither company has any funded debt.

Rich Sand in Fellows Well

FELLOWS, June 1. (Exclusive)—More than 200 feet of oil sand, as rich as ever has been found in that prolific petroleum producing area, has been drilled through by the Republic Petroleum Company, in its Fee No. 7 on Sec. 7, 32-23, in the Midway field near Fellows.

The oil sand was struck above 2900 feet and at present the bit has progressed beyond 3000 feet and still the oil sand is being cored.

HUGE GAS LINE UNDER WAY

Work on 1000-Mile Project from Texas Field to Northern Area Started; Three Others Pending

AMARILLO (Tex.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Construction is in progress on the 1000-mile natural-gas trunk pipe line of the Missouri Valley Gas Company which is to run from the Panhandle fields, near Amarillo, to cities in Iowa, Nebraska and other States. This company, which is a subsidiary of the North American Light and Power Company, will establish its Texas terminal near Skellytown, in Carson county. The pipe line will be twenty-four inch and the first unit of 300 miles will be completed about August 1.

Bids have been called for by the Central States Natural Gas Company for the construction of a twenty-four-inch natural gas pipe line to run from the Panhandle fields to Chicago and intermediate points. These bids will be opened the 10th inst., by E. V. Kessinger of Kansas City, who will have charge of the construction work. Two subsidiaries of this company, the Continental Construction Corporation and the Central States Company, have been organized to take over certain business affairs of the project.

The Central States Natural Gas Company is owned by a number of oil corporations, including the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Cities Service Gas Company, the Phillips Petroleum Company, the Texas Corporation and the Skelly Oil Company. Stock in the company is held by the Martin J. Insull interests of Chicago and the Columbia Carbon Company. It is expected that this trunk pipe line will be completed and placed in operation by September 1, 1931.

The Missouri-Kansas Pine Line Company, which recently awarded contracts for the construction of two units of its proposed natural gas trunk line system to the Oklahoma Contracting Company of Dallas, expects to have the first 162 miles of its combination twenty-four and twenty-two-inch pipe line completed by August 1. This first unit will run from the gas field in Moore county, Texas Panhandle, to Dodge City, Kan. The first 102 miles of this line will be twenty-two-inch welded and coupled pipe and the remaining sixty miles will be twenty-four-inch welded and coupled pipe. This company will soon award the contract for the construction of the second unit, which will run from Dodge City to Paola, Kan. The Conner Construction Company of Kansas City has been awarded the contract to construct another unit of this proposed gigantic system to run from Paola to Boonville, Mo., 102 miles. This section will be of twenty-two-inch welded and coupled pipe.

Another natural-gas pipe line project which will obtain its supply from the Panhandle fields is now being promoted. It is proposed to construct a pipe line from these fields to various towns and mining districts in the States of New Mexico and Arizona. Large oil producing interests are reported to be financing the project.

KERN FIELD OPERATIONS SHOW GAIN

Weekly Report on Area Records Start of Six New Projects

BAKERSFIELD, June 1. (Exclusive)—Drilling activity picked up considerable last week in the oil fields of Kern county and instead of two wells which were spudded in during the previous week, six new holes were begun.

Two new wells were started in the Poso Creek field—one by Pacific-Western Oil Company on Sec. 15, 27-28, and the other by Petroleum Securities Company on Sec. 26, 27-28. Both are listed as No. 5.

The Ohio Oil Company spudded in its No. 35 on Sec. 30, 28-31, in the Belridge field; Shell Oil Company began drilling Jewett No. 12 on Sec. 29, 29-29, at Round Mountain; Standard Oil Company commenced No. 24 on Sec. 15, 26-27, at Kern River field, and Continental Oil Company spudded in Williams No. 1 well on Sec. 6, 29-30, in wildcat territory north of Edison.

Two tests for water shut-off were made in the Poso Creek area, Bruce Frame's Salisbury No. 1 on Sec. 27, 26-28, and General Petroleum Corporation's Glide No. 14 on Sec. 21, 27-28.

Deepening and redrilling jobs for the week were Pan-American Petroleum Company No. 6-E, and No. 2-C on Sec. 1, 31-24, and Sec. 6, 31-25, respectively, in the Elk Hills; Macmarie Petroleum Corporation's No. 2 on Sec. 12, 11-24, and North American Oil Consolidated No. 4 on Sec. 8, 11-23, in the Sunset field; Richfield Oil Company's No. 2 on Sec. 2, 31-22, and Standard Oil Company No. 25, on Sec. 11, 32-24, in the Midway field.

Union Spuds in New Maricopa Flat Project

MARICOPA, June 1. (Exclusive) The Union Oil Company has spudded in its Field No. 2 on Sec. 8, 11-24, at Maricopa Flat and is drilling through hard sand formation at about 500 feet. The well was started May 30.

On Sec. 10, 11-23, Houchin No. 4, the deepest well of all the Maricopa field, continues to drill ahead, with a total depth of 6550 feet, about 1000 feet more hole than when it was rejuvenated some months ago from an idler and put into action by Union. Hard brown shale is being cored at bottom.

Interest Keen in Mines Bill

MIAMI (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Keen interest is being taken by Arizona miners in a bill introduced by Senator Reed Smoot of Utah suspending the annual assessment work requirement for the current fiscal year.

There is declaration that the condition of the mining industry at the present time renders such action advisable. A similar suspension has been known in the past.

UNITED REPUBLIC TO START MILL SOON

P. L. Mullen, president of the United Republic Gold Mining Company, states that the company is fully financed and the mill at the Century Mine at Kingman, Ariz., will be in full operation within a few days. The big power plant which has held up operations for the past six weeks, is being put in working order with all possible speed. The United Republic owns extensive mining properties in Mohave county, Arizona.

WILDCAT PROJECTED AT ANTELOPE PLAINS

DEVIL'S DEN, June 1. (Exclusive) Antelope Plains, near here, is to be the scene of a new oil test. J. A. Kibele has staked a site for his No. 1 well on Sec. 32, 25-17. The derrick will go up 1150 feet south and 840 feet west of the north quarter corner of the section.

CURB ON HOBBS OUTPUT LOOMS

Necessity for Proration Early Date Sighted

More Than Thirty Producers Drilling in Field

Midsummer Production May be 100,000 Barrels

HOBBS (N. M.) June 1. (Exclusive)—With more than thirty wells drilling in the Hobbs area, the field is rapidly approaching where it will be necessary to prorate production, it is the expressed belief of representatives of several of the major companies. It is indicated that the daily production of the field will reach 100,000 barrels by midsummer.

Much significance is attached to obtaining production at 7200 feet by the Fisher-Lowrey Oil Company in wildcat territory twelve miles northwest of Hobbs. The well flowed by heads at that depth before it was set and cemented and drilling has been resumed, with expectation that production will be increased.

Three tank farms, three gasoline refineries, two or three casinghead plants and one or two carbon black plants are among the projects planned or under construction. The Atlantic Pipe Line Company is pushing construction on five steel storage tanks and assembling materials for feeder pipe lines in this area.

The right-of-way from the Atlantic tank farm at Midland to Hobbs has been cleared and pipe-laying crews are organized. Another tank farm has been started by the Mobile Pipe Line Company which will tie into the Hobbs field when it is completed and now is running.

The Midwest Exploration Company has made a location for an oil refinery one mile south of Hobbs, according to reports. Shell Oil Company has made application for a refinery in the Hobbs area on Sec. 19, 19-38, and for its casing-head plant on Sec. 19-38. The plant will cost $1,000,000.

VENTILATION IMPROVED IN MINE GROUP

Long Drift in American and Tom Reed Workings Reported Completed

KINGMAN (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—At Oatman has been connection of a long drift that has been pushed through by both the American and Tom Reed properties. By means of this work important benefit has been secured in air circulation. Now United American is to start its drift eastward from a point in the vein where $30 ore was cut a short time ago.

The big mill of the United Republic Copper Mining Company is about ready for operation, according to Manager Patrick Mullen. Oil flotation is used. Power is provided by a 250-horsepower Diesel.

A four-foot vein carrying free gold in very base material, has been entered from the tunnel level of the Jupiter vein in the Chemehuevis Mountains, owned by Albert Kemp. Mr. Kemp has defrayed expenses for a number of years by operation of a small mill.

OUTLAY ON CINNABAR MINE TO

Quicksilver Corporation of America Puts To $150,000 to Date

PHOENIX, June 1. (Exclusive) According to Manager E. W. Simmen, about $150,000 has been expended on development of the property of the Quicksilver Corporation of America, in the foothills of the Phoenix Mountains, ten miles north of this city. About forty men are employed. Revenue has been secured by operation of a small furnace of special design.

The main working shaft is 500 feet deep, with five levels. A second shaft is to be sunk 1000 feet, at which depth it is to be used in cutting of the whole property. Several copper veins thus will be opened. The area is a very productive one to the geologist, lying below Squaw peak, with cinnabar found in black schist, with white laminations.

Beside the quicksilver which many fissures sampling will show, gold and silver. The formation is a simple matter, as the mines lie only a couple of miles from a county concrete highway system.

Revival of Old Canario Lo

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—The old Canario mine near Nacosari, Sonora, was profitable, through proper the process of leaching is in the opinion expressed by Berky, president of the Cananea Copper Company of Tucson, now controls the Canario.

The company plans to install a 500-horsepower Swiss Diesel electric power plant at Nacosari that was erected to supply power for a silver mine at Ariape. The transmission line runs right over the Canario property. Production is only by leasing miners, who are taking out high-grade ore by

PRECIPITOUS MINE SHIPPING

TONOPAH (Nev.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Mining of shipping ore from the topmost pinnacle of the Tonopah Divide property, has been started by Jim Butler, a nephew of the discoverer of Tonopah. The elevation is so great and the slope so precipitous that the ore is shot down the mountain side in an iron chute, which feeds into ore bins at the bottom of the incline. The lease shipped fifty tons of ore last week to the Tonopah mining plant at Millers, with the product stated to carry excellent gold values.

Manager John G. Kirchen states that two strong ledges, averaging nearly twelve feet wide, have been developed on the 1660-foot level of the Tonopah Extension mine. The ore is said to sample twenty to thirty ounces silver per ton, and carries the usual Tonopah gold ratio. The mill is crushing 250 tons daily, and 175 men are employed. The company is said to be earning profits despite the low price of silver.

Installation of a thirty-ton rotary furnace is proceeding at the Van Ness quicksilver mine in the Spanish belt district, near the old town of Belmont. The property is 11,000 feet above sea level, and is said to contain some of the largest and richest cinnabar deposits in Nevada.

Mining was resumed this week in the Belmont and Desert Queen mines, recently taken under lease by a group of Tonopah operators headed by H. D. Budelman, Fred C. Ninnis and Homer O'Connell. Thirty leasers have made applications for subleases, with seventh and eighth levels of the Desert Queen and the ninth, tenth and eleventh levels of the Belmont favored. The Desert Queen is owned by the Tonopah Mining Company.

An encouraging find on the 2150-foot level of the Goldfield Deep Mines Company, is attracting considerable attention. The main drift is said to have exposed an eighteen-inch shoot of gold copper ore 900 feet from the level, with samples assaying $30 to $40 per ton. The management is endeavoring to determine whether the shoot is a feeder to an important vein, or merely a limited occurrence.

DEEP DRILLING COSTS HIGH

The drilling of an oil well to a depth of more than a mile is an expensive undertaking. All equipment must be unusually substantial and well designed, and many special kinds of apparatus are required.

During the past two years the Petroleum Experiment Station, maintained by the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce, and the State of Oklahoma, at Bartlesville, Okla., has collected data on the Oklahoma City field as part of its general study of oil fields and oil-production methods. One of the interesting things in this field is the height of the derricks. Most of them are 122 feet high, but there is one 136 feet high, one 157 feet high and one 170 feet high; this latter derrick has a thirty-foot base, and is 109 feet from derrick floor to fourble run-around. A special concrete foundation for the rigs is used in this field.

It is the usual practice to construct two 23x8x90-foot slush pits and one settling pit approximately 90x90x2 feet, making a total amount of 1800 cubic yards of earth to be moved. The cellars beneath the derricks measure approximately eighteen feet from the derrick floor to the top of the concrete slab. The cost of constructing the slush pits averages about $.'0 and the cost of digging the cellars is in the neighborhood of $225, making a total cost of excavation work at each location of about $875.

The general contract price for drilling a twelve-inch or twelve and one-half-inch rotary hole and completing the well with an eight and five-eighth-inch hole is $11 per foot. For a 6500-foot well the drilling expense alone amounts to about $71,500.

Fuel requirements for drilling increase rapidly with the depth of the well and operations in Oklahoma City pool have proved to be no exception to the rule. Batteries of three 125-horsepower or four 100-horsepower boilers are requiring as much as 500,000 cubic feet of gas per twenty-four hours and the total fuel requirement for completing a rotary well in this district may run as high as 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The daily water requirements per well in the Oklahoma City district change somewhat with the depth of the hole. Approximate figures from wells now drilling indicate that 3000 barrels of water per day are required for the first 2000 feet of hole, 2000 barrels of water per day from 2000 feet to 3000 feet and 1500 barrels of water per day from 3000 feet to the total depth of 6500 feet. This brings the total water requirements up to about 140,000 barrels of water to complete a well.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to subscribers on specified minerals free of charge. Make each specimen of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Transparent Quartz

WHITTIER, May 15.—Question: Mailing you sample of mica and wish to know if it is of commercial value. I can produce it in books up to 4x6 inches. Also inclosed is a small sample which I think is Iceland spar. I have a seam of it about eight inches in width of much larger crystals. Both samples come from Pima county, Arizona, in the Ajo district. Many thanks for this and past favors.

X.

Answer: The crystal is transparent quartz, and if the eight-inch seam is of similar grade you are to be congratulated.

The mica is greatly decomposed, heavily mixed with clay and probably of no commercial value.

Free Gold Absent

NEEDLES, May 15.—Q.: Under separate cover I am sending you sample of ore from Chemehuevis mining district, Mohave Mountains, Arizona. This is the region of the recent big gold excitement, which, by the way, promises to break out in a relapse as soon as the weather gets a few degrees under 100 deg. Fahr. I am puzzled to know just what is the metal, or whatever it is, that glitters and often shines brighter than gold; it is often accompanied with portions showing all colors of the rainbow. These iridescent colors have a penchant for going out into neighboring rocks and leaving their bright colors in porphyritic matter or into rocks adjoining the quarts in which the metal occurs. If your much-prised service will enlighten me about this I will be greatly obliged and we surely do like In the Earth column of The Times out here in the hills.

X.

A.: Your kind words are appreciated. The samples carry traces of many substances and the microscopic, iridescent matter present in traces is probably "peacock iron"—as known by the mining boys in the hills. Zinc found with manganese, iron, baryte and quartz. Do not fail to be on the lookout for native gold among the porphyritic rocks.

Talcose Schist

SAN LUIS OBISPO, May 16.—Q.: I am inclosing herewith sample of rock from Tulare county, this State. Will you kindly inform me what it is and whether it has any commercial value. Thanking you for your courtesy in the matter.

D.

A.: The sample reacts as a somewhat slaty talc. It may be possible to find a market for it if further prospecting would yield talc a little better foliated, and more free from silica.

Free Gold Absent

LOS ANGELES, May 17. Q.: Inclosed find a specimen of clay-like substances which I found in the Antelope region. Is it baryte, bauxite or bismite? Please inform me if it carries any values in silver, gold or lead and if it has any other commercial values.

Q.

A.: The sample carries traces of gritty, hydrous aluminum-magnesium silicate, with more or less lime carbonate. Lead is not present and for other gold and silver values you are politely referred to assayers.

Two Samples

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—Q.: Please analyze sample No. 1 for lead, silver and platinum. No. 2 for gold, silver and cinnabar. Samples are from Death Valley region. Many thanks.

D.

A.: No. 1 is a "spud" of iron ore carrying some magnetite, massive hematite and microscopic micaceous iron (somewhat resembling platinum,) present. Lead absent. Mineralogical silver also absent. No. 2 is a mixture of hydrous iron peroxide known as limonite; it is streaked with micaceous iron. Cinnabar and platinum absent. No free gold found in either specimen.

Mineral Chips

IMPERIAL, May 18.—Q.: Am sending under separate cover one package of tabular crystals for analysis. Locality Imperial county. Thanking you for past favors.

X.

Dechenite Traces

RAY (Ariz.) May 18.—Q.: Sending rock Nos. 1 and 2 from the Dripping Springs mining district. The white rock is No. 1. The red rock is float on the same ground. Thanks for classifying same.

X.

A.: The red, white and brownish rock is a breccia; it carries silica, hematite and cinnabar in absent. No. 2 is quartzitic rock; it contains no cinnabar; hematite and limonite in good percentages; copper-lead traces, cinnabar absent, and microscopical Dechinite found in traces. Dechenite occurs in botryoidal masses, with a crystalline texture, and slightly of a rhombohedral cleavage. Color dark red and also yellowish. Of fracture, when fresh, somewhat yellow. It is of greasy luster and streak yellow. In composition it is lead vanadate, and when pure carries approximately 46 per cent vanadic acid with 54 per cent lead.

Two Specimens

SANTA BARBARA, May 19.—Q.: I am sending you two samples. Kindly analyze the brown colored one for zinc and silver. The gray one for copper, gold and tin.

H.

A.: The brown one is simply slaty limonite, (hydrous iron peroxide.) The greenish samples are surface rock and are hornblende.

Three Samples

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—Q.: My samples are from the Beatty (Cal.) district. I'm not very sure of the miles. If you would give me a general analysis of each specimen I would be greatly obliged.

C.

A.: It is not possible to give you more than a qualitative analysis on each sample. The three specimens are not bentonite. They fall to pieces in water. Aluminum-magnesium silicates are more or less present. The spectroscope shows some soda, and wet analyses reactions are in part for Gay Lussite, (hydrated carbonate of lime and soda.)

Gritty Clay

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—Q.: Sending sample supposed to be clay. Comes from near Saugus. Is it fire clay?

B.

A.: It is a mixture of hydrous aluminum-magnesium silicate, and probably represents no commercial value.

Two Samples

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—Q.: Both samples from Imperial county south of the Chocolate Mountains. No. 2 has got me stuck! I believe No. 1 is of volcanic formation.

A.

A.: No. 1 is greatly decomposed rock. It seems to be partly coarse volcanic sand and spotted brownish-yellow with limonite. No. 2 is impure smalt-blue Dumortierite (aluminum silicate,) containing more or less lime carbonate.

IDLE MINERS IN PLACER FIELDS

Interesting Ore Finds Expected to Offset Copper Slump

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Some interesting ore discoveries are likely to result from the present depression in the copper business of this State.

Many of the miners and mill men who have been laid off by the copper producers have turned to gravel washing for gold in the creeks. They are said to be making fair to good wages at this, with but little equipment.

There is still enough water running in the mountain streams to carry on sluicing.

Output in Eddy and Lea Jumps

ARTESIA (N. M.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Southeastern New Mexico made a substantial gain in daily oil average production during April.

CUT IN COPPER COSTS SIGHTED

Natural Gas Projected for Southeast Arizona

Douglas Smelters Reported Considering Step

Would Eliminate Fuel Oil Use in Furnaces

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) June 1. (Exclusive)—It is possible that further reduction in the cost of copper production may be secured to the southeastern section of Arizona through the proposed piping of natural gas from Texas. Statement is made that a survey of Arizona conditions has been under way for nearly a year by representatives of the Ford, Baker & Davis interests of New York, but that delay has been experienced through hesitation of the principal mining companies over signing a ten-year contract demanded.

At Douglas it is asserted that the Phelps-Dodge Corporation and Calumet & Arizona Mining Company are considering introduction of gas as fuel in their smelters, this being something novel in the Southwest, with possible effect upon the market for fuel oil, from Texas and California, now used in reduction of ores within great reverberatory furnaces.

Fuel oil is used by the big smelter at Miami, to which point a 900-mile gas pipe line is to be extended from the Wink field. The gross cost is set at $5,000,000, with inclusion of large pressure tanks at Douglas and Globe. From the last-named point it is stated there will be continuation of the line, through the mining and smelting camp of Superior, to Phoenix, the largest domestic consumer of gas in the State. The cost in Douglas is set at 30 cents per 1000 cubic feet, to be compared with a minimum of $1.20 now charged in the principal Arizona cities.

Smelting costs in the local works have declined steadily in the past ten years, due to improved methods of reduction and handling the ore, with process now practically automatic.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROFESOR R. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

En el sexto párrafo de mi Plática anterior dice "la escrito" por "lo escrito".

Leemos en el primer párrafo del relato de Gabaldón: ". . . e ignoran qué funciones le están reservadas al estómago . . ." Averigüe el estudiante, preguntándolo a su maestro en caso necesario, si sería correcto en la frase anterior usar el subjuntivo "estén" en vez del indicativo "están".

En dicha frase hallamos la voz "función" con significado equivalente al de "function" en inglés. Denota el ejercicio de la acción de cada uno de los órganos, o de cada sistema de éstos, en la economía animal para la reproducción, acrecentamiento y conservación de la especie o del individuo. También connota, como en inglés, la acción y ejercicio de un empleo, arte, facultad, profesión u ocupación. Pero tiene además en español una acepción muy corriente, de la que carece en inglés: la de "fiesta" o "ceremonia". Lo mismo se aplica al acto público, más o menos solemne, que se celebra con demostraciones exteriores en honor de la Divinidad, con motivo de la festividad de un santo, que a la ceremonia o fiesta que se hace para conmemorar un acontecimiento célebre. Denota por igual el espectáculo que se ofrece al público en un teatro, circo, plaza de toros, campo deportivo, hipódromo, etc., y la concurrencia de algunas personas en una casa particular por cumpleaños, convite, u otra cosa semejante. Y así decimos: "Estuvo preciosa la función de cine en el Teatro de California"; "¿Cuántas funciones de toros ha habido este verano en Madrid?"; "Mañana habrá función solemne en la catedral, pues es jueves de Corpus"; "Anoche hubo animada función en casa del señor Gonsáles, con motivo del santo de su esposa", etc.

Llámase "función de moda" en un teatro, circo, etc., a la que se ofrece al público determinado día de cada semana, con algún aliciente especial, para que acuda al espectáculo mayor número de espectadores de la buena sociedad; y así se dice que "los jueves hay función de moda en el Teatro de la Zarzuela", por ejemplo.

Se dice que un empleado está en funciones cuando está ejerciendo las de su cargo o incumbencia; y así decimos que "el presidente Ortiz Rubio de Méjico está en funciones desde Diciembre de 1929". "En el ejercicio de mis funciones", dice un jefe de policía, "he mandado aprehender al ladrón". Recordaré, por último, que, hablando de una persona que asiste a cuantas fiestas y diversiones se presentan, decimos "no hay función sin tarasca", por alusión a la "tarasca" que se exhibía antiguamente en las procesiones públicas. Como nota curiosa del folklore madrileño, transcribo aquí lo que sobre la tarasca nos dice la Enciclopedia de Espasa:

"Era la tarasca una máquina de madera montada sobre ruedas y conducida por hombres que iban dentro, que afectaba la forma de una extraña serpiente con muchas cabezas de movimiento. Figuró en la procesión del Corpus de Madrid durante largos años. El día anterior al de esa procesión, la tarasca seguía el curso que al siguiente tenía que recorrer aquélla, y la acompañaban en grotesca comparsa, el Mojigón, hombre vestido de manera estrafalaria, que llevaba en la mano un bastón del que pendían dos vejigas de carnero infladas, y algunos hombres y mujeres, ataviados de moros los primeros y de ángeles las últimas, a los que acompañaba un joven de cabellera rubia que representaba a San Miguel. La tarasca llevaba a cuestas, sentadas en un sillón, dos figuras de madera, la "tarasquilla" y el "tarascón", a las que se acostumbraba vestir con arreglo a los figurines de la moda que en el vestido había de regir en aquel año, y peinar con las pelucas y prendidos que iban a regular el gusto del nuevo peinado. Vargas alude a la costumbre de peinarse según el modelo de la tarasca, en la estrofa siguiente: "Como tomastes, Aldonza, — De la tarasca modelo, — Por eso llevas el pelo — Con tremzas de jerigonza."

En tiempos de Felipe III se ordenó que la tarasca no fuese en la procesión, sino que se quedase en la puerta de la iglesia, y durante el reinado de Felipe IV prohibiéronse los misterios, autos sacramentales, danzas, etc., que hasta entonces habían amenizado la procesión del Corpus, y que se repitieron luego en 1623 en obsequio al príncipe de Gales, después Carlos II de Inglaterra, que aquel año asistió a la ceremonia religiosa.

La restauración de los autos y demás divertimientos del Corpus que ocurrió en aquella ocasión, contribuyó, sin duda, a su casi total restablecimiento, y en el archivo municipal de Madrid hállase un curioso expediente en el que figuran los proyectos y pliegos de condiciones presentados en 1747 para "la compostura de gigantes y hechura de la tarasca" de aquel año. En dicho expediente figura un dibujo presentado por Francisco Maléndez como proyecto de tarasca, en que ésta se halla "sentada en un carro, debajo de un pabellón, de donde han de tirar unos perros y los ha de gobernar un mono, que ha de llevar un látigo en la mano". Otras figuras y grupos completaban el proyecto, entre los que se contaban una cucaña, un duelo, un marido azotado por su mujer, un castillo, etc.

Rubber Found in Indian Hemp

ST. LOUIS, June 1. (Exclusive)—A victim of disparagement for many years, dogbane, or Indian hemp, a common weed, has at last been given a place in the society of plants of economic value.

Scientific research, according to the last Missouri Botanical Garden Bulletin published here, has revealed that the weed, known scientifically as the apocynum, has rich rubber content.

"One of the most significant factors concerning the study of the latex of apocynum," says the bulletin, "is that the rubber content increases to a large extent with the drought and infertility of the soil."

NEBRASKA SCHOOL AWARDS DEGREES

COLLEGES DENY STUDENTS DRINK

Youths' Opinion Turning Against Liquor

Survey Made By Committee of National W.C.T.U.

BY ROBERT E. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 1. (Exclusive)—President Hoover and the members of his Law Enforcement Commission have been informed by the National Women's Christian Temperance Union that a comprehensive survey of hundreds of colleges prove that there is less drinking today among students than before the enactment of the prohibition law.

A majority of the college presidents of the United States tell the national W.C.T.U. there is less student drinking than ever before; that there is a larger number of nondrinking students than ever, and a growing trend of student opinion against liquor. The presidents' views coincide with the statements by the two prominent football coaches, Alonzo Stagg of Chicago University, and "Hurry-up" Yost, Michigan University, who told the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives that student drinking is vastly less since prohibition; and are in disagreement with the idea expressed by Coach W. W. Roper of Princeton, who said drinking conditions are so bad he hesitated to send his children to college. College presidents report almost three times as many colleges where there is no drinking at all as the organized wets have put forward as institutions where there are more drinkers than nondrinkers.

COLLEGES SAFE

The assurance that American colleges are safe for the younger generation and that student drinking is less than previously comes in the letters of 257 college presidents from forty-five States in answer to a direct inquiry as to the present generation of students.

The men to whom the parents of America send their sons and daughters for higher education emphatically disagree with the idea that youth is on the decline. They are militantly opposed to the slanders of the organized wets that colleges are more drunk than sober and that the remedy is a return of the liquor traffic. They say the colleges where a majority drink are not typical.

The W.C.T.U. undertook the inquiry because of the widespread wet propaganda that college is unsafe.

Of the 257 letters received, 148 state that there is less drinking than before prohibition; forty-four say there is no drinking among their students; forty-seven say that drinking is now and always has been either unknown or almost unknown among their students; eight say there is about the same amount of drinking now as previous to the Eighteenth Amendment; seven say conditions are bad and only three believe matters are worse. That conditions are not perfect, but are immeasurably better and safer than they were, seems to be the general opinion.

Instead of the drunken condition charged against the American youth by organized wet propaganda, the picture presented by these college heads who have taught boys and girls both before and since prohibition is one of a smart, forward-looking, thinking generation, clear-eyed, healthy and doing more in athletics and study chiefly on account of less alcohol.

SOBER GENERATION

Even at colleges where there is admitted drinking, the presidents declare in almost every instance that there is less than there was prior to prohibition.

Word pictures of a sober generation of young Americans come in great number from States and communities which have long banished the liquor traffic; although strong defense of the present generation comes from the Boston University; University of Maryland, New Orleans University, Rutgers University at New Brunswick, N. J., and several colleges in Pennsylvania. State university presidents declare that there is less drinking today than there was in the saloon era; and many of the colleges with strong moral and church background make it a point to choose students with high principles and to help them maintain an attitude of opposition to drink.

Convict Stabbed During Melee at San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, June 1. (AP)—Ted War, 28 years of age, Fresno convict serving a four-year term for second-degree burglary, was stabbed in the back during the dinner line-up today. Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison physician, said War probably will recover.

The prisoners began milling during the line-up. Guards burst through a circle of the men and found War on the ground with a prison-made knife in his back. War would not name his attacker and other prisoners refused to talk.

Two Prisoners Escape Camp

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, June 1. (AP)—Warden Holohan today was notified of the escape of two prisoners from Road Camp No. 12, near Carmel.

The prisoners, Everett Kendrick of Tulare county, and Louis Vieria of Alameda, were missing at the breakfast roll call.

Vieria, serving a fifteen-year term for robbery in the second-degree, was due for a parole October 2, 1931. Kendrick, serving five years for possession of a still, would have been paroled August 6.

BUSINESS MEN DISCUSS TARIFF

Hawley-Smoot Bill Favored by Most Leaders

Adequate Protection Seen as National Necessity

Industry Pins Faith to Good Judgment of Hoover

(Copyright, 1930, by The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, now in its final stage before Congress, is causing surprisingly little popular reaction—yet. Here and there a business leader is being quoted as for or against it, but the majority of American business leaders either have not had time to analyze it carefully, or have decided to assume a neutral attitude with regard to it.

With the aim of gathering the opinion of the most important business leaders in the United States, the North American Newspaper Alliance sent the following telegram to a number of them:

"Will the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, if it becomes a law, aid or be detrimental to business generally and to your own business? If so, how? Would it be better to leave the present tariff law unchanged?"

Herewith follow some very interesting replies that are well worth the study of those who have not had the time or the opportunity to study the bill:

SUGAR VIEWPOINT

Bror G. Dahlberg, president Celotex Company, the largest sugarcane grower in the United States, replied: "In general, I believe the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill will aid business, for I firmly believe American labor must be protected against cheap importations made by low-priced labor. So far as sugar is concerned, the bill provides for 2 cents which, while it helps a little is, in my judgment, not the kind of protection the American sugar farmer is entitled to, as against the cheap labor of Cuba.

"Sugar is the cheapest food commodity today and adequate tariff which would justify the upbuilding of this important branch of industry in the United States and keep for the American farmer the hundreds of millions of dollars now being sent to foreigners for sugar, would be a burden on nobody and still furnish the housewife with the cheapest item of food which she purchases.

"The talk about the enormous burden on the housewife, by putting on a reasonable tariff protection on sugar, is merely political propaganda and has no basis in fact. However, 2 cents is better than 1.76 and maybe it will help a little. The policy, however, of protecting the American market for American industries I believe is sound and that is what the Hawley-Smoot bill tries to do."

LUMBER PLAINT

R. A. Long, president Long Bell Lumber Company, says: "There is too much involved in the present tariff bill for any one individual to forecast its effect on general business. The lumber industry is in serious need of protection at this time, and indications are that protection will be needed for many years to come, not merely for the benefit of those whose capital is invested, but for labor involved.

"Under the present tariff, lumber is on the free list, and it is impossible for a tariff commission or the administration to render any assistance. Any tariff revision providing for the appointment of a Tariff Commission with authority and power to make such changes as may seem to them for the best interests of the country, when and as needed, will, in our opinion, be helpful.

"Complete revision of the tariff under the present system can never be sufficiently handled until responsibility is delegated to a commission with powers similar to those of the Interstate Commerce Commission. All commodities, whether now on the free list or not, should come under their jurisdiction, subject of course to the approval of the President or Congress.

"The President and members of both houses were elected with the understanding that there would be no tariff revision and the opposition should be willing to allow the present Hawley-Smoot tariff to pass and seek to remedy any defects in the same as rapidly as possible."

COMPLEX MATTER

George M. Verity, president of the American Roller Mills, Middletown, Or., says "The whole tariff controversy is too large, too complex and has too many practical and political angles to enable the average business man to have any sound opinion of the merits or demerits of the many factors involved, or of any proposed bill, as a whole, without taking an unlimited amount of time to technically study the whole problem.

"As the matter stands today, I can have no personal opinion worthy of announcement. I and my associates have, however, so much faith in the honesty of purpose of our President, of his understanding of the situation, of his unusual powers of analysis, and the soundness of his judgment, that we feel that business men generally who want just what is best for the country as a whole, no more or no less, should support him in whatever recommendations he may make."

Says Paul Shoup, president Southern Pacific Railroad, San Francisco "Before I can pass judgment on the Hawley-Smoot bill intelligently, I would like to have before me a comparison of the rates proposed as against those now existing and a disinterested review of the reasons for the change in each instance.

"I am familiar with some of the proposed changes that affect the commodities produced on the Pacific Coast, and my judgment is that they are directly beneficial to the country as a whole, working no hardship on any section, and if I attempted to pass judgment on anything not related to this very limited knowledge on my part I would be getting out of my depth."

But the danger of foreign retaliation against American goods is causing some anxiety to those who object to the new tariff schedules.

Harvey S. Firestone, rubber manufacturer, Akron, O., says:

"In my opinion, the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill is a positive detriment to business generally and I hope that it is defeated. The rubber industry is only directly affected by the provision for a 7-cent duty on long staple cotton. The United States imports only 300,000 bales of long staple cotton, while it exports 8,000,000 bales of American cotton. Should a duty be placed on cotton by other countries in retaliation, it would be a very serious matter for our cotton farmers.

"The rubber industry would suffer with industry generally, as a result of the restrictions and reprisals against American goods in foreign countries, which the proposed tariff bill is stimulating."

F. B. Patterson, president National Cash Register Company, Dayton, O., makes this brief statement: "For the good of American industry, the present tariff law should be left unchanged."

Harry Warner, president of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., presents this view of the situation in his industry:

"The American motion-picture industry supplies motion pictures for the whole world. Our foreign business is largely dependent on the good will of other nations. In my opinion the proposed tariff legislation will not only alienate this good will, but will tend to depress business conditions in this country as well."

A. P. Hockenbeamer of San Francisco, president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, makes this comment: "In my judgment, the present tariff should be left substantially as at present and revisions intrusted to a nonpartisan commission, with ample powers to make such changes as may be justified by thorough and impartial economic studies."

PEOPLE COLD

The long seventeen months of discussion has left the people "cold" on tariff reform. The subject is no "burning question" among business men. In other words, it is not a subject of major importance, if one is to judge by street discussion. Yet, if passed, it undoubtedly will involve more far-reaching changes in American business than any tariff law passed in thirty years.

After the conference committee had eliminated the export-debenture feature, and included the flexibility section, the compromise conference bill was returned to the House and the Senate for final action. There it remains today. But a final vote should be reached in a week or ten days.

The flexible provision of the law provides for the Tariff Commission to propose upward or downward changes in individual rates within a range of 50 per cent, after which the President is given sixty days to approve or disapprove. If he makes no suggestion, the recommendation of the commission is to become effective.

This differs from the present law which gives the commission power to report upon production costs of any article on which there is a tariff, both here and abroad, after which the President may arbitrarily order an increase or decrease not exceeding 50 per cent.

One economist, criticising the government at Washington for being "without any foreign commercial policy," declares that American foreign trade "is the only unprotected industry we have."

PROTECTION NEEDED

Why should the foreign trade industry go unprotected? It absorbs from $4,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 of goods annually, and yet about every ten years a thoroughgoing revision of the tariff schedules fills the industry full of uncertainty and doubt.

As the New York Journal of Commerce says: "We neither have maximum nor minimum rates, nor any system of retaliation, while we have invited the hostile action of almost every foreign country. Nor is that all. In the process of bargaining and trading in Washington, it has been assumed throughout that, whereas some more or less active interest was concerned with the domestic production of every article, there was none that was especially concerned in keeping up our foreign trade."

The Federal government does spend money on advertising American goods abroad and it does give information to American manufacturers regarding trade conditions abroad. But it has never advanced any co-ordinated, systematic, fundamental plan of developing and expanding foreign trade. This field it leaves to the "vagaries of domestic politics."

The time has about arrived when no tariff law can be permanently beneficial to the people as a whole unless it is built upon the principle of protecting industry in the home market and also of watching over and protecting that vast and growing new business outside the home market—foreign trade.

COUNCIL GETS BUDGET TODAY

Mayor Porter Will Submit $80,000,000 Proposals

General City Government to Receive $25,000,000

Public Hearing Announced to Occur Next Monday

The budget for the government of the city during the next fiscal year, aggregating $80,000,000 for all departments and functions, will be submitted to the City Council today by Mayor Porter and Budget Director Kuns. The Council will consider a public hearing on the budget next Monday.

This is the largest budget of the city by approximately $7,000,000, but the increase is due to the receipts and disbursements of the operating departments, as the tax for the general government under the control of the Council drop to $35,000,000 for next year compared to $25,680,000 for the present year.

Recently, Mayor Porter and Council have faced the problem of increasing income by trimming the budget without letting out many employees. This is occasioned by the return of some of the special police and workmen formerly accounted for under departmental budgets. For instance, the street department will pay building and maintenance $141,000 and police $60,000.

SUBJECT TO REVISION

The budget is subject to revision by the Council.

One permanent improvement item is likely to create a bone of contention, and that is in the budget. It includes $97,000 for completing the $97,000 for the harbor fire boat system, $83,000 for repaving the McPherson street asphalt plant, plans for additions to the Municipal Farm properties, $100,000 for a police station home and $300,000 for a jail.

Another bright picture of the city's fiscal operations is drawn by Porter, who says that instead of the anticipated $638,000 deficit this year there will be an excess of income over expenditures amounting to $1,000,000, which will be returned to the reserve fund.

Practically all of the departments are under supervision of the Mayor and their budgets cut from the previous year. A notable exception is the City Attorney, who receives an additional $70,000 for his salary increase. This is occasioned by the raises given employees and salaries.

SINKING FUND LARGER

The Sinking Fund's own funds show an increase of $31,946, estimated last year by former Mayor Cryer, to be $1,000,000 for the next year. This is augmented by two confidential secretaries at $6000 each, an extra secretary for a stenographer, which is $3600, and a rise for the two chauffeurs who drive the Mayor and Council for the pair to $3600.

The expensive Lincoln automobile which the Mayor wants, but which was refused, off and on, to deny the charges up in the budget, at a price which will be added the value of the Lincoln he has been driving was effected in the budget by cutting the sedan fund and the entertainment fund from $1000 each to $500 each.

The budgets of both the fire and police departments are cut so that it appears that this is effected actual loss of man power, but a number of jobs are eliminated in the engineering department, with no loss in the salary amount. The budget, but it is believed will be made principally to jobs at present occupied.

Another message Mayor Porter has for the public is that he intends to make a short time an inspection of the city's personnel, believing this can be done. He states that some substitutions should be exercised by the heads of the government departments, and that the reserve fund should be built up to 15 per cent of the budget.

PRISON IDOL TO ENTER FILMS

Daughter of Sing Sing Warden Here

Joan Marie Lawes and Her Father

JOAN MARIE LAWES, 8-year-old daughter of Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing prison, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on the Union Pacific system to make her debut as a motion-picture actress.

Accompanied by her father, who has been in charge at Sing Sing for the last ten years, "Cherie," as she is known to the inmates of the prison, was greeted by John Ford, who will be her director, other officials of the Fox Film Corporation studios, and by Daniel J. O'Brien, former Chief of Police of San Francisco.

Cherie, who was born within the walls of the prison, brought the remains of a basket of fruit, presented to her by the prisoners on her departure, and also a leather make-up case and a hammered silver ring given by the men who are only numbers.

The child will play the role of a warden's daughter in Maurine Watkins's drama, "Up the River." Ford and Lawes became acquainted during the director's recent inspection tour of Sing Sing and Ford asked that the little girl be permitted to appear in the screen play.

Warden Lawes and Cherie are at the Roosevelt Hotel. Lawes is the author of several books dealing with prison life and reform, including "Life and Death in Sing Sing" and "Man's Judgment of Death." He is a leading opponent of capital punishment.

IMPROVEMENTS PROJECTED

The City Council has adopted the ordinances of intention for the improvement of Working Way at Amesbury Road, the improvement of Oakden Drive at Laurel Canyon Road and the improvement of Rosecrans avenue between the city boundary and Vermont avenue. The ordinances were set for hearing of protests July 9.

BARRYMORE FAMILY OFF FOR CRUISE

Week to Be Spent on New Yacht's Maiden Voyage in Coastal Waters

John Barrymore left Los Angeles Harbor yesterday with Infanta, his new 120-foot Diesel yacht, on its maiden voyage since its launching a number of weeks ago. He is accompanied by Mrs. Barrymore, known in pictures as Dolores Costello, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cawthorn and his brother, Lionel Barrymore, actor and director.

The voyage also marks the first water journey for the Barrymore heiress, Dolores Ethel Barrymore, now about 6 weeks of age. Special quarters were built in the yacht for the child.

Barrymore announced on his departure that he and his family and guests will be gone for about a week, which they will spend in waters along the coast and in Santa Barbara waters. They will not make an extensive trip at this time. Within a short time, Barrymore stated, he plans on a longer trip, possibly to Puget Sound, and then later a long cruise into the South Seas.

LEWIS TO BEGIN DEFENSE TODAY

Argument Expected to Fill Morning Session

Defendant Will Go on Stand as Own Witness

Case Likely Will Go to Jury at End of Week

Legal argument by S. C. Lewis, acting as his own attorney, and Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Jones prosecuting the bribery case against him in Superior Judge McLucas's court, probably will fill the morning session of the trial today with Lewis starting his defense some time during the afternoon.

Before a jury of eight women and four men prosecution testimony advanced by Costello and Jones last week showed that while Lewis was on trial in the Julian overissue case in 1928 a plot was formed to buy the vote of Mrs. Caroline B. Love, one of the jurors.

Mrs. Love, her husband and Jack Weaver, the go-between, all testified against the former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, now an inmate of the Federal prison serving a mail-fraud sentence, and told of the asserted details of the plot.

MONEY NEVER PAID

Testimony showed that Weaver first advanced the bribery plot, went to Love and through him to his wife and then approached Lewis. The sum of $10,000 was paid to Weaver, he declared, by Lewis but was never paid over to Mrs. Love because she "ran out on the deal," Weaver said.

With the prosecution closing its case last Thursday afternoon Lewis began a legal attack on the evidence by making sixteen motions to strike the testimony of the various witnesses. The motions were denied by Judge McLucas and will be followed today by legal argument involving the question of just who, among the three principal prosecution witnesses, can under the law be classed as accomplices.

LEWIS TO TESTIFY

According to the announcement of both the prosecution and defense the legal arguments will probably occupy all of the morning session and part of the afternoon. Lewis, who will take the stand in his own defense, if his expected motion to dismiss is denied by the court, will probably produce a number of witnesses to refute the testimony by the Loves and Weaver. He will take the stand as his own last witness. The case is expected to be in the hands of the jury near the end of the week.

Flyer Mendell to Plead Today

Accused of having conspired to violate the Immigration Act by transporting alien Chinese across the border from Mexico, Loren W. Mendell, aviator, is to appear today before United States District Judge Cosgrave to enter his plea.

It is charged that Mendell, who won an endurance flight at Culver City, conspired with two Japanese, who also were indicted, to take the aliens across the border in his airplane. Mendell asserts that while he landed his plane in Mexico near where some Japanese were waiting, that did not mean that he intended to smuggle the aliens into the United States. He was arrested by Mexican authorities, but was released. He later surrendered here and was released on bail.

PETITION REFERRED

The City Council has referred to the Street Lighting Engineer and to the Traffic and Street Lighting Engineer a petition asking for the installation of a lighting system in Coldwater Canyon Road, Cherokee Lane, Bowmont Drive and Hazen Drive.

Wade A. Horton, rancher murdered in his cabin near Saugus May 18, last, left real estate worth $125,000, according to this will on file in Probate Court.

The seventy-seven-acre ranch in Soledad Canyon, where Horton lived, is worth $100,000, it is said, and a mortgage is valued at $25,000. The will was found in a trunk in the decedent's home by Sheriff Traeger's investigators. It was dated February 21, 1929.

Walter A. Hewitt, nephew named executor, applied for probate of the document, which provided that George B. Horton, 90-year-old brother of the testator, be sole legatee.

Cable Blasts Rosy Hopes

A cablegram yesterday killed Wallace Smith's hopes of getting $1,000,000, he announced. He is a novelist and scenario writer.

Some weeks ago Laughlin & Morton, London barristers, asked him to establish his right to that sum, then in a bank there waiting a claimant named Wallace R. Smith. The sum had been left by a cotton planter who died in India.

The local Smith sent word that his grandfather had gone to India and been lost to the family. He was hoping this fact might help to establish his relationship to the planter when the cablegram arrived, announcing discovery of the right Mr. Smith.

HUNT FOR BOAT PROVES FUTILE

Searchers Also Fail to Find Any Victims of Ameco

Thirteen on List of Missing; Wreckage Washed Up

Fitts Will Review Data and Grand Jury May Act

A dawn-to-dusk search yesterday failed to locate the sunken fishing boat Ameco, which capsized Friday with its load of holiday fisher folk, and the waves washed on the beach only a small section of wreckage to reward the all-day hunt for the bodies of thirteen still believed victims of the disaster.

Late yesterday afternoon the county fire boat Cobra from San Pedro reached the scene, carrying heavy grappling equipment and joined Coast Guard Cutter 261, which since daylight had combed the bottom of the sea two miles off Santa Monica, where the boat sank.

About noon yesterday the light dragging lines and hooks of the cutter snagged a heavy object and it was believed that the wreckage had been located. C. E. Smale, deep-sea diver, donned his suit and went down in about sixty feet of water, only to find that the hooks had caught an old cable.

SEARCH WILL GO ON

Search for the wreckage will be renewed today at 7 a.m., it was announced last night, when the three vessels with their crews halted their vigil on account of darkness.

The Cobra with heavy grappling hooks and a longer cable will lead in the hunt today, and will be aided by the Coast Guard cutter and the launch Oceanic. The bottom of the sea will be dragged in the area off the coast from Santa Monica Canyon and Topanga Canyon. This will bring the search nearer the shore than yesterday.

Decision to move to the new area was made after Capt. Lightfoot of the sunken Ameco, was unable to locate the approximate point of the capsising, and the authorities along with experts in hunts along the ocean bottom, became convinced that the boat was hurled nearer the beach by the heavy waves.

FITTS TO GET DATA

Statements of survivors and all information gathered by Capt. Bright and his squad of deputies, who are investigating all angles of the disaster will be placed before Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

The District Attorney will be asked to review the entire matter and if the information points to culpability on the part of owners of the boat, the crew in charge or other agencies a grand-jury investigation will follow, Bright said.

All data obtained by the Sheriff's investigators will be available for the inquiry started Saturday by Capts. S. A. Kennedy and J. A. Moody of the United States Inspection Service. This investigation is limited to the possible revocation of the license of Lightfoot and inquiries concerning the number of passengers carried. Lightfoot, according to the inspectors, was warned several weeks ago not to carry more than sixty passengers on the Ameco. A violation of this order, if shown, will result in Lightfoot's removal from command of boats, they said.

Date of the inquest over the bodies of the three known dead will not be set until late this week, Coroner Nance announced. He is waiting for the completed investigation by the Sheriff's forces as well as the recovery of additional bodies and location of those reported now as missing. The Coroner said that the victims, if drowned, may not appear out of the sea for several days, and possibly weeks.

FLIGHT PLAN GIVEN UP

Plans to attempt to locate the boat by flying over the sea at a 100-foot altitude were abandoned after Capt. Jack Juckatt and Lieut. William Clarke, United States Air Reserve officers, made an investiga-

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

DRAMATIC experiences come to the drivers of the patrol cars that are sent out by the Automobile Club.

Bob Deeson, who patrols the road between Los Angeles and San Diego and—before that patrolled the Ridge Route—has told me a few.

STABBING THE WOMAN

One day the patrol car drove out of San Juan Capistrano just in time to see a terrible wreck. A woman driving a coupe was hit by a truck. The windshield broke. In some miraculous way, a long sliver of glass, like a dagger, was left sticking from the middle of her back.

She dragged herself out of the wreck; went loco. When they tried to administer first aid, she leaped screaming to her feet and set off down the road, running like a deer, the long sword of glass sticking out from her back. They had to run her down like hounds running down a rabbit and hold her by main force while they took out the glass and gave her first aid.

The patrol men say that it is not unusual for victims of auto accidents to go temporarily insane.

THE DRUGGIST'S MISTAKE

Another time on the Ridge Route, there, came a telephone message from Los Angeles from a druggist. He said that, by mistake, he had given a woman a deadly poison instead of a headache powder. She lived on the Ridge Route and he happened to have her address.

Two motor patrol officers and the Automobile Club patrol car started on a wild race down the twisting trail. It is safe to say that no such speed has ever been made before or since over a mountain road.

It was like the movies. They got into the woman's house just as she was raising the poison to her lips.

The druggist meanwhile went up from Los Angeles in a fast car. Learning that the woman's life had been saved, he collapsed and nearly died of shock, so they had to turn around and make another wild ride to get him to a doctor.

GETTING FITTED

"What are you fitted for?" is the topic of a series of lectures being given at some of the Los Angeles public schools.

It isn't so much getting yourself fitted. One job is a good deal like another. The thing is to dig up enough force of character to ride over the discouragements that come up in the job—whatever it is.

THE "BIG SHOW" PASSES

One sign of the times is the failure of the traveling circus. Nearly all of them are having a desperate time. By way of grabbing a life line, some of them have opened automobile shows, selling space to the local dealers in the

Stretching Pennies Makes Minimum-Wage Girls Frugal Wizards

It can be done. Moreover, it is done, although there will be many who will think it neither possible nor probable. Yet the fact remains that there are more than a few girls and women who can and do live in Los Angeles on the princely wage of $16 a week.

Let it not be assumed, however, that it is an easy thing to do. Quite the contrary. It calls for eternal vigilance and a struggle against disheartening odds and the matter of budgeting one's expenditures so that the proverbial two ends meet somewhere along the line, requires an order of astute management which might do credit to the best financial wizard, not to mention a quality of self-denial which would put an ascetic to shame.

Nor is this mere hearsay, but rather actual fact established as the result of a survey made by the Industrial Welfare Commission of the State of California under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Philips Edson, chief of the commission.

The next question, then, is how can it be done? The investigation was confined as nearly as possible to the actual expenditures of a large number of self-supporting women in the various industries and more than 1000 budgets were obtained from the women to assist the investigators. This information was supplemented by a survey of the cost of rooms, meals and clothing and data supplied by organizations conversant with conditions of living and employment of women workers, with the result that Commissioner Edson prepared an estimate of the cost of living which was felt by the commission to represent the "actual minimum for safety for a woman with no means of support but her own."

Only the budgets of women with no dependents were included in the study and the average weekly expenditures were subdivided under three general headings: (1) Board and lodging; (2) clothing; (3) all other expenses, including laundry, repair of clothing, street-car fare, medicine and dentistry, insurance, association dues, church and other contributions, newspapers and magazines, vacation expenses and incidentals.

Figured on a yearly basis, the allowance under these three general headings is $573 for room and board; $142.30 for clothing, and $121 for sundries, making the total expenditure for the year $836.30, or the total for each week, $16.08.

But to get down to more specific data on the art of stretching successfully $16 a week over the bare necessities of existence, the most poignant evidence comes right from the wage earners themselves or from the matrons of the homes where so many of them live.

For instance, who should know better the saving involved in the hoseless mode of Southern California summers than the girl for whom a "run" constitutes a major tragedy, or one to whom a boy friend occasionally taking her to a film show means that a few cents from the very meager amusement item in her budget can be diverted to other channels?

Here then, are a few of the $16-a-week girl's own shortcuts. She lives either with two other girls or in a home run under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A. or a similar organization. If in the home her room and board for the week, that is two meals a day, are about $7, in addition she must count on $3 to $4 lunch every week and about $1 a week for carfare. After that what is left probably is applied on payments for various articles of clothing.

She does her own laundry, cleaning, manicuring, shampooing and sometimes her own sewing, in short, everything that will save her money, be the amount ever so slight. If she ever has a marcel, finger wave or whatnot, she gives it to herself and luxuries, indulgences, catering to whims or the satisfaction of frivolous feminine foibles are bright spots absolutely unknown upon her horizon.

In the matter of clothes, the elasticity of the amount available for them depends, according to one matron of a girls' home, on the taste of each individual and the training in thrift she may or may not have had as a child. To some every penny possible goes for personal adornment, while others think less of appearance and lean more strongly

NEW VACANCIES IN OFFING

Mayor Will be Called on to Select Seventeen for Commission Posts on July 1, Next

Mayor Porter will have another set of seventeen appointments to make on July 1, next, with the expiration of terms of members of various commissions. In addition to the seventeen appointments made last July, due to an extraordinary number of resignations, the Mayor has been busy all year filling up vacancies on his commissions.

For instance, the Police Commission has one holdover from the Cryer administration. This is W. G. Thorpe, whose term expires next month. On the Board of Public Works President McGuire and Commissioner Eldridge are holdovers, while on the Board of Water and Power Commissioners only Dr. John R. Haynes is left. Dr. Haynes's term expires in July.

TEEN HURT IN TRAFFIC

Auto Turns Three Somersaults and Another Upsets in Spectacular Accident

Seven persons were injured, three possibly fatally, in a series of accidents yesterday. In one accident two cars turned over and motorists were endangered by the rolling vehicles.

The spectacular accident occurred at Sand street, as both attempted left turns at the intersection. Each driver failed to make the proper clearance and their fenders brushed. Apparently the slight impact caused the drivers to lose control in the heavy traffic at that corner and both cars driven careened sideways. Smith's car swerved sharply and overturned as also did the car driven by Mrs. Gordon. Smith's car, however, had headed toward the incline in the street and it continued to roll until it had made three somersaults and landed right-side up.

The thoroughfares were crowded and a dozen motorists narrowly escaped having their cars struck by the skillful swinging of their steering wheels. Besides Mrs. Gordon in her car were Martin Gordon, a 3-year-old son, and Minnie Osep, 12. The four figuring in the accident were taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

In a collision at Pico street and Crescent Heights Drive five persons were injured and one of them, after being treated at the Georgia-street hospital, was booked on the charge of driving while drunk. The asserted drunk driver is George Young, 19 years of age, 3839 Rose avenue, Ocean Park. With him was Robert Craig, 3144½ Mentone avenue, Culver City, who received a fractured skull.

The other car figuring in the accident was driven by Bernard Jo-

Panicky Passengers Try to Force Freedom Away

Capt. Fudge Won't Go Until He Saves All in Sight

That some of the excited passengers on the sixty-five-foot launch Freedom, rescue ship which saved so many lives from the ill-fated Ameco threatened violence in an effort to compel Capt. Joe Fudge of the Freedom to return back to the pier and abandon a score of victims struggling in the water was asserted at the office of the Santa Monica Pleasure Fishing Boat Company yesterday.

There were forty-two passengers aboard the Freedom, which has a capacity of ninety and is rated one of the staunchest craft in local waters. When the Ameco's plight was observed, Capt. Fudge rushed immediately to the rescue work. In the choppy sea running at the time great care had to be used, he said, to prevent running down helpless, half-drowned men, women and children.

THREATS VOICED

As more and more victims were hauled aboard the Freedom, while the waves had her rolling and pitching in the trough of the sea, a number of the more panicky of the Freedom's passengers, doubly alarmed because of the appalling tragedy they were witnessing in the Ameco's sinking, insisted that Capt. Fudge take them immediately to the pier.

"I'll stick here till I have picked up every one I can see in the water!" Capt. Fudge told them.

Then came threats of physical violence, and for a time it seemed the excited passengers would add to the horror by injuring the pilot of the rescue ship, he said. They persisted in spite of the efforts of a majority of the passengers, cooler in the face of danger, to reason with them.

AIDE STANDS BY SKIPPER

George King, Fudge's deckhand, stood by his captain. He had hauled in many of the victims.

"I'll smack the first man that sets foot in this pilot house!" he roared.

And the Freedom proceeded to pick up victims until there were no more in sight. After landing his own and the Ameco's passengers safely, Capt. Fudge put to sea again and again, and it was the staunch Freedom which later took 300 gale-marooned fishermen back to shore from the barge Billings.

HUNT FOR BOAT PROVES FUTILE

tion at the scene. They were accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs Aires and Crowshorn, who have been assigned to handle the search at sea. Condition of the sea, according to the Lyers, made the air search impossible.

In addition to the Coast Guard cutter, the launch Lark, with Capt. Larsen in command, cruised over the area all day. On the launch was Capt. Lightfoot, in charge of the ill-fated boat when it went down, and he was attempting to lead the searchers to the point where he believes the craft rests on the bottom.

WRECKAGE FOUND

Bathers on the beach near the Santa Monica Beach Club dragged to the sand a heavy platform which formed a part of the Ameco. The wreckage was washed in by the waves, and was brought out only after a heavy rope was made fast. No reports were received by the authorities of any other parts of the vessel washing ashore, and the continual quest by relatives and friends who patrolled the long line of beach for bodies of the missing was futile.

Capt. Bright, head of the Sheriff's homicide detail, who is in direct command of the search and the investigation, joined County Fire Warden Turner on the Cobra and went out to the spot where the cutter and launch had been working for a conference as to plans for the continued hunt today.

At least one of the missing persons is believed trapped in the wreckage, according to the searchers, who say one of the men was inside a tiny cabin with a locked door at the time the boat turned over.

THIRTEEN MISSING

The official death and missing list stood at three dead yesterday, but Chief of Police Webb of Santa Monica, and Capt. Bright expressed the belief that the thirteen carried as missing may be raised when the check on all reports is completed.

The official list of missing, as compiled by the authorities yesterday is: James Huntsman, 12246 Gorham street, Sawtelle; Joseph Mimoli, 1397 Bundy Drive, Sawtelle; Richard Conifey, 625 East Fifty-fifth street; Nathan Cohn, 17 New England street; Robert Buchen, 3648 Eagle street; William Jones, Zinnia Lane, Glendale; C. K. Lake, 325 West Cypress street, Glendale; W. S. Ferguson, 117 West Garfield avenue, Glendale; Sam Shinzuo Gojomori, 503 East First street; C. V. Ellingboe, 1902 West Grand avenue, Alhambra; Andrew J. Walker, 5163 Cimarron street; J. K. Kamimura, 7403½ Hawthorne street; Ed Mannix, 5161½ South Vermont avenue.

The officers have a positive list of fifty-one survivors, who have been located and interviewed, and from them have obtained varying figures as to the actual number of persons aboard the boat when it capsized in the heavy swells. Some place the total number as high as seventy-eight, with total survivors at fifty-six.

DIFFICULT TASK

Capt. Bright pointed out that exactness as to the number of rescued cannot be expected as reports continually are reaching the search headquarters from relatives of missing persons. A fluctuation of six to ten in the number of survivors may be expected, Bright said.

Statements of Mrs. C. A. Morris, owner of the Ameco, that she sold only forty-five tickets to passengers for the afternoon trip Memorial Day are not taken as a complete check on the number aboard when it capsized, according to Bright. He said that his investigation has revealed that several persons could have been on the boat without buying tickets, as it has been revealed that complimentary passes were held by several.

In any event, the girl entirely dependent upon her $16 a week of necessity must develop into a far-sighted co-ordinator and a shrewd buyer in order to make the most of a slim treasury and she learns to watch for sales, to choose with a discriminating eye and to patronize bargain basements. Among the best customers of the small payment down and easy payments thereafter clothing houses are the girls in this minimum wage group, according to Mrs. Edson, and the results which they achieve after very little training are nothing short of miraculous.

More specifically, she can buy one dress a year for $23.50, or two of a cheaper variety; shoes can be had for $6 a pair and her yearly allotment is three pair; stockings of simulated silk fabrics are possible at 50 cents a pair, at which rate she can afford ten pair during the year; she may have three hats for the year at $5 a hat; a coat at half price will be about $17.50; a suit for the year, also at half price, will range around $15; $18 a year will cover the underwear and nightwear situation; $7.50 a year will keep her supplied with cosmetics of a sort, and $11.85 will take care of such accessories as gloves, handkerchiefs, umbrella, rubbers and the like for a year. And in addition to this, she is able to put aside a little at a time so that when vacation time rolls around she has about $25 to cover that contingency.

Girls living under such conditions are urged to plan on a small amount each week for recreational purposes on the theory that amusement of some sort is essential to a well-balanced existence. Many of them do this, according to the superintendent of one home, the allowance being about $1 a month.

On the other hand, very rarely do they put aside any definite sum for medical or dental emergencies. If sickness overtakes them or dentistry becomes a painful necessity, they figure it as a "tough break" and either go to a free clinic for attention or rely upon the benevolence of the doctor or dentist to let them pay their obligations over a long period.

And that is how the money goes, with variations, of course, depending on circumstances and the individual. Never is it anything less than a terrific struggle, Mrs. Edson says, to make it adequate for safe and proper living, nor does it require any great amount of discernment to see that saving anything from a $16-a-week wage practically is an impossibility, for it provides just a bare existence.

HUSBAND REFUSED ALIMONY

Although Herman Hartman, defendant in a divorce action, said he was ill and demanded that his wife, Mrs. Florence Hartman, pay him alimony, Superior Judge Guerin refused the request, it appears from court records. Mrs. Hartman said she had to support herself and three children from the profits of her boarding-house, which, she said, had been bought and paid for through her own labors.

NEWS REEL PRESENTS THRILLERS

Girls' Dare-Devil Stunts Feature New Edition of Times-Universal Film

Daredevil stunts performed by two girls—Ann Compal and Pat Rogers—atop a forty-three-story skyscraper in course of construction, are among the breath-taking scenes depicted in the latest issue of the Times-Universal Newsreel now being shown in Southern California theaters. The stunts were filmed by a newsreel cameraman who followed the girls to the dizzy heights, where they frolicked and danced on a steel girder and hung head downward at the end of a rope.

Other interesting events shown in the current reel include a baby parade at San Jose, arrival of a tanker rammed at sea, a 25,000-foot parachute drop by Bert White at Lancaster, narrow escape from death by drowning of a student at University of Washington, and the colorful annual procession of Sikhs at Lahore, India. Graham McNames, National Broadcasting Company, describes each event from the screen.

The schedule may be obtained by calling up the Newsreel Book at REpublic 3171 and asking about Newsreel No. 43.

Found guilty of liquor transportation and possession, George Stone of 675 North Boyle avenue yesterday started serving a two-year jail sentence imposed by Municipal Judge Stafford, who also imposed a $4000 fine.

Police Officers Von Mohr, Bergman and Kurtz, called as witnesses against Stone by Deputy City Prosecutor Avery, told the court they arrested him when he stopped in front of 1820 Judson street and unloaded twelve five-gallon cans of alcohol from his automobile. In the house they reported finding 187 additional gallons of alcohol and 215 gallons of moonshine. Stone admitted five prior liquor convictions.

U.S.C. Baccalaureate Sermon Opens Commencement

A defense of the modern university against its critics and a promise of future greatness was the keynote of the baccalaureate address of Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, who spoke to the 1200 members of the graduating class of the university at the Shrine Auditorium yesterday afternoon.

"Somehow it has become one of the favorite indoor sports," Dr. Von KleinSmid said, "to pick on the college because it is a subject most people know least about. Yet the 19-year-old boy today knows more than his grandfather did at 75."

Dr. Von KleinSmid said the university is the greatest force for constructive thinking in the nation and criticized both the newspapers and the radio for neglecting what he characterized as a powerful educational influence.

TEST OF TEACHING

"The test of a university is what comes out of it. The greatest teacher of all time performed His greatest miracle when He took twelve men, from lowly places, fishermen, workmen, and through them showed the character of their leader, and in no way was His character changed by their weakness."

The university president declared that the day of materialism in education has passed and that a new day of idealism is here.

"The young men and women who are coming from the universities will make a new world if the present world is not good enough," he said. "The educational system of yesterday will not do for today and much less for tomorrow."

GRADUATES MARCH

The baccalaureate service opened with an academic procession of the faculty and senior students in cap and gown to the Shrine Auditorium, led by the Trojan Band. The auditorium stage was filled with the massed university choir which led the singing of the semicentennial ode, the composition of Floy Bernice Palmer, with music by Mabel Woodworth.

The service yesterday marked the beginning of commencement week and also of the celebration of semicentennial week, which will culminate Saturday with the commencement exercises in the Shrine Auditorium.

DEGREE CONFERRED

An honorary degree of Doctor of Law was conferred upon Dr. Ferdinand C. S. Schiller at the conclusion of the service. Dr. Schiller is a member of the faculty of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, who has been associated with the U.S.C. philosophy department this year. He leaves for London this week.

Bovard Auditorium will tonight be the scene of a public concert by the combined musical organization of the university, with the Trojan Band, the glee clubs and the university orchestra.

POLICE HEAD OF LYNWOOD TAKES LIFE

Notes Left by Doney Said to Refer to Contemplated Grand Jury Inquiry

Dead from a shot through his heart fired by his own hand, the body of George N. Doney, Chief of Police of Lynwood, was found early yesterday morning by Desk Sergeant Terwilliger of the Lynwood police at the intersection of One Hundred and Fourteenth street and Atlantic Boulevard.

When discovered the death weapon was clutched in the right hand. The body was slumped down in the back seat of his automobile. Two notes, left by the dead man, which were found by Deputy Sheriff Penprase, who investigated the killing, clearly established the suicide, the officer reported.

Police at Lynwood stated that a grand jury inquiry into police affairs of that community is pending and the two notes will be turned over to the District Attorney. Penprase declined to reveal the information in the notes, but admitted they were concerned with the contemplated self-destruction and the grand jury investigation.

Doney, 38 years of age, had been on the Lynwood police force five years and chief of the department one year. He leaves his widow and a 14-year-old son.

NEWSPAPER MEN TODAY FACE COURT

"Record" Trio to Answer Bar Group's Charge They Acted in Contempt

H. B. R. Briggs, publisher of the Record; Gilbert Brown, editor, and Rodney Brink, managing editor, will appear before Superior Judge Collier at 10 a.m. today to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court for asserted published criticisms of the grand jury and the District Attorney during the recent investigation of Julian cases.

An affidavit of prejudice against Judge Collier will be the initial move of the defendants, it was announced.

Objection to Judge Collier sitting in the hearing, according to the sworn statement, is based on three grounds. It is charged that he is interested in the action; that he is biased and prejudiced so that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had before him, and that he has given advice to the Los Angeles Bar Association, the real party in interest in the action, upon the matters involved.

In announcing the attempt to disqualify Judge Collier, the defendants declared that it is not a move to delay the hearing but is an essential step for a fair trial.

The three newspaper men stand accused of publishing articles in the Record which intended to obstruct and interfere with justice in the complaint lodged against them by the Los Angeles Bar Association. If found in contempt of court, the defendants face a maximum sentence of five days in jail and a $500 fine on each of the thirteen counts set forth in the citation.

Each count in the complaint is based on an editorial or cartoon which, it is contended, criticized the grand jury's actions and Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

Subpoenas have been issued for the District Attorney, Norman A. Bailis, president of the association, and Frederick L. Morris, foreman of the grand jury, according to the law firm of McAdoo, Neblett & Clagett, who, with Attorney S. S. Hahn, will defend the newspaper men. The officials were called by the defense, it is asserted, to obtain a complete explanation in court of circumstances leading up to the proceedings against the editors.

ATTIC CASE RELEASE IN PROSPECT

Mrs. Oesterreich Likely to Make Plea for Bond, Due to Mother's Death

Because of the sudden death of her mother in Milwaukee last week, Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, who with Otto Sanhuber is charged with the murder of Fred Oesterreich, her husband, here in 1922, today is expected to appear before Superior Judge Hardy with her attorneys to make a motion for her release from jail under bond so that she may attend the funeral services.

Mrs. Oesterreich and Sanhuber were scheduled to go to trial today. The two are charged in a grand-jury indictment with the murder of Oesterreich in his Los Angeles home on the night of August 22, 1922. Shortly after he was taken in custody for questioning Sanhuber is asserted to have admitted firing the fatal shots saying that he feared Oesterreich was about to injure his wife in the course of an argument.

Sanhuber also is asserted to have admitted living in hidden rooms in the Oesterreich homes in Milwaukee and Los Angeles for eleven years because of a strange fascination for the woman.

GRADUATION EXERCISES WEDNESDAY

College of Law Class at Pacific Institute Will Receive Degrees

Commencement exercises of the college of law of the Pacific Institute will be held on Wednesday evening at Baldwin Hall, 808 South Broadway. Honorary degrees of LL. D. will be conferred upon Dr. Elmer A. Belt, Dr. William E. Branch and Dr. William Engelbach.

The following students will receive the degree of Bachelor of Laws: Rose G. Bertram, Garrett L. Blanchfield, Franklin C. Carter, Edith Faulkner, Ernest A. Foster, Eugene V. Huff, Maurice A. Kompaniez, John S. Kolter, Lewis K. Rosenberger, Louis Sampson, Joseph C. Valdez, Alexander D. Watson and Rose Weinstein. The principal speaker will be Superior Court Judge Edward T. Bishop.

Pacific Institute was organized in November, 1929, by its dean, Mr. C. L. Welch, who six years ago organized at Polytechnic Evening High School, a department of law, which was the first free public law school in the United States.

ROMANCE HELD MOTIVE OF RUM LAW ARREST

Romance, not rum, was responsible for Leon "Hobnails" Duvall's going to trial for possession of a gallon of moonshine liquor found at 2116 Central avenue, his attorney, George Damon, told a jury in Municipal Judge Sheldon's court. Duvall was arrested by Police Officer Kelso who, according to Damon, is his client's rival for the affections of a Central-avenue girl. When the State was unable to establish that Duvall had possession of the liquor the jury found him not guilty.

of the annual expenditures. This fund now approximates $7,000,000. He also proposes that the Council, in company with the Board of Supervisors, advance on the Legislature to provide a greater proportion of State gasoline tax monies for the cities and counties, while he declares the city should receive a larger share of the gas tax money returned to the county.

The budget for the Bureau of Power and Light is $22,697,700, the Bureau of Water Works and Supply, $14,800,000; the Harbor Department, $2,280,000; Department of Libraries, $1,460,000; Park Department, $1,363,620, and Playground Department, $952,575. These are the departments budgeting their own funds. Bond redemption requirements amount to $13,000,000.

Wurtzel Gets New Contract at Fox Studios

Sol M. Wurtzel, general superintendent of the Fox Film Corporation studios in Hollywood for fourteen years, has been signed to a new five-year contract, it was announced at the Ambassador yesterday before the 300 executives and delegates in the final session of the annual international sales convention.

Wurtzel's duties under the new contract will be the same as in the past.

Theater Preview Picnic Feature

Directors of the Los Feliz Boulevard Improvement Association have selected next Saturday for their annual summer outdoor picnic in Griffith Park. They will be hosts of the Los Angeles Park Commission, whose president, Van B. Griffith, will delay a contemplated trip of inspection to eastern city parks in order to be present.

A special feature of the gathering will be a preview of the new Greek Theater, built as a gift to the people of Los Angeles from a fund of $200,000 left by the late Col. Griffith M. Griffith, donor of Griffith Park. Arrangements to inspect the theater in advance of the formal public opening have been made by Gordon Whitnall, city planning director of Los Angeles.

The outing, which will extend through the afternoon and evening, will be in charge of Miss Jane Maxwell, entertainment chairman, and Roland Rich Woolley, president of the Los Feliz Improvement Association. Dinner al fresco will be cooked and served by the wives of the directors.

BOBO LEADER AIDS SUSPECT

Edward A. Falk, interior decorator of 1325 South Hope street was at liberty instead of being in jail over the week-end, thanks to the intercession of James Eads How, millionaire hobo. How appeared before Municipal Judge Curtis, who will try Falk on a vagrancy charge this afternoon, and guaranteed the appearance of the accused in time for trial. Falk was arrested on May 25, last, in Westlake Park while sleeping on a bench, with a quantity of Red literature in his possession, the police reported. How told the court that Falk is not a Communist and that he has been employed by the International Brotherhood, of which How is head.

FIFTH WOMAN ATTACKED

Many Attempted Assaults in Week Stir Police to Round Up All Suspicious Persons

Police of all subdivisiaons were given special orders yesterday by Chief of Detectives Taylor to round up all suspicious characters following the report yesterday of the fifth attack upon women within the last week.

The latest victim was Miss N. Kelsey of 5447 Dahlia Drive, Eagle Rock, who, after making a desperate struggle with her assailant, was rescued by a citizen attracted by her screams. The attack occurred in front of the home of Eugene LaClerc at 5152 Townsend avenue.

Miss Kelsey said she was walking home when an automobile pulled into the curb in front of her and a young man jumped out and asked her to go for a ride. When she refused and sought to pass him, he grabbed her arm and attempted to force her into the machine. Striking at him with her hands and screaming for help the girl struggled fiercely to break the man's hold. He then sought to stifle her cries by holding a hand over her mouth.

Miss Kelsey set her teeth in the man's fingers and he loosed his grasp only to clutch her about the throat. Brutally exerting a steady pressure, the assailant bent the girl's head back and started to drag her into the car. As she was beginning to lose consciousness LaClerc, who had heard her cries for help, rushed out of his house to her rescue. The assailant, seeing LaClerc, quickly dropped Miss Kelsey, leaped into his car and drove away.

Police records show that within the last week two women have been criminally assaulted, both by bandits, and three attempted attacks have been made. Descriptions of the assailants vary in each case so police believe there are several attackers in the city. Out of a number of suspicious characters picked up in the round-up, one or more, it is hoped, may be identified by victims.

Chiropractors End Convention

A resolution opposing a proposed amendment to the California chiropractic law was adopted unanimously yesterday at the closing session of the California Chiropractors' Association, which has been convening at the Biltmore. If the amendment is passed, the resolution states, it will amount to virtual repeal of the present law and nullify licenses already issued under it. The measure is to be on the ballot at the November election.

Several hundred chiropractors attended the three-day session, which, it was announced yesterday, will probably be held next year at Oakland.

Events Listed for City Club

A joint meeting of the county and municipal government and the State affairs sections of the City Club will be conducted at noon today. At the open forum this evening an address on "Causes of Crime" will be given by Justin Miller, dean of the University of Southern California law school.

Today's Bible Text

For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death.—2 Cor. vii:10.

FLORIDA TOURISTS
Al Capone says he owns a home in Florida, that he has broken no law and he expects to stay. There is a tourist trade to which California does not cater.

NOISY DIGESTION
Scientists find that loud noises slow down the flow of gastric juices. Then why do some restaurants furnish the sort of music you hear?

SAFETY VALVES
Senate and House indignantly reject dial telephones in offices. Take away the operators and how are they going to let off steam on the things they wouldn't dare say on the floor?

CLOSE SHAVE
An Italian barber completes a shave in forty-five seconds and gets a news dispatch over the world. We have met some speed boys who can give a closer shave than that in a split second.

SKINNED
This is the time of year when the college boys exchange their pigskins and coonskins for sheepskins. At least the boys have learned this much—that coonskins are not needed this time of year.

INVENTIONS
Every scientific advance finds ten times as many peaceful and constructive uses as it finds destructive ones, says Robert A. Millikan. And so we accept the new changeable straw hat bands with hope.

COMES OF AGE
Old Mother Earth is 1,645,000,000 years old. She concealed it for a long time; but Dr. C. S. Piggot of the Carnegie Geophysical Society was poking around and found her clock, a rare metal found in Ceylon, uranium.

GRANDPA
Muttering something about these darned kids, a motorcycle officer overtook a speeding car and arrested the pair. The driver was 83 and his companion was 75. Once it was, "Keeping up with Lizzie." Now it is, "Trying to catch grandpop."

STARS IN THE FLAG
When the Universal Corporation filmed the "Marseillaise," which was afterward called "The Captain of the Guard," it found it had been using the Polish instead of the French flag. So all the flag scenes had to be run over again. What a lot of stars it would take to film our flag.

STRAW HATS
With all the hullabaloo about the 13th and straw hats, they did not seem to take on many people. Possibly the intricacy of fitting the things to the personality and having a different band for every tie and sock was too much for some. When it comes to matching something or other, most men prefer to match wits.

DRY, DRIER, DRIEST
The clergy has been accused of being the dryest of any class in the country, and their sermons have been dragged in to attest the truth. But now that the teachers in the Digest poll are found to be drier than the preachers, it seems to be quite a jolt to both the clergy and high-browns.

NOT CAMERA-SHY
George Eastman gives a kodak to every boy and girl attaining the age of 12 in 1930. This not only appears to be good advertising, but is developing a race of photographers for future reference. We also highly approve the suggestion of a contemporary that Henry Ford take this hint.

ELEPHANTS
Killing elephants in Africa is rapidly bringing about the extermination of these ponderous slow-growing animals. Slaughtering them would seem to be on a par with killing wild horses in the mountain States for sport. There ought to be enough criminals in every country to hunt as big game without going to Africa for the innocents.

ALMA MATER
The movies call her alma mammy; but she is alma mater still! She is being toasted and sung. Class poets enshrine her and valedictorians boom forth her virtues.

There is no alma pater! He appears to be an unnecessary institution.

Commencements are grinding out their grist of graduates and standardized youths are recruiting the army of job-hunters swarming over the business and professional life of the city.

Undersized youngsters with smoke coming out of one end and pigeon toes out of the other are being projected by the humor magazines. They are entirely surrounded by coonskin coats with diplomas sticking into their belts like pistols. Others will be coupled off to prove the old saw that two can live as cheaply as one.

But the sheiks and flappers are not the ones who graduate at all. These were sloughed off earlier in the game and returned to the family fireside.

For college students in the main are solid and sane and no amount of hip-slapping dampens their ardor. College life as pictured by the movies is not all it is cameraed to be. Too many film artists merely pass through college as they do in other scenes—into the front door and into the back yard. The college of the camera is but one canvas deep. The college of the campus has four long years of struggle and labor and brain sweat between entrance and exit. The directors that shoot college life are often wide of the mark. Alma mater is not alma mammy!

The truth is, college men and women usually take themselves too seriously. They are bent on renovating the world on short order. They plan to turn the world right side up by some method of intellectual engineering unknown to the old generation. They see no reason why politics should not be fumigated and business idealised by the latest findings of the classroom.

The boozers are down on Broadway, not over on University avenue. Occasionally a fond father sends his young hopeful to school for the faculty to remodel. He dreams that a new rotation of crops in place of wild oats will change the life of the boy. The youngster is still a flunk.

The university is filled with men and women who are in dead earnest and are willing to Hooverize their way through school waiting on tables and running gas stations. They are wholesome and not fooled by the flicker of bright lights.

More than jimson weeds grow on the college campus. And when some of these do spring up, they are given the needle by modern science and turned into something entirely different. Clod-hoppers may be in good training for broad-jumpers; but they are also in good form to jump at 80 per cent of the opportunities coming their way.

STEPPING ON THE GAS
For years we have been told that our oil supply is about to run out. We have been filled with gloom and at times have slowed down to forty-five miles an hour in a fifteen-mile zone.

The National Conservation Commission, appointed a couple of decades ago, conducted a funeral procession of all the cars of the country in a short decade. We were told that but 8,000,000,000 barrels of crude was left in the ground and we were on the verge of an oil famine that would put a water famine to shame. We were so overcome by these dire forebodings, that we went and bought a new model.

In the past ten years almost as much as the limit left by these prophets of evil has been pumped up out of the ground and turned into carbon monoxide. We have even sprinkled our roads with it more lavishly than ever.

In 1922 the Geological Survey of the United States reported the beginning of exhaustion. But the surveyors appear to have been the only ones exhausted; for we have 34,000,000 cars today where we had 24,000,000 a year or two ago. And we are fattening our graveyards faster than ever. Thus do we continue to slay our prophets.

With each tearful prediction comes in a new gusher bringing in a new field. Spots little suspected of any worth save of sand, cactus and rattlesnakes have contributed wealth to their owners.

More efficient methods of carbureting gas are discovered daily. Ways of cracking crude oil into gasoline have doubled the output in the past ten years. And now a new catalytic process promises a hundred gallons of gas from a hundred gallons of petroleum.

We now find new fields, not by forked sticks, but by artificial earthquakes. There is little guesswork. And where Col. Drake went down fifty-nine feet in 1859, we drill miles into the core of the earth. Science has embarrassed the industry with riches. It is pleading for a slow-down.

However, the lugubrious prophecies must not go unheeded. There is an end to every orgy. Wastage can bring but disaster.

INTO A CORNER
The bootlegger is being driven into a corner. Occasionally some one snorts, that you can get all you want. All you have to do is to ask for it, you sometimes hear a wise one announce.

You can get all you want—providing you enter a telephone booth and receive instructions to enter the second door to the left on the third floor back, knock three times and give the password. Then you obtain an order to go across town and meet a man with a mustache and a limp. He will personally conduct you to a place where an order may be left and the goods delivered.

You may get all you want; but your thirst gradually oozes out after several circuits around Robin Hood's barn. You have to work hard to get it. Supreme Court or not, you feel like a felon about to commit a stealthy crime.

You can get all you want; but you have to want it pretty hard. It is not on tap under your nose. It comes around in secret and solicits under an assumed name. And it travels in a trunk or plastered valise to decoy the police. You have to work hard to get it. Supreme locate it.

Even when you get it, you are treated as a spy by the booze fraternity. They hesitate to accept you as an accomplice. They put you to tests to prove your sympathy with the racket.

Possibly anyone who is willing to qualify can get what he wants. But the number of clandestine drinkers is decreasing daily in law-abiding communities.

LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey

THIS is an apology.

About a year ago we grumbled, through this column, that though Los Angeles is the second largest Mexican city in the world, having more Mexican residents than any other city except Mexico City, one couldn't find a Mexican restaurant here which compared, in cookery of typical Mexican dishes, with Valentina's in Guadalajara or La Suiza in Tampico or the Bel Mar in Mazatlan.

We'd written that after downing an order of gallina mole in a Mexican restaurant here which had sadly failed to come up to our memories of the wonderful dish our old criada used to make us in Mexico City. True, the good old soul used to work three days in preparing it. But when she served it we used to scratch everything else from our bill of fare—soup, vegetables, desserts and all—and joyously eat seven helpings of gallina mole—and sigh because we had but one stomach to conquer.

A Pleasant Reminder

We'd forgotten all about that grumble till the other evening, when Senora Consuelo Bonzo invited The Times staff to a Mexican dinner in La Golondrina, in Paseo de Los Angeles—and then Senora Bonzo reminded us of it. That article had been rankling in her breast all that time and she served us gallina mole to prove to us that one can get really Mexican cookery here. She convinced us so thoroughly, not only with the mole, but with everything else on the menu, that we feel it only fair to make this apology.

Our Latin Quarter

That dinner, by the way, was the sort of thing you couldn't enjoy in any ordinary restaurant. It was more the sort of thing you might stumble on in some artist-haunted restaurant unknown to the tourist trade in the Quartier Latin. For La Golondrina has real atmosphere. You are not merely a cash customer there, you are a guest. It is Senora Bonzo's house and she and her girls make you welcome. They are interested in your enjoyment. When they play or dance or sing for you there is something personal about it. Before you know it you are taking part, as you would in the home of a friend. The tables were pushed back and all present became one big, jolly party. Senor Harry Carr told a story, Senorita Mildred Costello sang and danced La Jota, Senors Arturo de Palma and Salvador Bagues sang, Senorita Elizabeth Meyer toe danced, Ninos Salvador and Lelia danced, Senorita Julia Garcia sang and Senor Harry Chandler allowed himself to be blindfolded, turned and walked about to confuse his sense of direction—and then marched straight ahead and swatted La Pinata as effectively as if he were Babe Ruth with his eyes open.

Believe us, it was a picnic.

La Pinata

La Pinata is always the wind-up of a Mexican celebration, at Christmas or at a birthday party. A bag full of presents—bags and boxes of candies, etc.—is hung in the middle of the room and each guest, in turn, is blindfolded and given an ornamented bat with which to hit at it. When it is hit squarely it bursts and there is a scramble for the scattered contents. It is a game as old as Spanish tradition. But can you imagine a lot of us sober Americans playing that in a public restaurant of the ordinary sort?

Yes, La Golondrina has real atmosphere. We took the Hon. Thomas D. Bowman, American Consul-General for the north of Ireland, there the other night. Tom used to be consul-general in charge of commercial reports in Mexico and after that in Budapest and has visited most of the great European cities. But he was enchanted.

"If they can only keep it simple and genuine like this!" he murmured.

Can't Keep a Good Restaurant Hidden

A really distinctive restaurant doesn't have to get a busy corner, as a United Cigar store does. We had a hard time finding the Cheshire Cheese in London. It is hidden away in a little interior court, with no sign on the street to point the way. At last we found an alley faintly marked "Cheshire Court" and followed it. But when we found the little restaurant we were told they could not serve us—so many other persistent people had found it that we had to make reservations for the next day. We don't know yet where L'Escargot D'Or is in Paris. After vain attempts to find it we called a taxi and were let out in a neighborhood we did not recognize.

Here in Los Angeles, it is amazing to see how many people flock daily—and nightly—to the Taix French Restaurant on Commercial street, in one of the most out-of-the-way spots in town, while the architectural loveliness of the Paris Inn on Market street—which represents a remarkable investment for that location—attests the popularity it has won. It looks like a real chateau in the midst of surroundings strangely uncongenial—yet more congenial than a lot of bright, new, shiny skyscrapers would be. Inside it looks somewhat like the Sainte Chappelle turned into a dining-room, with Tour Eiffel in the background and cover designs for La Vie Parisienne on the walls!

But the interesting fact, to us, is that in Little Nippon, Chinatown, Manila Chica, Sonoratown and the remnants of the old French quarter we are developing a sort of "quarter" for rather unusual restaurants. Most of the finer restaurants are elsewhere, but most of the very unusual ones are there.

TRYING IT OUT

We wonder if any heavenly thoughts influence the decisions of all these nonagenarians who have been taking to the air of late. Sort of preliminary flights, as it were. And if they live that long we don't think they will be disappointed.

EYES HAVE IT

There is not one perfect eye in the jungle, says Ransome Sutton. It is hard to find a perfect eye in Los Angeles also; else everybody would see things as we do.

TO A WREN
By James J. Montague

Week after week I've daily heard
You gallantly rejoice,
And wondered how so small a bird
Could have so vast a voice.
You sing, though skies be gray or blue,
And freely I confess,
That frequently I wish that you
Would curb your happiness.

You sing each time a twig you bring
To build your nest withal,
You sing as on your whirring wing
You fly from tree to wall.
You sing when you have wolfed a gnat
Or slug or fly or such,
And I am quite persuaded that
You sing too doggone much.

It must be hard upon your throat,
Which can't be very strong,
From dawn to twilight to devote
So many hours to song.
I know that glorious thoughts imbue
Your tiny feathered breast,
But really, there are times when you
Must need a little rest.
Though always fond of cheerfulness
It sometimes is a bore,
And if you had a little less
I'd have a good bit more.
And as the summer day along
From tree to nest you roam
I wish you had a smaller song
Or a sound-proof home.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

COMMUNIST THIEVES
[Washington Post]

In spite of its Communistic ideals, Russia has need of capital. The economic system which the Bolshevists have tried to develop for the purpose of ridding the world of capitalism cannot function, it seems, without a certain amount of capital. Since the capital of the Bolshevists has been squandered they have been forced to seek money in other countries. Naturally they turned their eyes toward America. But they found the great majority of financiers in this country cautious. That obstacle could only be overcome by offering liberal concessions.

The more astute business men discounted the value of these concessions, knowing the character of the government with which they would have to deal. But some concerns accepted the representations of the Soviet dictatorship at face value, and launched enterprises in Russia. A certain radical element here came to regard Russia as a great source of wealth, and urged the United States to recognise the Bolshevist regime in order to promote American-Russian trade. They pointed to the Soviet concessions as proof of a willingness to deal fairly. Now the fruits of those supposedly rich concessions granted by the Communists are beginning to ripen.

One firm, much of whose stock is owned by Americans, obtained a mining concession. Capital amounting to $50,000,000 was involved. Last December the Soviet sent its secret police upon the premises of the company in half a dozen cities. Files were confiscated. The general manager was arrested and fined. Other officials were sentenced to six years in prison on charges of espionage and counter-revolution. The Soviet justifies its action on the ground that the company gave orders not to work unprofitable fields, and that attempts were made to realize excessive profits.

The contract granting the concession guarantees an orderly liquidation, but the Soviet refuses to submit the matter to a court of arbitration as agreed, and the company is left holding the bag. The contract has been repudiated and the concession withdrawn on trumped-up charges. The case fully reveals the perfidious character of the Soviet government. It was absurd to suppose that a government that is dishonest politically would live up to its obligations of a business nature. The Americans who have been swindled by the Muscovites have only themselves to blame. They were warned that they were dealing with thieves.

DIFFERENT ON A HIGHWAY
(Charleston News and Courier)

It takes seventeen years to make a passenger locomotive driver, according to Charles W. Galloway, vice-president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Doesn't the same man, after fifteen or twenty minutes of shifting gears and manipulating the accelerator, consider himself a competent automobile driver? There are rules for the highways, but they are not enforced as railroad rules are.

CHOOSING YOUR CAREER

XVI.
MEDICINE
BY DR. SHIRLEY W. WYNNE

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

[Dr. Shirley W. Wynne is Commissioner of Health of New York City. He is a fellow of the Academy of Medicine, president of the Association of Tuberculosis Clinics, professor of preventive medicine at the New York Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital and consulting physician at the Willard Parker Hospital.]

You should have the real urge to study medicine and a willingness to put service to others above the desire to make money, if you are to become a physician of value to your community.

If you have a deep interest in scientific investigation, character, intelligence, powers of observation, a good memory and possess industrious traits you will hardly make any mistake in taking up the medical profession, provided you feel the call to service in the cause of humanity.

The training required of a doctor these days is expensive and you will be at a decided disadvantage if you have to work your way through college. You must plan from six to nine years in college, medical school and hospital service. The courses of study are difficult and so demanding on your mental and physical powers that you can spare little time for outside work.

To get the best results you should have as few financial worries as possible. You will find that you will aid your career if you can afford to remain in hospital service for longer than the average period. Five years of such work will be as worth while to you and your patients as ten years in the private practice of the beginner.

You will also find it of advantage if you can take a regular college course before you undertake the study of medicine. Such training will help you to think straighter. It improves your judgment and gives you a broader and more tolerant viewpoint. It will equip you for wider service.

Generally speaking, you will be wise in selecting a recognized school for your medical training. You can't afford to loaf when you take such a course. It is mostly hard work with little play. Reconcile yourself to that fact at the outset and learn the habits of hard work and concentration. They will stand you in good stead when you become a hospital interne and later when you take up your own practice.

Take as much hospital work, above the amount required, as you can afford. The longer your service of this nature the more rounded your experience and the better you will be able to determine for yourself in which-ever field of the profession your talents lie. You will know whether you prefer research work, general practice, public-health service or the work of a specialist.

Personally I am inclined to the belief that we need more general practitioners and you will do well to consider the opportunities for doing good that such work offers you. We also need more doctors in rural communities. Many of you would be wise in starting your practice in the country districts.

Perhaps, on the average, the young doctor has a better chance to make progress, when he begins his practice, if he establishes his office in a rural community. Statistics show that there are many communities in the country in which there is either none or only one of two practicing physicians.

The development of public health work in the United States enables young doctors in the country to make a fair living at the outset. Positions in the service as a health or school inspector will help the young doctor to meet expenses. With good roads, the automobile and telephone, the lot of the country doctor is no longer one of personal hardship.

You should realize from the time you begin the study of medicine and throughout your career in the profession, that you must keep abreast with progress through wide reading, post-graduate work, whenever it is possible, and hospital duties. In fact, every doctor, regardless of his training or experience, is better able to aid his patients if he keeps a hospital connection.

Great progress has been made in the development of preventive medicine. Many students will find it worth while to make a deep study of the methods that have cut the death rate of infants from 240 per 1000 at the beginning of the century to some sixty per 1000 at the present time.

You can make a steady and comfortable income in medicine by following the example of modern business and organize your office for mass production, so to speak. Preventive treatments can be administered after the clinic fashion with the aid of a skilled assistant, or nurse, who can relieve you of much detail work.

But, as I said before, you can't count on getting wealthy as a doctor. Your training for the profession is expensive and covers many years. It takes many more years, as a general rule, before you reach any great earning capacity. Unless you keep in good health yourself your income is cut off.

Service is your great reward in medicine. The satisfaction you get in helping the sick and the ailing, the close contacts you make with people in all walks of life and the gratitude of your patients is, after all, pretty good pay.

Thanks

TUJUNGA, May 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Allow me to express my appreciation of the splendid editorial in this morning's Times on "Buyers Not Guilty." But I am one of those who helped to put prohibition into the Constitution and am proud of it.

If certain of our citizens continue to buy and use alcoholic liquor in violation of the law they are sworn to uphold, the fault is with themselves and not with the law, which is righteous in principle and beneficent in result when it has a fair trial. On the whole it is as well enforced as other laws—better than some.

Since it went into effect a generation of young Americans have grown up without having seen an open saloon or known its contaminating influence.

Disproportionate Values

LOS ANGELES, May 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In connection with the St. Francis Dam collapse several suits are filed asking as much as $25,000 for a lost child and $100,000 for a lost wife. Now when a disabled American veteran dies his widow receives $30 a month, which is 6 per cent on $6000. For a widow and child $40, or 6 per cent on $8000. Is a child worth four times a veteran or a wife sixteen times?

Also, why not make civilian payments by month? Then if payee dies the State is ahead. Also, payee cannot waste capital and return for charity.

DISABLED VETERAN.

Why Bring That Up?

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I read in the Tuesday morning Times, Part II, Col. 7, assailing former members of the German army with an insult, which French war hatred and propaganda bestowed upon the German soldier during the war. Perhaps the person who wrote that certain article used that word, "Boche," in his blessed ignorance. I always thought you were a clean-cut paper with high esteem. Then why insult a people who have given and yet give the world much progress and civilization?

HERBERT REENTS.

He Is For Orthodoxy

GLENDALE, May 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I sure enjoyed your level-headed article on Freud. Wish some of you sane thinkers could give us one on that Swami philosopher who is holding forth at Ojai.

It doesn't seem to me any of the advanced philosophies take the place of the sanity of the old orthodox religion.

W. H. STACY.

MEMORY CAMERAS

Instead of saying, "What a good memory my friend has!" we shall probably remark, "What an excellent mental electric photography equipment he has," according to the surgeon, Dr. George White, who believes that memory is nothing more or less than "pictures" electrically developed on the white matter of the brain through chemical action of sense impressions. If this is true, what a rogues' gallery most of us possess on those same white brain cells!

Tragedy Ends Marital Feud of Long Standing

Crash of Auto By Woman Started Fatal Row

Two Shots Draw Neighbor Who Finds Bodies

Domestic feud of long standing, according to neighbors, yesterday reached its climax in a dual tragedy in which David G. Borst, 70 years of age, shot and killed his 64-year-old wife Anna, 64, and then sent a bullet into his own brain.

The shooting took place at their home, 109 South Alexandria avenue, shortly before 10 a.m.

Although they had continued to live in the same house, neither had spoken to the other for more than a year, according to neighbors. The husband maintained living quarters in the rear and the wife's apartment was as remotely situated as the ends of the structure would permit.

HUSBAND LEAVES NOTE

A pencilled, unfinished note, apparently written by the husband a few minutes before the shooting, furnishes their only clew as to motive. This was found by Detective Lieutenants Robertson and Kelley of the Wilshire homicide squad when they responded to frantic calls from neighbors who had heard the shots. The note indicated financial differences were responsible for the tragedy, although it is scarcely intelligible.

R. B. Ahern, who lives at 115 South Alexandria avenue, next to the Borst home, told the detectives that both Mr. and Mrs. Borst were in the yard only a few minutes before the shooting. This was about 9:45 o'clock, he said. Scarcely had they entered the house when heavy shots fired in rapid succession, rushing into the house, he found the wife lying face downward on the kitchen floor and Borst slumped down in the corner, only a few feet away. Both were dead.

Police believe the wife's body was passing through her right breast as the other entering her heart. The shot that killed Borst entered his left temple. The pistol, a new one which had been bought for the purpose, was still in his right hand.

WE HOLDS CHECK

They were married in 1912, Ahern said, and apparently in comfortable circumstances. Their marital existence, however, was marred by frequent and violent quarrels almost from the start of it. Police had been called to the home on numerous occasions, detectives declared, to settle disturbances.

Several months ago Mrs. Borst sued for divorce and the action was pending at the time of the tragedy. The husband's farewell note indicated that each had children by a previous marriage and that this was another reason for their quarrels.

A check for the dead woman's hand was found to check for $500, said to have been received in payment for property she had sold only an hour or so before she was killed. Detectives expressed belief that a recent quarrel was precipitated by the check.

Method of Raising Funds for Monte Vista Addition Being Considered

Conferences are being held by Councilman Randall and members of the Sunland Improvement Association on some method of raising funds for the purchase of thirty-eight acres of oak-covered land as an addition to Monte Vista Park, and when the plans are completed they will be presented to the Park Board for approval.

Several petitions for purchase of the land at approximately $200,000 have been presented to the City Council and referred to Randall, who believes that it should be included on the ballot in the November election under a city-wide bond issue, or under the 1927 act providing for a district bond issue with forty years to retire the bonds.

The Park Board is heartily in favor of the purchase on the ground that the tract is one of the most valuable in the Southland for park purposes because of the number and size of the oak trees in the area.

Purchase for $1,000,000 of the Cochise Rock Drill Manufacturing Company, 6200 Slauson avenue, by the $20,000,000 Independent Pneumatic Tool Company of Chicago was announced yesterday by Neil C. Hurley, chairman of the executive committee of the latter organization. He added that, under the new control, the minimum working force will be doubled to 200 high-class mechanics and that their Los Angeles-made tools will be distributed throughout the world.

Hurley announced that henceforth Los Angeles rock drills will be manufactured not only for mining operations but for excavation work of all sorts. The Independent Pneumatic Tool Company maintains offices in the principal distributing centers of the world. In addition to the manufacture of rock drills for world-wide use Hurley said that his company hopes to increase the Los Angeles plant by the manufacture here of other pneumatic and electric tools for the Coast and oriental distribution.

The deal for the acquisition of the Cochise company was handled by Security-First National Bank. Hurley said that the new control will retain in their previous capacities Charles Hultquist, president, and Thomas D. Lindsay, secretary and treasurer, of the acquired company, while Vernon Job, Coast manager of the Independent Pneumatic Tool Company, will be vice-president and general manager of the Cochise organization.

Ralph S. Cooper is president of the Independent Pneumatic Tool Company, which has its plant at Aurora, Ill. This marks this company's start in manufacturing rock drills and other mining machinery.

SAN DIEGO AIR MAIL LAUNCHED

Thirty Thousand Letters Comprise First Load from Southern City

Each bearing the mark of the special government-authorized cachet, or rubber-stamp, designed for first flights, approximately 30,000 letters arrived here last evening from San Diego via Western Air Express, constituting the first load of air mail ever to leave that city actually by air. The estimate was telegraphed to Western Air Express officials by Postmaster Dort of San Diego.

The letters reached Western Air Express field on Valley Boulevard aboard one of the regularly scheduled passenger ships at 6:15 o'clock and were transferred to the waiting night mail plane, which hopped off with them at 7 p.m. for the East, via Salt Lake City.

Air mail service between Los Angeles and San Diego was inaugurated earlier in the day with the delivery of westbound mail at the southern city by plane at 5:30 a.m. Included in this delivery were some 7000 letters received for mailing by Western Air Express with the request that they be specially cacheted. The transport company provided a stamp for this purpose.

Bullet-Pierced Picture of Star Found in Mexico

Paxson C. Hayes, explorer, went to Mexico recently to obtain a specimen of the glider snake, but came back instead with a bullet-pierced picture of Nancy Carroll, screen actress. He told about it yesterday when he presented the photograph to Miss Carroll as a memento of the expendition.

The explorer found the picture in Lencho, Sonora, stronghold of the Yaqui Indians. It had been clipped from a Spanish motion-picture magazine and pasted to the adobe wall of a house. Then came a savage raid and the village was laid in ruins and deserted. That was two years ago, Hayes estimates, since which the bullet-torn portrait remained in place.

CITY HEADS TAKE TIME OUT

Official Family Disports in Hills

Cares of State Forgot

Councilmen Thomas Williams (left) and Charles A. Holland are here shown in a torrid game of "tin-can golf," played with croquet balls and mallets over the mountain slopes of the city's popular summer camp in the San Bernardino Mountains.

HEADED by four City Councilmen, Los Angeles officials and their families gave Camp Radford, the Los Angeles municipal playground in the San Bernardino Mountains, a "house-warming" in a three-day outing concluding yesterday under the direction of the City Playground and Recreation Department.

As a combined inspection tour and frolic prior to the opening of the regular summer season at Camp Radford on the 19th inst., the outing provided an opportunity for the 160 officials to try out the various outdoor sports and activities offered by the popular vacation playground.

Councilmen Holland, Williams, Lewis and McAllister, who together with their families were guests of honor, entered into the activities with plenty of vim and will carry sunburned noses and necks into the Council chamber today as emblems of their vigorous exertions. The Councilmen took with especial delight to "tin-can golf," played with croquet balls and mallets, and for hours followed the course between pine trees, across mountain brooks and around boulders and other obstacles.

ALTITUDE MARK SET BY WOMAN

Bobby Trout Ascends to 15,200 Feet In Test at Grand Central Terminal

Another altitude record was broken by Bobby Trout at the Grand Central Air Terminal yesterday, when instruments on her plane, which approximately was altitude of 15,200 feet in a cabin trade, which approximately was 2000 feet higher than any other woman had flown in a similar type ship.

Miss Trout's plane was similar to the St. Louis Robin, and was built by the Curtiss Aircraft Corporation. In aviation circles it is known as a model OX-5 motor Curtiss Robin. The feat had not been contemplated by Miss Trout, although her plane had been equipped with an official barograph by airport officials. The previous record held by a woman had officially been fixed at 12,747 feet. Miss Trout's record will be ascertained officially when the barograph is examined by Department of Commerce inspectors.

One of the features of the "air show," given to almost 25,000 persons at the airport, was a "crop dusting" experiment, tested out by Pilot Craig Bingham. In a small Curtiss plane he demonstrated how 400 acres of orchards or land could be sprayed with insect powder in one hour. His plane, however, sprayed harmless lime dust, but the efficiency of the experiment impressed those watching it.

Rex Finney, parachute jumper, thrilled the crowd with "jumps" in which he did not open his parachute until within a few hundred feet of the ground.

Death Takes Octogenarian and Pioneer

Mrs. Emily W. Davis, Southland pioneer and widow of Supervisor Alonzo E. Davis, died yesterday after a lingering illness, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. J. Strothard White, 645 South Euclid avenue, Pasadena. She was 80 years of age.

Mrs. Davis was born in Springfield, Ill., and came to California when she was 4. With the exception of a few years in Arizona she spent the remainder of her life in this state. She married Alonso E. Davis in Los Angeles in 1868. About eighteen years ago the couple removed their residence to Pasadena, where Mr. Davis died in 1915. Mrs. Davis was a member of the Pioneers' Society, Stanton Post Women's Relief Corps, Order of the Eastern Star of Pasadena, and the Pasadena Presbyterian Church.

Besides Mrs. White, Mrs. Davis leaves two other daughters, Mrs. J. W. McKellar of 1326 West Twenty-ninth street, and Mrs. Rae G. Van Cleve, wife of the principal of Fairfax High School, and one son, Francis E. Davis of Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the R. C. Dellenbaugh Mortuary, 630 Venice Boulevard. Interment will be in Rosedale Cemetery.

MOTHER LOSES CUSTODY

Love letters written to Mrs. Josephine Ferguson by a boarder in her home lost her the custody of her two children when she appeared in Superior Judge Guerin's Alimony Court, preparatory to the trial of her divorce suit. Mrs. Ferguson denied that she loved the man who wrote the letters. "If he loves me, I can't help it," said the woman. "I love my children and them only." Despite this testimony, Judge Guerin held that Mrs. Ferguson was not a proper person to care for her children and ordered them to be cared for by Richard B. Ferguson, their father.

Partnership Dissolved by Scott Brothers

Dissolution of the partnership of Scott Brothers, clothiers of 719-731 South Hill street, is announced by Fred P. Scott, one of the brothers. For some months, Scott stated, Thomas E. Scott, the other brother, has expressed the wish to retire from active participation in the business in order to devote more time to outside interests. A cash transaction last week made this possible. The actual dissolution will be signalized by a special sale in the near future.

The Scott brothers' partnership has endured for thirty years, the firm being among the oldest of its kind in the city. Henceforth the business will be maintained alone by Fred P. Scott.

EYE ATTRACTED IN MUSIC FILM

"Bride of Regiment" Allures Pictorially

Color Feature Has Operetta Garniture at Warner's

Vivienne Segal, Allan Prior, Others in Cast

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The Italian countess is at the mercy of the invading Austrian troops. They have captured her newly wedded husband, and expect to shoot him on the morrow. Col. Vultow is in command and he suggests that there may be a way to avoid the execution—if the wife . . . but then it is a great satisfaction to know that in operettas, whether of stage or screen, the plots really don't matter.

And so if you are merely seeking the glitter of photography and setting, and the radiance of costumes, garnished with solos and choruses you may find "Bride of the Regiment" now showing at Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater very acceptable. I cannot give it any intense recommendations for its story, but I can duly aver that it has been lavishly produced, and enticingly presented in respect to its ornamentation.

"Bride of the Regiment" is an adaptation of "The Lady in Ermine" by Rudolph Schanzer and Ernest Welisch and several years ago served in silent form as a starring picture for Corinne Griffith.

The new presentation of the story features Vivienne Segal, Allan Prior, Walter Pidgeon in the leading roles, while Louise Fasenda, Ford Sterling and Lupino Lane are present for the comedy. One can well add to this roster the beateous Myrna Loy, who, as it happens, it the most magnetic of the various screen presences.

John Francis Dillon directed the feature, and it retains, I should say, the character of many continental European musical shows. It is unfortunate that these particular attractions do not always rise above a certain dullness and unreality, and I fear that "Brides of the Regiment" suffers somewhat on this account.

It is the good old "Tosca" plot that is represented with the single variation that there is no knifing of the exacting Scarpia in this instance. Instead the price of the husband's freedom is paid by an ancestor of the heroine's who had guaranteed the protection of her beautiful descendants.

Mariana, the heroine, appeals to the picture of this great lady of other days for aid in her rather distressed situation, and the painting subsequently comes to life, or at least seems to do so in the dream of the officer, Col. Vultow.

You may gather from this brief description that the story of "Bride of the Regiment" is a very fantastic one—so fantastic, indeed, that some may even term it subtle. Those who wish to may even find elements of piquancy in the denouement, and whosoever can view it in this particular light will doubtless consider the "Bride of the Regiment" rather diverting. I am afraid it is that at times, anyway, rather unconsciously.

The real entertainers of the film are those concerned with the comedy, including Lane, Miss Fasenda and Sterling. Of the three, I believe Sterling has the most consistent opportunities, and is the most genuinely amusing. However, the dancing lesson which Lane gives to Miss Fasenda is an engaging bit of humor, and Lane's falls and clowning seem always to inspire laughter.

There are comparatively few striking musical numbers in the picture, and the best song, all in all, is the one rendered by Allan Prior when he is disguised as a wandering minstrel during the banquet scene.

The color photography and the other pictorial embellishments are the greatest source of popular interest in "Bride of the Regiment." The picture really has been most effectively and attractively produced from a scenic standpoint. Also the performances by Miss Segal, Pidgeon and Prior are all suitably done in the much high-lighted manner that is required, doubtless, by operetta conventions. Miss Segal and Pidgeon prove their capabilities also in their very infrequent vocal efforts. Claude Flemming in a minor portrayal does efficient service. In eye allure "Bride of the Regiment" has considerable to offer, that being easily its strongest point of itnerest.

MURDER "OUTS" AGAIN

"Whispering Gallery" Provides Spooky Atmosphere at the President

BY E. S.

The little girl seated next to us hid her head beneath her coat most of the time that "Whispering Gallery" was going on—so I take it that this new arrival among the mystery plays is not going to be wanting in thrills for its audiences. There was further evidence that these spooky affairs never miss to be found in the cries and gasps of those who attended the giving of this play yesterday afternoon and evening at the President Theater. They were to be heard whenever a spectral hand rustled a curtain or opened a door, or whenever the stage went dark and a phosphorescent semblance of a face and arms fantastically moved about among hysterically shrieking characters in the plot.

"Whispering Gallery" is really just another fear-teaser, and there have been a lot of them. It has a prologue and three acts, and there is one murder done during the unfoldment of the story with a knife.

The background is the bleak one of Cornwall, England, in an old family home located on a cliff above the sea. A gruesome beginning wherein it is brought out that a certain Martin Condell has strangled his wife paves the way for the events that follow "twenty years later."

The murder of the prologue happens before the curtain goes up; so it matters only incidentally. The one that figures in the plot occurs at the end of the first act. And the rest of the time is spent discovering who did it, and what connection the crime has with weird whisperings heard from a gallery hung with oil paintings overlooking the scene of the grim tragedy.

"Whispering Gallery" is much more talkative than mystery thrillers have a right to be, and there are resemblances in the story to the good old "House of a Thousand Candles" days, but if you really like to shiver over an unseen stage menace, as seems to be the wont of many, then, no doubt, it will not disappoint.

Most prominently cast are Evan Thomas, who rather delights with his comedy, Flora Bramley, Joseph De Stefani, James Burtis and Lulu Mae Hubbard. Others who have considerable to do with making the play interesting are Irving Mitchell, Victor Rodman, Helen Keers, Paul McGrath and James Durkin. Burtis is very amusing in an impersonation of a colored servant imported from America. Miss Bramley invests her role with personality, though it is not of great import. Miss Keers is also pleasing. De Stefani has perhaps the most to do, and qualifies.

ELLIS CLUB GIVES PLEASING CONCERT

Musical Organization Receives Hearty Applause at Philharmonic

In the concluding concert of their forty-second season, members of the Ellis Club triumphed before an audience that was unusually large and appreciative at the Philharmonic Auditorium last week.

After practically every number sung by the chorus the audience insisted upon an encore to which the singers graciously acceded. A splendid example of fine singing Wednesday evening was in their interpretation of a song by Wagner, "All Praise to God in Light Arrayed." This number received opulence and variety of tone.

"The Desert," a symphonic ode by Felicien David, was given on request. This composition is always given a sympathetic reading by the Ellis Club. Harold Proctor sang the tenor solo part while Hobart Bosworth read the recitatives. The atmosphere of the desert was carefully delineated by the chorus with an orchestral accompaniment that was hauntingly beautiful. Members of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra played in the orchestra.

The assisting artist was William Heughan, whose bass voice is especially well suited to the concert stage. It is a musical bass with a wide range. In his native Scotch uniform ease of manner, Mr. Heughan pleased his audience with "She Alone Charmeth My Sadness" from Gounod's opera "Irene," "The Song of the Flea," by Moussorgsky, and an old Scottish ballad arranged by Sayer, "Standard on the Brase of Mar."

The closing number, Strauss's "Beautiful Blue Danube," another request, was sung to the accompaniment of the orchestra. This composition always pleases especially when sung with the artistry that it received by the Ellis Club members. Mrs. Hennion Robinson, the club accompanist, shared honors with the others for her facile technique and restraint.

BEN BERNIE WILL PLAY AT LOEW'S

Noted Orchestra Booked for Engagement; Double Program Promised

With Ben Bernie and an augmented band of forty pieces announced as an added attraction, a double program of footlight entertainment is promised, starting Thursday at Loew's State.

Bernie, who is internationally noted for his smart brand of humor and peppy music, has recently completed a tour of Europe and a headline engagement at the Palace Theater in New York. He has gained the reputation of being one of the most entertaining masters of ceremonies and recording artists.

Fanchon and Marco announce that in addition to Bernie and the band they will present a new stage idea, "Seeing Double." Warner Baxter in his sequel to "In Old Arizona" is the current screen attraction.

"HIGH SOCIETY BLUES" COMING TO PALACE

Co-starring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, "High Society Blues" will run for a week at the Fox Palace Theater, starting Wednesday. It replaces "Devil May Care." Bill Sharples, aided by Rita Bell and "his gang," personally will appear on the Palace stage at tonight's showing of the Novarro picture in an informal presentation.

English Cast Will Proffer 'Philanderer'

After dividing a week between Milne and Wilde at the Mason Theater, Maurice Colbourne and Barry Jones will return tonight to Bernard Shaw and present for the first time in this country, outside of New York, his most discussed "unpleasant play," "The Philanderer."

As the prime object of Cupid's most pointed darts, Barry Jones has the best light comedy role in which he has appeared during the engagement. Maurice Colbourne, who staged the play, will play a distinctly different type of part from those he has so far done.

Hilda Case, who scored in "Arms and the Man," has even more opportunities in tonight's offering, it is said.

MOSCOVITCH TO APPEAR AT BELASCO

Noted Player Presents "Outsider" Here Tonight for First Time

Although Maurice Moscovitch has been hailed as one of the world's foremost actors, local theater-goers will have their first glimpse of him tonight when he starts a limited engagement at the Belasco Theater in "The Outsider," by Dorothy Brandon.

For the Belasco engagement Moscovitch has surrounded himself with a strong cast. Betty Ross Clarke is the leading woman, and others in the cast are Richie Ling, Arthur Metcalf, Geoffrey Wardell, Eric North, Patricia Morris, Peter Richmond, Brenda Forbes and Frederick Harrington.

The play was staged by Arthur Greville Collins, who was associated with the star in England. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees during the two weeks' run.

ALEXANDER LIGHT PRESENTS PROGRAM

Alexander Light, Shakespearean actor, presented his vaudeville a la Shakespeare yesterday afternoon at the Ambassador Theater, assisted by his Louisinian Repertoire Company. Included were scenes and acts from "Hamlet," "Merchant of Venice" and "Macbeth."

Light opened the program with the third scene of the first act of "Merchant of Venice" in the part of Shylock. Clara Knight was then presented as Lady Macbeth in the letter scene. Miss Helen Hardman appeared as Queen Gertrude. The players were well received.

The mercy speech in "Merchant of Venice" was offered by Grace White and Alexander Light closed the program with the play in a play from "Hamlet." Helen La Fontaine portrayed Ophelia and Joseph Adrian essayed the role of King Claudius. Charles Moore appeared as Polonius.

The company will be seen in four matinees, tomorrow, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

THE Belasco Theater is a pretty busy place today, what with an opening tonight, another one in Santa Barbara a week from tonight—en route here—and Ina Claire's "Rebound" still to get into rehearsal.

Tonight's premiere is that of Maurice Moscovitch, grand old English actor, in "The Outsider," Dorothy Brandon's play. The occasion should be a brilliant one, inasmuch as it is the first time this distinguished performer has ever appeared upon the Pacific Coast.

The opening in Santa Barbara next Monday is that of "Caprice," in which the glamorous Miss Fay Bainter returns to these parts. The play stays two nights in Santa Barbara, arriving here on Monday, the 16th inst. A. Leslie Pearce has been directing and staging it.

The cast includes, besides Miss Bainter and Reginald Owen, who is playing the masculine lead, an 18-year-old boy by the name of David Scott; Fred Sullivan, Lily Cahill and Gladys McConnell.

According to no less an authority than Mr. Edward Belasco, in person, the boy Scott should be a sensation. Mr. Belasco seems to think that he is one of the finest youthful actors to appear hereabouts in many a day.

Cornelius Keefe in Cast

Cornelius Keefe, an actor quite well known about town, is the latest addition to the "Molly Magdalene" cast. This is the Crane Wilbur play coming to the Mayan after "Decency." Wynne Gibson has the feminine lead. There is talk of importing the male lead from New York, although Al Rosen, who is presenting the play, is pretty mysterious about who this will be and if he can be imported.

"Hi There" Not Coming

After all our cheerful conversation about "Hi There," it seems now that it isn't coming to town at all. "Hi There" is the new musical revue staged by Alexander Leftwich for Paul Bissinger in San Francisco. It didn't click at the box office and the took it off last week, despite the fact that it was generally liked by the critics.

"Journey's End" Men Back

Hugh Williams, who played the young captain, and Harvey Forrester, seen as Trotter, the comic, in the "Journey's End" company here in February, are back in town after trouping it across the Middle West. The show closed in Freeport, Ill., a couple of weeks ago after jumping from California to Denver and through some of the prairie States. According to Forrester, it drew excellent audiences everywhere, and could have gone on indefinitely.

Lew Cantor Arriving With Plans

Mr. Lew Cantor, who produces shows in New York, is headed for the west coast with big plans, according to a bulletin to this desk last night. He is coming to Hollywood sometime this week to negotiate with Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor for the leading roles in a musical comedy, "Nearer the Rainbow," scheduled for next season. And while here, he is thinking seriously of staging "Soldiers and Women," "Many a Slip" and "Mendel, Inc.," his three productions of this past season in the East.

"A Man's Man" Cast

Here's the complete cast for "A Man's Man," arriving at the Figueroa Playhouse Thursday evening: Patsy Ruth Miller, Dwight Frye, Mae Busch (as already announced) and Arthur Rankin, Vera Lewis, Frank Dawson, Harold Kinney and Boyd Agin. George Sherwood, who is staging, will also play a part.

Notes from New York

The engagement of Earl Carroll's "Sketchbook," which had been announced to end on Saturday night, will be continued until the 14th inst. at Chanin's Forty-sixth-street Theater. "Once In a Lifetime," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, will open tonight at the Brighton Theater, Brighton Beach. After this week the play will close for the summer and reopen in New York in the fall.

The new "Artists and Models" in what is now called the Paris Riviera edition, will begin its Atlantic City tryout engagement tonight. The New York premiere is scheduled for the 9th inst. at the Majestic.

OPENING OF THEATER TO BE EVENT

New Pantages Hollywood House Joins Local Rialto on Wednesday

Wednesday night the new Pantages Hollywood Theater will be opened. Reservations for the event are exceptionally heavy, it is reported.

Neither pains nor expense has been spared in assembling an entertainment of wide scope, according to an announcement, and the screen and stage programs have been planned in a pretentious manner.

The dedicatory performance will be handled by Eddie Cantor, who will be the general master of ceremonies for the entire evening. On the screen the feature attraction which will christen the new theater will be "The Florodora Girl." Fanchon and Marco's specially created idea, "Rosegarden," will be another feature of the program. Slim Martin with his orchestra will provide the musical portion. There will be only one performance on the opening night.

SERMON ON MOUNT CALLED ROYAL ROUTE TO PEACE

Dr. Woellner Declares World Goes Toward Great Plan Despite Little Side Eddies

Declaring that human beings are incurably religious, Dr. Frederick P. Woellner, in his sermon at Temple Baptist Church yesterday said that in every normal person there exists a divine urge, moving him to higher levels of thought and action.

"Buddhists, Mohammedans, Christians, all are looking toward God, climbing the 'delectable mountain' toward immortality, truth and brotherhood," said Dr. Woellner. "The Christian is most successful because he follows the path of the only one who ever reached the summit. Jesus blazed the only trail that the wayfarer can trust. In the sermon on the Mount, one finds the royal route to the highlands of the mind. Here is a plan that sets the objectives and energizes one to move in their direction. Through the flashes of His genius, one sees the peaks arising in majesty and hears the challenging reverberations in definite form.

"If one desires happiness, peace, poise and progress one should study and apply the great sermon of Jesus. After one tries everything else, one may attempt this way of living. It is the only one that assures individual and social salvation. And the remarkable thing about it is this—it is gaining ground the world over. The general tendency the world over, in spite of little side eddies, is toward the great plan and the Great Planner."

PENTECOST DISCUSSED AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

"Marks of the Spirit" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. J. George Dorn at Hollywood Lutheran Church. Dr. Dorn said in part: "All churches are preparing for the 1900th observance of Pentecost next Sunday. Pentecost marks the birthday of the church. Such a commemoration has no precedent in history. The fact that such an observance emerges for the first time is in itself significant. It spells the interest of the church in its own historic past. We might well raise the question asked of John's Disciples in Ephesus, 'Did ye receive the Holy Ghost?' In the words of these men, many today would answer, 'We have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost.' It was a strange confession to make, and yet I am afraid it is not far short of the truth about many in our churches today. There are many who know nothing of this experience and do not wish to know."

EVIDENCE CITED ON CHRISTIANITY VALUE

"No book can be compared to the Bible because it is the only book that has withstood the attacks of time," declared Dr. John M. Baxter in his sermon yesterday at Rosewood Methodist Church. "We believe in Christianity because of its divine source. The Bible is a work of absolute authority in religion and morals. We believe in Christianity because of its advocates. Jesus Christ came to bring life and immortality. Our churches today contain the germ of civilization. The ministry has no cause to be ashamed of its quality. The missionaries demonstrate their sincerity by their self denial, while the entire company of Christians furnish an example of conversion unlike the products of heathen superstition. The mission of Christianity furnishes a reason for believing in it. Its mission is to save from sin, with all involved therein. We have faith in Christianity on account of its conflicts. Not all the armies of earthly empires have faced so great a variety of vicious foes. Its founder was rejected by men. We believe in Christianity because of its past, present and future. The past is not as dark as the future is bright. We have no reason to take other than a hopeful view, for the God from whom our faith has come will continue to lead on to victory."

HUMAN SOUL CALLED "THE DIVINE NOMAD"

"The Soul of Lamaism," was discussed yesterday by Bramacharee Nerode in his sermon at Mt. Washington Center. The speaker said in part: "Lamaism has been hailed as an 'esoteric Buddhism' on the other hand and as a 'nonsensical imposture' on the other. It is the indigenous faith of Tibet, clothed in the philosophic and ceremonial garb of Hinduism and Mahayana Buddhism. Lamaism is derived from the word 'Lama' or a 'superior person.' Like every other faith, Lamaism emulates the moral and spiritual leadership of a perfected man. All misunderstanding regarding this monkish faith is due to its elaborate symbolism of rituals which represent the various religious experiences of the people, whereby subjective ideas are portrayed in objective symbols. As, for example, its prayer-wheel is the wheel of life, operating the law of karma or evolution for the freedom of the soul which is an eternal, divine nomad in man, passing from life to life. The seven water bowls are seven planes of human consciousness. Therefore, the soul of Lamaism is the soul of the Infinite, which it tries to unveil by its multifarious religious practices."

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DENOUNCE MESMERISM

Hypnotism and mesmerism were denounced yesterday in the Lesson-Sermon at all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. One of the Scripture selections included the following verses from Paul's second epistle to Timothy: "This know also, that in the last days, perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their ownselves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy—traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof; from such turn away. . . . But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them, and that from a child thou hast known the holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus." A passage from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, contained these statements: "This material world is even now becoming the arena for conflicting forces. . . . These disturbances will continue until the end of error, when all discord will be swallowed up in spiritual Truth."

PUBLIC TOO GULLIBLE, SAYS DR. BRUCE BROWN

"The Gullible Public" is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. Bruce Brown at South Park Christian Church, excerpts from the discourse follow: "The most discouraging thing in trying to better conditions is the gullibility of people in accepting whatever the loudest yeller says. Here are some self-evident falsehoods that people blindly accept in the face of all experience and reason: 'The crime wave is caused by prohibition.' Anybody knows that if the saloons were opened it would be throwing kerosene on the fire. 'Nobody wants the return of the open saloon.' If the places where wine and beer would be sold would not be saloons, what would they be? 'The modification of prohibition would bring respect for law.' What gibberish! There never was a law that liquor dealers respected."

MINISTER CRITICISES CHRISTIAN CHURCHES

"The church never has made any serious attempt to live the heart of the teachings of Jesus," declared Dr. Sheldon Shepard in his sermon yesterday at First Universalist Church. "When the church makes mention of the most important teachings of Jesus, it usually is to explain that they do not mean what they say," said Dr. Shepard. "We have strained at gnats and swallowed camels. We have either tarried around the campfires of morality and decency, where all wholesome social forces operate, or have wandered out into the jungles of doctrinal arguments which always do more harm than good. Theological squabbles are little counterparts of war; they always destroy more than they gain. No matter who wins, both lose."

DINNER POSTPONED

Postponement of the dinner to have been given on Thursday evening for Harold B. Franklin, president of the Fox West Coast Theaters, under the sponsorship of a citizen's committee in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce, was announced yesterday by F. L. S. Harman, assistant secretary of the chamber. The dinner was called off due to the fact that Mr. Franklin has been called away from the city, the postponement announcement states.

PLEA ON BANNER BAN RENEWED

Board of Public Works Asks City Council Again for Change in Order

Although the City Council recently refused to act, the Board of Public Works has renewed its request for an amendment of the ordinance prohibiting banners strung across the streets so that the board may issue permits for such banners in its discretion. The request was referred to the Building and Safety Committee.

The ordinance was adopted some years ago, after the banner stringing had become a nuisance. Banners such as "Welcome to Joe Nokus, Chief Bender of the Pretzel Twisters' Union," and "Elect Bud Phutt, Who Wears Nobody's Collar and Eats With His Knife," caused the passage of the prohibition.

DINNER PLANNED TO JOURNALISTS

European Group to be Guests of Film Academy

The delegation of distinguished European continental journalists visiting Los Angeles as guests of the Carnegie Foundation on a good-will tour of America, will be tendered a banquet by the Academy of Motion-Picture Arts and Sciences on behalf of the motion-picture production industry, Los Angeles publishers and Chamber of Commerce, on the night of the 10th inst. at the Biltmore. The affair will begin with a dinner-dance, to be followed by speaking.

Native Sons and Daughters of the countries represented by the visiting journalists are already actively organizing tables and groups for the occasion. Members of the academy and of the motion-picture industry will be represented at the dinner by leading stars, producers, directors, writers, technical experts and others of all nationalities engaged in motion-picture production in this district.

The dinner is the principal function of the program being carried out by the publishers and the chamber who are host to the journalists during their three-day visit in Los Angeles.

The committee of arrangements for the academy dinner is headed by Harry Rapf.

NEW TRAIN SCHEDULE APPLAUDED

Santa Fe Cuts Two Hours from Chicago-Coast Time; Other Lines Reduce Time

Apropos of the reduction to fifty-six hours in the running time of the Santa Fe Chief, Mayor Porter in a telegram to Mayor Thompson of Chicago yesterday declared the time saving marks a new era in transportation between East and West which will be mutually beneficial to commercial and industrial progress. He added that "Los Angeles takes pride in knowing that the Santa Fe has brought it two hours closer to Chicago."

John C. Austin, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, also dispatched a congratulatory wire to Chicago's chief executive. Austin, too, characterized the innovation as a "distinctly forward step in the progress of our great country."

The new fifty-six-hour schedule of the Chief was inaugurated yesterday, and, beginning today, the Los Angeles Limited of the Union Pacific System will arrive forty minutes ahead of the previous schedule, reaching here at 8:30 instead of 9:10 a.m. Also, beginning today, the same company's Gold Coast Limited will leave at 8:30 a.m., eastbound, instead of 9 a.m., arriving at 7:15 instead of 7:30 p.m.

Beginning the 15th inst., the Southern Pacific Company will reduce the running times of its crack trains, the Golden State Limited and the Apache, as previously announced.

Mathematics Whiz Stumped by Small Sum

Brian O. Sparks

As a "math. shark" Brian O. Sparks, youthful sophomore at the University of California at Los Angeles, was so good that he won the prize awarded by Pi Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematics fraternity, but as to the proper disposition of the prize—a $10 gold piece—he admits the problem is not so easy of solution.

This is one $10 gold piece that probably will not be spent for some time, for Sparks thinks he will frame it, he said, despite the importunings of bosom classmates to "throw a party" with it.

The prize was awarded to Sparks because of his outstanding work in calculus for one year and one-half. His winning of the prize is the subject of more than passing comment at the university because of his youth and because the award usually goes to a student majoring in mathematics. Sparks is majoring in chemistry and civics. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Sparks of 2010 Eighth avenue.

FUNERAL OF KUEHNY SET FOR TODAY

Obsequies for Principal of Sentous Junior High Under Masonic Auspices

Funeral services will be conducted under Masonic auspices at Scovern's mortuary, 838 South Brand Boulevard, Glendale, at 4 p.m. today for Menno S. Kuehny, principal of Sentous Junior High School, who died Saturday following an operation at Windsor Hospital, Glendale. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Kuehny, who was 49 years of age, came to Los Angeles in 1903 from Halstead, Kan., his birthplace. He served two terms as president of the Los Angeles Elementary Principals' Club and was widely known in educational circles, having been principal of Rowan-avenue school, East First-street school and others. He was a member of the Downey Lodge of Masons and of the Los Angeles Masonic Club. His residence was at 5729 Harold Way, Hollywood.

Mr. Kuehny leaves his widow, Mrs. Belle Kuehny, his mother, Mrs. S. Kuehny of Alta Loma, two daughters, Mrs. Phyllis Anderson and Miss Gretchen Kuehny, and two sisters, Mrs. Augustus Ledig of Alta Loma and Mrs. E. B. Brown of Glendale.

WOMAN'S SOBS FAIL TO IMPRESS COURT

When Mrs. Hazel E. Eckblom Cummings bowed her head and sobbed, when she was asking for custody of her daughter in Superior Judge Guerin's court, the judge decided she was too emotional to train a child, and allowed William Eckblom, the child's foster father, to retain custody of Betty Lou, 8 years of age. Mrs. Cummings has had a series of matrimonial experiences, local court records reveal. She married Robert Cummings in 1909, divorced him in 1913, and thereafter married Eckblom. Then she divorced Eckblom, having meanwhile adopted Betty Lou, and two years later in 1929, she married Cummings. Eckblom, with Betty Lou in his custody, married again, and Mrs. Cummings has twice attempted to regain the child. She has failed both times.

Catholic Chant Will be Sung by 1600 Children

The voices of 1600 children will join in a chant of the music of the early Catholic Church this morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Vibiana's Cathedral when Bishop John J. Cantwell will open a musical convention of the churches of his diocese.

In a statement issued yesterday Bishop Cantwell said the convention will afford the first opportunity for the rendition of the Gregorian plain chant and is a move to popularize the singing of ancient music in Catholic churches.

The program this morning at St. Vibiana's Cathedral will include the singing of chants by alternating choirs of the parochial schools of Los Angeles and will be continued at the Catholic Girls' High School today and tomorrow.

EDUCATION AND MUSIC

This applies with equal force to educating the listener-in of the beauties of classical and semiclassical music and song. Thousands who thought Brahms, Mozart, Gounod and Mendelssohn were foreign entries in a marathon have learned what masters of music they are. In the field of literature the plays of Theen, Shakespeare and others through the repertory theaters of the air will do more to bring an appreciation of drama than the combined efforts of theaters and books.

KHJ, at 12:45 o'clock, offers the United States Navy Band in favorite navy selections. Lieut. Charles Benter will direct. At 4 this afternoon, the Viennese Quartet will be heard in forty minutes of delightful chamber music. Jesse Crawford, Columbia's premier organist, at 6:30 tonight, features a program of organ selections including Franz Schubert's "Schubertiana." "Under a Texas noon" and "The Woman in the Shoe" will also be rendered. At 8 tonight, KFRC brings its Blue Monday Jamboree in with a bang. It will broadcast the combined musical organizations of the University of Southern California in celebration of the school's fiftieth birthday anniversary. The University Orchestra directed by Alexander Stuart, opens with the "Orpheus Overture" and "Finlandia." A Hawaiian duo by the U.S.C. Women's Glee Club, Harold Roberts's Trojan Band, xylophone and vibroharp novelties and a medley of college marching songs by the glee clubs and Trojan band will be peppy high lights.

OVER OTHER STATIONS

Mozart's Overture from the Marriage of Figaro, Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Woods" and "Serenade for Strings" by Pierne will also be included. At 7:30 tonight the Purcell Mayer Trio, with Blanche Crossman, contralto, will hold your dial with songs and compositions by Cadman, Schubert and Gounod, while 9 o'clock brings Soiree Intime with Virginia Flohri, soprano, Duci De Kerekjarto, Lillian Ariel and Robert Hurd in an hour and a half of sonatas, arias and pieces by Corelli Hahn, Chaminade, Leoncavallo and others.

RAW FACES COURT FOR PLEA TODAY

Self-Styled "Swami" to Answer to Six Counts in Criminal Complaints

Ban Tappa Raw, self-styled "swami," today is to appear before Superior Judge Wood for arraignment under two complaints, one charging five counts of grand theft and the other violation of a morals law.

The complaints were brought by Mrs. Herbert Allerhand, university student, of 2936 Ocean Front street, Ocean Park, who asserts that Raw obtained approximately $5400 from her after she made his acquaintance at a fortune-telling seance. Mrs. Allerhand also accuses the seer of attacking her.

Raw lost most of his clothing while appearing at the preliminary hearing of charges against him in Municipal Court, he testified before Municipal Judge Ballard. He told the court his apartment was burglarized and twelve pairs of bright silk pajamas, eleven suits of clothes and fifteen silk shirts were taken.

Following Raw's testimony Judge Ballard ordered Jim Pope, 30-year-old Negro, held for Superior Court trial on burglary charges under $1000 bail.

Autoist to Face Superior Court

"Black Tony" Zorilla, 1774 East Forty-first street, must face trial by Superior Court on drunk-driving charges, Municipal Judge Turney ordered at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing.

Officer Matt J. Knight testified that he saw Zorilla driving erratically on West Adams street near Hauser Boulevard and that the man refused to pull into the curb until the officer threatened him with his revolver. After stopping, Knight said, Zorilla and two companions assaulted him, but were finally arrested with the aid of Motorcycle Officer Jones of the Culver City force. Zorilla told Knight, the latter said, that he had "been on the firing line before and I'll put you on the firing line and kill the whole force."

Zorilla was drunk when examined, police surgeons declared.

PAVING STEP TAKEN

The ordinance of intention for the paving and improving of Grandee avenue between One Hundred Fourteenth and One Hundred Sixteenth streets has been adopted by the City Council and set for hearing July 8.

Gingell Faces Trial Today on Pair's Murder

Charged with having murdered his wife and her asserted sweetheart in a West Sixth-street apartment on February 21, last, August A. Gingell is scheduled to go to trial today before Superior Judge McComb.

The complaint states that Gingell trailed his wife and Sigurd Bjorneby to an apartment at 1225 West Sixth street and after holding them captive for some time and delivering a lecture shot them both down.

After the shooting, police assert, Gingell left the apartment and surrendered to Officer Hoffman, stating that he had just shot his wife and a man.

TRIAL TO BE SET FOR EX-BANK OFFICIAL

The case of E. J. Young, formerly an official of a bank at Hermosa Beach, accused of misapplication of bank funds, is scheduled to be set for trial today by United States District Judge Cosgrave. He is accused in three indictments. Another man, who was jointly accused in one indictment, was acquitted of the charge.

NEW ORDER BLOCKS STOCK

Another order to discontinue sale of stock of International Consolidated, Ltd., has been issued by the State Corporation Department, according to an announcement made yesterday. The latest order, similar to that issued several days ago to E. H. Cude & Co., brokers of Los Angeles, has been sent to Bruce King & Co., Ltd., of Los Angeles and San Diego.

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

Mrs. Richard O'Neill recently received word of the arrival in New York of her niece, Miss Rowena Selby, and her nephew, Prentiss Selby III, who reported an enjoyable crossing on the steamship Europa after a delightful sojourn in London, Paris and Italian cities.

Mrs. O'Neill's niece and nephew expect to make an indefinite stay in California, visiting relatives in Los Angeles and their grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Prentiss Selby and Miss Florence Selby in Oakland. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Selby, will continue to make their home in Johannesburg, South Africa, where Mr. Selby is the director of a park system.

Honor Guest

One of the lovely affairs of recent date was the bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. Jess Robbins at her home, 2930 Franklin avenue, honoring Miss Dorothy King, who is soon to become the bride of Ward Goin of Seattle, Wash. Yellow and blue spring flowers were effectively used in the decoration of the tables. Among those bidden were the Misses Cordelia Tuttle, Toodles Herriman, Martha Endicott, Lucille Healy and Gene Taylor and Mmes. Robert Cromwell, Frank Rouse, Harold Rhodes, Frank Crissman, James Flanagan, Paul Hill, George J. Kuhrts, Jr., William J. Kendricks, Jr., Walter Shell, Albert Ralphs, Elmer Ralphs, Howard Strassfortas, L. V. Shepard, Harold Wheelton, Rowland Wheelton, Robert Hines, Verne Dumas, Al Wilson, Leroy Chapman, Frank Butler, Duke Wellington, Frederick T. Student Officers to Wed

Coincident with the election of Miss Lucille Huebner to the presidency of the Women's Self-Government Association of the University of Southern California is the announcement of her engagement to Arthur Neelley, president of the senior class of the university. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Huebner of Holtville, and is a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority. Among the other honors she has received on the university campus is election to Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship organization, and the appointment as a representative of Mortar Board, national senior women's organization, to attend the annual convention to be held the latter part of the month in Wisconsin.

Mr. Neelley's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Neelley of Indio. In addition to being senior class president he is the chief officer of Skull and Dagger, senior men's honorary fraternity, and claims membership in Chi Psi, Delta Sigma Pi, Alpha Eta Rho, Sigma Sigma Sigma and Trojan Knights.

SEASONING WITH SALT AND SUGAR SHARPENS APPETITES

Meat and Vegetable Dishes Thus Seasoned Have New Taste-appeal

Tempting the appetite does not necessarily call for the serving of rare delicacies or laboring with difficult recipes. The most simple foods can be made inviting if only their distinctive flavors are emphasized.

The cook who experiments with sugar and salt in seasoning foods will be amazed at the delicious results in vegetables, meat stews and soups. Salt by itself only overcomes flatness. The addition of sugar, however, brings out the flavor as no other ingredient can.

A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is the basic rule for seasoning meat and vegetable dishes. For the sake of convenience many cooks keep a mixture of sugar and salt within reach. Some prefer equal parts—some mix two parts sugar to one of salt, or the reverse.

When food pleases the appetite, there is a keen desire to eat more of it. As a result of this increased consumption the system gets its full requirements of vitamins, minerals, roughage and calories. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) While fashion authorities the world over are discussing the color possibilities for fall, black-and-white continues on its undisputed way. This is the ideal combination which never seems to grow stale. It is dramatic or conservative, according to the way in which it is used. It is becoming to blonds, becoming to brunettes, gay on the young, dignified on the not-so-young. It is slenderizing, flattering to any complexion, suitable for daytime or evening.

From Satin to Organdie

It matters not what the fabric, black-and-white has its place. Black organdie I spoke to you about last week—black organdie with white flowers is the smartest of the smart. White organdie with black touches is younger and very summery. Black-and-white satin is sophisticated and even a little dramatic. Marvelous for the woman with height and poise to carry it. Black-and-white polka dotted linen for the beach. Black-and-white for sports in shantungs, rajah, linen. A distinguished evening dress is of a lovely black Chantilly, coming just to the floor and made over a shorter slip in a black-and-white flower print. A slightly bizarre, but extremely effective afternoon dress is made-over black taffeta, from a heavy, just off-white cotton lace.

One of the most practical and delightful bathing suits of this season is black in a heavy woolen material. It is a French import, made in one piece with a stitched fold around the waist to give the effect of a belt. White metal buckles on the sides of this fold introduce the note of contrast. With a black-and-white beach robe, a white cap and white linen sandals, it will be another triumph for black-and-white.

Accessories Again

Big bags, says Patou, big black bags. He has made one which has been a sensational success, in black antelope or suede with a clear crystal handle, a compromise in shape between a dumb-bell and a curtain rod. Black patent leather bags and shoes are exceptionally successful with the white or black-and-white costume. A satin evening slipper which I recently saw had herringbone lines, woven diagonally in the cloth, and a white vamp and white heel, with a black quarter. It was worn with a delicious printed black-and-white evening frock. This has a quite small leaf pattern printed black on a white ground and a big black sash tying in a bow in the back. Onyx and diamonds are exquisite for jewelry and diamonds worn with black gowns are among the most effective jewels a woman can don. Pearls on black are another subtlety in the black-and-white story.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

The Results of Housecleaning

If your hands are roughened from house cleaning and prove annoying when you try to sew on silk or fine materials, wash them in alum water before starting to sew. It will make them smooth.

Two Covers

A handy article is the extra cover for the ironing board, to be used when pressing clothing and dark materials. It can be left on when the board is put away, thus keeping the inside cover spotless for finer work.

A Little Vanity Is a Good Thing

Encourage children to use the mirror when dressing. One will have a much neater, cleaner child as a result, for it seems one has to prove the fact that sonny's hands and face are dirty and daughter's hair needs attention.

A Home in the Kitchen for Baby

Mother has to be in the kitchen a great deal if she does not keep a maid and when baby is too small to sit up, a cradle for the kitchen solves two problems at once. Get a large carton box and place pillow, bed clothes and baby in it. Then continual running back and forth is avoided and both mother and baby are content.

Permit Given for Celebration

The Park Commission has granted the Westlake Business Association permission to hold its customary Fourth of July celebration, consisting of athletic contests for children, a band concert by the park department, special speakers, with an evening concert and fireworks, at Westlake Park.

Opera Lecture Series Planned

Lectures on the operas which the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association will present this fall are to be given next Friday and on the 20th inst. at the Public Library, David T. Babcock, president of the local music group, announced yesterday. The lectures will be delivered by Gaetano Merola, director-general of both the Los Angeles and San Francisco Grand Opera associations.

The operas to be given are "La Boheme," "Tannhauser," "La Traviata," "Hansel and Gretel," "Cavalleria Rusticana," "Manon," "Salome," "Mignon," "Girl of the Golden West" and "Lucia." Merola's lectures will touch on all of these. The public is invited.

EX-VENICE OFFICER LOSES PLEA FOR JOB

B. J. Pirotte, detective for the city of Venice, who was on indefinite leave of absence when that community was annexed to Los Angeles, is not automatically a member of the Los Angeles police force, Deputy City Attorney Kitsmiller has ruled in an opinion to the Civil Service Commission. Earlier Kitsmiller gave the commission an opinion that Pirotte's claim was sound.

The commission, after investigating, asserted that Pirotte had failed to renew his leave of absence, which must be done at least once a year under its charter rules, and that his claim is not valid.

Kitsmiller now holds tht the Civil Service Commission is right and that Pirotte is out.

SINGERS IN RADIO OPERA

Miss Tonelli was prima donna in "The Student Prince" and Gray was featured in "Sally."

Mrs. Carling asserts that she and Carling were married at Tia Juana, Mex., July 22, 1929, and that he deserted her four days later.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

Opposing one who knows her mind
Is wasted effort, you will find.
—Carol the Meadow Lark.

HOW CAROL'S NEST WAS HIDDEN

Carol the Meadow Lark was very proud of the nest where Mrs. Meadow Lark was sitting on her eggs. It was a very cleverly hidden nest. Mrs. Meadow Lark had been to that. Of course, it was on the ground.

"What anybody wants to build a nest in a tree or a bush for, I cannot understand," said Mrs. Meadow Lark, as she and Carol were choosing a place for their home. "No, sir, I cannot understand it at all. Give me the ground every time."

"I agree with you," said Mrs. Bobolink, who happened to be looking for a place for her nest and overheard Mrs. Meadow Lark. "Why, if I had a nest in a tree, I would worry myself to death. I wouldn't feel easy one minute. Of course, I mean a nest in the branches of a tree. Drummer the Woodpecker has a sensible home and Mrs. Bluebird and Mrs. Swallow and some others who make use of Drummer's old houses, are sensible. I wouldn't care for one of them myself, because I want to be where I can see all around. Sitting inside a hole in a tree, you can't see anything."

"That's true," said Mrs. Meadow Lark. "I want to be right out in the open. I don't want anything around me except grass. I want to look up and see the sky."

It was later in that very same day that Mrs. Meadow Lark chose the place for the new nest. As soon as she saw it, she knew it was just the place she wanted. She called to Carol and he hurried over. Of course he agreed with her. He knew that that was the wise thing to do. He knew that if she had made up her mind to have her nest in that particular place, she would have it there, whether he approved or not.

Now, the place she had chosen was a slight hollow in the ground just big enough to comfortably hold a nest. It was beside a little tussock of grass. It was just such a spot as Mrs. Meadow Lark had had in her mind all the time she had been looking. She examined the place very thoroughly. She flew up in the air, so as to see all over the Green Meadows from that particular spot. Then she dropped down on the grass again.

"We'll begin building at once," said she. "Yes, sir, we'll begin building at once. I'm anxious to get to housekeeping. We ought to be able to find plenty of dry grass to make the nest of."

There was plenty of dry grass. They didn't have to look far to get it. Of course, Mrs. Meadow Lark did most of the building. There was one thing she insisted on and this was that never should Carol fly directly to the nest. She never did herself. This was so that if any one should be watching from a distance, he would not be able to locate the nest. So always Carol and Mrs. Meadow Lark would drop down in the grass some distance from where the nest was located and then walk to it.

When the nest was completed, Mrs. Meadow Lark formed a dome-shaped roof of grass over it. That was so that no enemy flying over and looking down would see that nest. Then she carefully made a little covered runway leading to it. Not until this was completed was she satisfied. It was a wonderfully well hidden nest and Carol was very, very proud of it. After the eggs were laid and Mrs. Meadow Lark was sitting on them, Carol took the greatest care never to do anything to give that secret away. If he caught an insect that he thought she would like, he would drop down in the grass quite a distance from the nest and then make his way through the grass to the nest. No wonder that Danny Meadow Mouse had never been able to find that nest by watching Carol.

"We'll begin building at once," said she

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

SCARLET FEVER

Scarlet fever or scarletina is so called because of the brilliant scarlet-red rash about the shade of a boiled lobster which occurs on the skin in this disease.

Scarlet fever has been called a disease of the neighborly, since neighbors often transfer by visiting household to another by visiting back and forth. The disease is very infectious, and patients with it should be kept away from others for from three to six weeks, or as long as the skin continues to peel.

The beginning of this disease in children often resembles a common head cold. The tonsils are frequently the starting point, and the throat is sore, with some fever and sometimes vomiting. The child complains that swallowing is painful and he may refuse to take orange juice because it hurts his throat. The fever may range from 103 deg. to 104 deg. or be so low as to be unnoticed. Some cases are quite mild and do not leave complications. The disease is self-limiting, that is, it runs a course and comes to an end.

The period of incubation before the child develops the disease after exposure is very short, from two to six days. A slight rash appears on the chest in from two to six hours after the sore throat. From there is spreads over the rest of the body, being thickest on the chest, abdomen and back. The strawberry tongue is very characteristic of this disease. As the fever begins to subside, the rash begins to fade and the throat is less sore. The rash frequently fades by the sixth to ninth day after its appearance. The skin begins to peel off near the end of the first week, and the whole body will usually have scaled off by the third week.

One attack of this disease confers immunity. It usually attacks those from 5 to 16 years of age, although older or younger people are sometimes the victims. When uncomplicated, the complete recovery usually follows quickly. The ordinary complications are ear trouble, rheumatism or nephritis. Sometimes the glands in the neck remain swollen.

In treating scarlet fever, keep the patient away from others. Put him in bed in a darkened room, and immediately begin either a straight water fast or an orange juice fast. If the orange juice seems to bite the tongue and inflamed tonsils, use straight water for one or two days until the juice can be taken. This restricted diet should be continued until the skin stops peeling. Give sponge baths of cool water to reduce the fever to below 102.5 deg. and see that patient gets plenty of fresh air. Bowels must be kept open with enemas, using at least two every day during the fever. If these simple instructions are followed to the letter there will be no danger of bad after effects.

The symptoms need not be complicated as long as the child is kept on a fast during the fever and given a nonstarchy diet for a few days after he feels like eating again. Patients cared for in this way usually show a quick recovery.

BLIMP BIRTHDAY TO BE OBSERVED

Volunteer Will End Year of Flying June 4

Capt. Lange Returns East; Campbell in Charge

Ship Has Sailed 1200 Hours During Period

The Goodyear airship Volunteer is about to celebrate its first birthday anniversary. It has been operating in Los Angeles one year. Its maiden flight here was made June 4, 1929. Since that time it has been a familiar sight from San Diego on the south to Fresno on the north. During the year of operation the Volunteer has carried 3200 passengers without a mishap of any kind. These have been, for the most part, notables, and distinguished visitors to Southern California. The ship recently went on a commercial basis, carrying passengers over the city at $15 per person.

When the Volunteer came to California, Lieutenant-Commander Karl Lange was in charge of the ship, with B. F. Campbell acting as copilot. After training students and studying flying conditions on the west coast during the past year, Lange has been recalled to Akron, where he will take up duties as chief operations officer at the Goodyear airship base there. He will leave by T.A.T. plane this morning.

CAMPBELL IN CHARGE

Campbell, one of the most widely experienced pilots in the country, assumes the duties as officer in charge of the Volunteer in the place of Lange. He will be assisted by members of the student class that he and Lange have trained. The students passed their qualifying examinations and flight tests last Thursday.

Lange is to relieve Chief Pilot Jack Boettner of Akron. Pilot Boettner will be absent from his duties for some time while he is engaged in special work at the naval base at Lakehurst, N. J.

PURPOSE OF FLIGHTS

The Volunteer has flown 1200 hours during the past year. These flights have been widely varying as to distance and purpose. Student flights have taken up a large portion of the ship's time in the air. A class of selected men from the Goodyear organization was assembled in August, 1929. The six students comprising the class have been given both actual flying instruction in the ship and the theory of lighter-than-air. Each student has qualified as a free balloon pilot, and each has had 125 hours or more experience and instruction at the controls of the airship. Other flights have been made in testing and helping to develop new instruments designed to aid airmen in navigation. Flights have been made to survey traffic conditions, to study the upper air conditions in and around Los Angeles, to try to locate lost flyers in the hills, and for many other purposes.

FLEET OF SIX

The general public has been made familiar with lighter-than-air ships and transportation in this country, largely through the medium of Goodyear's fleet of airships, or, as they are better known, blimps. Goodyear has six of these small dirigibles in operation in different parts of the country. The ships have been in the air constantly and they have done much for the advancement of air travel through the opportunities given Goodyear pilots and students to study weather conditions, winds, etc., in various parts of the country.

Goodyear officials have announced that they intend by 1932 to begin dirigible transoceanic service between the west coast and the Hawaiian Islands. They intend, also, according to their announcements, eventually to extend the service to the Orient and South America, over Pacific waters.

BOARD ASKS COUNCIL TO PLAN TUNNEL FUND

This was referred to the Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee.

GIRLS BATTLE GALE IN SAIL BOAT

Perilous Adventure on Trip to Catalina Survived

TWO Los Angeles girls yesterday were relating their experiences in a sixteen-foot star boat at the mercy of heavy seas while en route to Avalon from Los Angeles Harbor. They are Pat Smith and Anita Haskell, of Los Angeles.

The girls began their sailing voyage across the channel with fine weather conditions prevailing. As they passed the harbor lighthouse, there was just enough wind to send their craft over the waves at a good clip. Halfway across, the winds grew stronger. White caps became more numerous. The little boat bobbed around like a cork, waves frequently breaking against the fragile hull.

Taking turns, one girl would bail water while the other tried to keep the ship on its course. The winds threatened to capsize the boat time and again.

When darkness came and the girls had failed to arrive at Avalon, friends there who were expecting them sent out a power boat to look for the little sail boat, just a little bit larger than an ordinary row boat.

However, the girls finally made the lee side of the island. Once out of the heavy seas they had little difficulty reaching Avalon, beating the rescue boat back to its base.

FUGITIVE FROM IONE ARRESTED

Charles M. Wilson Caught Two Hours After Robbery of Riverside Gas Station

RIVERSIDE, June 1.—Two hours after he had nonchalantly walked into the Shello Oil service station at Seventh and Walnut streets and held up Mack Coffelt, 21 years of age, the attendant, Charles M. Wilson, 19, of 109 North Harvard, Los Angeles, who escaped from the Ione Reform School, where he was serving time for second-degree burglary, last night was captured by Riverside police. A short time later he signed a confession admitting the hold-up as well as the theft of at least two automobiles. Forty-five dollars was taken from the station.

Wilson was arrested by Traffic Officers Harold A. Polkinghorn and Paul Decker, after a wild chase of more than a mile. Before stopping in answer to their siren signals Wilson attempted to elude his pursuers by turning off his headlights, the officers say. Later when the police pulled up on him, he asserted-ly tried to crowd them off the narrow road but misjudged his distance.

Wilson was first seen by the police when he stopped and asked them directions to San Diego. This was on Lacdena Drive, near Palmyrita avenue. He was apparently coming from San Bernardino. After giving him directions the officers noted his automobile license numbers and compared them with those of a Buick coupe belonging to Marjorie Bates of 3722 Cedar street, which had been stolen from its parking place in front of the residence a few minutes after the hold-up of the service station. Wilson had headed east on Palmyrita and the police started in pursuit. He was overtaken a half-mile east of Iowa avenue on Palmyrita.

With him at the time of his arrest was Eva Stafford, 16, San Bernardino girl, who, he asserted, had been his companion since Friday afternoon after striking up a street-corner acquaintance.

Wilson, according to his confession to Chief of Police Nestor N. Brule and Patrolman Paul Scott, had been accompanied by a pal, named Jimmy Powell, who as a trusty had enabled him to escape from Ione by "just walking away." Seeking to throw the officers off the trail, Wilson and the girl stole the blue coupe they had spotted on Cedar and separated from Powell, who supposedly had driven off in the black sedan which was used in the robbery of the service station.

"My name is Charles M. Wilson, Jr., my home is at 109 North Harvard, Los Angeles," he told the officers.

"I had been sent to Ione from San Francisco for second-degree burglary. I got away from there last October and was caught a few days later in Los Angeles, where I had gone to spend Sunday night with the girl. I got away from Ione last time on Tuesday, May 20.

"Powell and I made our way to Stockton, where we entered a house and stole the .38 caliber Smith and Wesson revolver you just took away from me. That is all we took from the place, a private dwelling not far from the railway station.

"We stole a 1928 Graham Paige coupe in Stockton and came south by way of Oakland, San Jose and Santa Barbara. I bought these clothes there. We then came on south. Didn't spend any time in Los Angeles. Was in San Bernardino a couple of days. We stayed at the Casa Loma Hotel in Redlands last night."

'Balkan' War Waged With Pick Helves

PASADENA, June 1.—Inspired by patriotic motives, Steve Beneff, 25 years of age, and Carl George, 21, fought a duel with pick handles today over the respective merits of Greece and Bulgaria.

Honors appeared to be about even when Police Sergeant Joseph Rodman separated the combatants as they were spilling each other's gore on the walls of a room at the rear of 1935 East Colorado street.

Rushed to the Pasadena Emergency Hospital in the same ambulance, Beneff, representing Bulgaria, was treated for a possible skull fracture, while George, bearer of the Grecian standard, was given first aid for a broken left arm. Both gladiators are employed by John's Ice Cream Company.

Following an argument regarding the political situation in the Balkans, the men started throwing ice cream at each other, but becoming angry they selected deadly weapons in the shape of two pick handles which are used to pack down ice cream.

No arrests were made as each combatant declared he had obtained ample satisfaction.

CEMENT COMPANY IN TORRANCE LAND DEAL

TORRANCE, June 1.—Sale of the properties of the H. H. Helbush Company, comprising 164 acres in South Torrance, to the Southwest Portland Cement Company, was made known yesterday. The land, heavy in lime deposits, was acquired by the Helbush company more than a year ago for the purpose of erecting a $1,000,000 cement plant. Legal technicalities in the transfer and in the annexation of various pieces of the land to the city of Torrance, prevented the consummation of the plans, it was stated. Disposition to be made of the property by the new owners has not been announced.
